THE present volume, the thirteen of the series, is the sixth dealing with the Arabic MSS. It contains notices of the MSS. belonging to the section, Asceticism and Sûfism, the most difficult branch of Islamic learning. That the subject is divine knowledge and spiritual thought is the main cause of the difficulty in the domain of Sûfism. The study of the subject of the spiritual training given by Sûfis to their novices is still continued throughout Islamic countries. The activity in study of the present subject, even in the present day and in India, is evident from the training given in the monasteries of India. In Bihar, in the present age, the Phulwari monastery is renowned as a place of instruction of novices.

The collection here catalogued is notable for comprising old MSS. specially the oldest MS. in the Library, one dated A.H. 483=A.D. 1090 (No. 825). The volume contains notices of 155 MSS., including twenty treatises contained in five MSS. of mixed content.

The volume has been compiled by Maulavi Abdul Hamid, who deserves congratulations for his critical researches in connexion with several works of great importance (vide Nos. 825, 827, 842, 848, 849, 850, 854, 857, 859, 863, 864, 886, 898, 910, 915, 917, 918, 936, 937), and for throwing fresh light on the lives of several authors (vide No. 910). In No. 875 the compiler has succeeded in establishing the correct date of 'Abdarrazzâq Kâshî's death as A.H. 936, the date of his death, as given in almost all the catalogues, being A.H. 930 (see Brock. Vol. II., p. 204). In No. 923 the compiler has proved that 'Abdulqâdir Şafadî was alive in A.H. 905, and died some time before A.H. 924, while Brock. Vol. II., p. 119, on the authority of three catalogues, gives the date of his death as A.H. 726. The ten sources of the origin of the word 'Şâfi', given by the compiler with references, may be cited as evidence of the thoroughness of his research (vide p. 49). The other methods displayed in the previous volumes have been fully maintained in the present.

Among old and rare MSS. catalogued in this volume the following deserve special notice :—

- No. 820. A fragment of an old copy of Kitāb as Ṣabr wa Ar Riqā, a very rare work on Asceticism and Ṣūfism, by Ḥārīṣ Muḥāsibī, a famous Ṣūfī of the 3rd century A.H. who died in A.H. 243=A.D. 857. Dated A.H. 620.

كتاب الصبر والرفاء

KITÂB AŞ ŞABR WA AR RIÐÂ'.

A fragment containing the last three foll. of an old copy of Kitâb as Şabr wa ar Riðâ', a very rare work on Asceticism and Šûfism, which treats of the strict observation of the two important principles of the subject, viz., to bear patiently and accept gladly the inevitable decrees of God, whatever they may be.

Author: Abû 'Abdallâh Hâriş bin Asad al Muḥāsibî أبو عبد الله هارث بن اسد المحاسبى, a follower of the Shâfi'î School, and the most distinguished Šûfi of the 3rd century A.H., whose literary merits equal his fame as Šûfi. His authority, both as a scholar and a mystic, that is, in both branches of learning (علوم ظاهري وباطني), is attested unanimously by his biographers, Šûfis and scholars. He is called Al Muḥāsibî on account of his supreme mastery over the appetites, and his being mindful in his every act of the fear of God. He died in A.H. 243=A.D. 857; see Mir'ât al Janân, fol. 158^b; Ṭabaqât u Ibn Mulaqqin, fol. 152^a; Ikhtiyâr ar Rafiq, fol. 39^b; Kaşh f Asrâr al Bayân, fol. 112; Muġmal Faşḥi, fol. 25; Isnawt, fol. 13; Taḍkirat al Awliyâ' of 'Aṭṭâr, fol. 113^b; Nafahât., p. 56; Al Lawâiqh, fol. 74; Tâj at Ṭabaqât, vol. iii, Part, ii, fol. 657; Berlin, No. 2812; Paris, No. 1913/15: Brook., vol. i, p. 198 (where A.H. 213 is a misprint for 243 as the date of the author's death).

The present work is not mentioned in Brook., who, however, vol. i, p. 198, mentions five other works of the author.

The present fragment begins abruptly thus:—

حتى لا يجب ان يكون نقصه منه شيئا كما قال سويد بن منبجة
مقتبضا به فذلك نافلة فلن زال عنه و لم يصبر الى سقط ربه فانه قد صار
الى الصبر الخ *

The colophon runs thus:—

تم كتاب الصبر و الرضاء للمصا سبي و فرغ من كتابته في الثالث
عشر ربيع الآخر سنة ٩٢١ *

Written in good Naskh. Dated A.H. 621.

At the end, the following two notes are found:—

I. By Ahmad bin 'Abdallāh bin Muḥammad al Warrāq, a scholar of Egypt of the 8th century A.H. He says that, in A.H. 777, he went through the MS.:—

طالع فيه العبد الفقير الى غفر ربه احمد بن عبد الله بن محمد ...
الوراق غفر الله له و لجميع المسلمين و ذلك في مستهل رجب سنة
سبع و سبعين و سبعمائة *

II. By Muḥammad bin Mu'lim Najmaddin. He says that he also went through the MS.:—

طالع في هذا الكتاب العبد الفقير الى الله محمد بن معلم نجم الدين *

These two notes are followed by a prayer (دعاء) designated دعاء مبارك, which begins thus:—

اللهم اني اسألك بالالف المعطوف و بلسم المكفوف الخ *

بستان العارفين

BUSTÂN AL 'ÂRIFÎN.

A work on meditation and moral precepts, based on the Qur'ân, Ḥadîṣ and other religious works, such as those of jurisprudence, theology and Sûfism, divided into 162 Bâb.

Author: Abu'l Laiṣ Naṣr bin Muḥammad bin Ahmad bin Ibrâhîm as Samarqandî المرقندي a famous Ḥanafī scholar of his age, chiefly known as a jurist and traditionist. He studied under his father and many other Shaikhs. For the names of most of them, see Tanbīh al Ġāfilīn, No. 823 below, where the present author quotes Ḥadīṣ and the sayings of others transmitted to him by his Shaikhs. Brock., vol. i, p. 196, enumerates eleven works of his. He was born in A.H. 290. The biographers differ very much as to the date of our author's death. The following six dates are given, as detailed below, viz., A.H. 373, 375, 376, 382, 383, 393. Three different dates, viz., A.H. 373, 375 and 383, are given by Ḥāj. Khāl.; see vol. ii, p. 365; vol. ii, p. 51; vol. iii, p. 136. Two dates, viz., A.H. 375 and 393, are mentioned in Berlin, vol. x, p. 381. Brock., vol. i, p. 195, gives the following three dates: A.H. 375, 383, 393. In Madinat al 'Ulūm, fol. 109, and in Tāj at traḡim (edited by Flügel), A.H. 393 is the date given. Again Flügel, in Die Classen, p. 303, gives A.H. 383; the author of Mujmal Faṣṣḥī, fol. 125^b, A.H. 376; Tāj at Ṭabaqāt, vol. iv, fol. 1150, A.H. 382; and Cairo, vol. ii, p. 70, A.H. 375. The earliest biographer of our author, who died in A.H. 775, the author of Al Jawāhir al Muḍḍiyah, gives the year of his death as A.H. 373; see vol. ii, fol. 78; and Al Kafawī, in I'lām, agrees with him, as does also the author of Ṭabaqāt al Ahnāf (see Hand-list, No. 2452). 'Alī Qārī, in his Ṭabaqāt (see Hand-list, No. 2451, fol. 181), gives A.H. 376; but in his commentary on Shifā' (see Hand-list, No. 2250), which was composed after the Ṭabaqāt referred to above, he agrees with date given by the author of Al Jawāhir Muḍḍiyah; and this is also supported by the author of Ḥadā'iq al Ḥanafiyah, p. 180. In view of the agreement of the last five authors on A.H. 373=A.D. 983, we may, perhaps, accept this date in preference to any other.

البع في التصوف

AL-LUMA' FĪ AT TAŞAWWUF.

A very valuable and the oldest known copy of the Kitāb al Luma', dated A.H. 483. This is the oldest MS. in the library but unfortunately it is imperfect.

Author: Abū Naṣr Sarraj at-Ṭūsī.

The MS. is defective at the beginning and opens thus:—

• كتاب الفهم ثمانية ابواب باب مذهب اهل الصفة الغ

An exceedingly valuable edition of the work (with critical notes, author's life, abstract of contents, glossary and indices), by R. A. Nicholson, was published in the Gibb Memorial Series, 1914.

The author, surnamed طاووس الغر "The Peacock of the Poor," was a great expounder of the Sufic doctrines. He was well versed in mystical theology. He died in A.H. 378=A.D. 988. For full particulars of the author and the work see Nicholson's edition. Some particulars of the author will also be found in Kashf-al Maḥjub; Taḍkirat al-Auliya'; Nafahāt; Safinat al-Auliya'; Mirat al-Asrār; Mirat al-Janān, etc. See also Hāj. Khal.

The following anonymous note on the title-page, apparently written in the 9th century of the Hijrah, ascribes the authorship of the work to the famous Shaikh Abū Naṣr Bisḥr al-Hāfi (d. A.H. 227=A.D. 841):—

• كتاب التفهم لابی نصر بشر الحافى

This wrong assertion is evidently based on a careless reading of the opening words of each Bāb in which only the Kunya Abū Naṣr, and not the name, occurs: قال ابو نصر.

The writer of the note has thus mistaken Abū Naṣr (Bisḥr al Hâfi) for our author Abû Naṣr (Sarrâf). Hâfi's death took place one hundred and fifty years before that of our author, and none of his biographers mentions any work by him. Moreover, our author mentions in the work several Shaikhs who lived after the death of Hâfi (see the List of Sûfis given at the beginning of Nicholson's edition).

The main object of the author in writing the work was to show by argument that the true principles of Sûfism agree with the doctrines of the Qur'ân and the Hadîṣ. He deals at length with the doctrines and principles of the ancient Sûfis, their moral systems, customs, supernatural powers, etc. On the whole the work supplies valuable materials for the study of the development of Sûfism in the second, third and fourth centuries of the Muhammadan era.

The work, as extant in the printed edition, consists of a Muqaddimah and thirteen Kitâb, subdivided into numerous Bâb. Our copy has only twelve Kitâb, as follows:—

The first Kitâb, كتاب القيم (corresponding with the second in the printed edition), in 8 Bâb (in the printed edition 9 Bâb), on fol. 1^b. The second, in 4 Bâb, on fol. 11. The third, in 5 Bâb, on fol. 17. The fourth, in 7 Bâb, on fol. 23^b. The fifth, in 27 Bâb (in the printed edition 26 Bâb), on fol. 34^b. The sixth, in 5 Bâb, on fol. 79^b. The seventh, in 12 Bâb, on fol. 95. The eighth, in 6 Bâb, on fol. 109^b. The ninth, in 6 Bâb, on fol. 116^b. The tenth, in 2 Bâb, on fol. 124^b. The eleventh, in 18 Bâb (in the printed edition, 32 Bâb), on fol. 143. The twelfth (not treated as a separate Kitâb in the printed edition), in 20 Bâb, on fol. 166.

A comparison with Nicholson's edition shows that the entire Muqaddimah (subdivided into 18 Bâb), and the first Kitâb, كتاب الاحوال و المقامات (comprising 19 Bâb), occupying pp. 1-70 in the printed edition, are wanting in our copy. The last Kitâb in our copy, styled كتاب الانساب, is not treated as a separate Kitâb in the printed edition, but forms only a part of its last Kitâb, كتاب تفسير الشطحيات. The last Bâb of the fifth Kitâb in our copy is treated as a separate Kitâb, كتاب المائل in the printed edition. There are many other notable variants of great importance in the texts.

Of the two MSS. used by Nicholson the one which he made the basis of his edition, is dated A.H. 683, and the other, A.H. 548. In view of the fact that our MS. (dated A.H. 483) is the oldest, a comparison of it with the printed edition, and the recording of all important variants, would be a service of great value to critical students of Sûfism. Remarks on the archaic forms of spelling and on the orthographical peculiarities of the MS. would also be of great interest.

The colophon of the scribe indicating the date of transcription of our copy, viz., A.H. 483, runs thus:—

فرغ من كتابته يوم الاثنين و السابع عشر في شهر رجب سنة ثلاث
و ثمانين و اربعمئة *

Written in fair bold Naskh.

No. 826.

fol. 218; lines 23; size $9\frac{1}{2} \times 6\frac{1}{2}$; 8×4 .

الجزء الثاني من قوت القلوب في معاملة المحبوب

AL JUZ' AŞ ŞÂNÎ MIN QŪT AL QULŪB
FÎ MU'ÂMALÂT AL MAHBŪB.

The second part of a very old copy, dated A.H. 571, of Qût al Qulûb, a work on Šûfism and asceticism, dealing with religious duties, mystical principles and moral precepts, as well as the system and observances of Šûfism. The author expounds with special care the philosophical principles involved. As the author of Faṣl al Khitâb (see Persian Hand-list, No. 1386), fol. 33^a, observes in the quotation which follows, the present work is recognised by Šûfis and scholars as the most useful composition produced on the subject up to that time:—

قالوا لم يصنف مثله في الاسلام في دقائق الطريقة و لمؤلفه رحمة الله
كلام في هذه العلوم لم يسبق الى مثله *

Al Ġazzâlî (d. A.H. 511=A.D. 1111), in Ihyâ' al 'Ulûm (see Nos. 833-36 below), borrowed materials from the present work.

The present second volume contains the last 16 Faṣl, viz., 32-47. A complete copy of the work is mentioned in Berlin, No. 2816, together with a full description of the contents. An index of the contents of the present copy, written on different paper in a later hand, is attached at the beginning.

Author: Abû Tâlib Muḥammad bin 'Alî bin 'Aṭīyah al Makkî al Hârîṣî ابو طالب محمد بن علي بن عطية المكي العارضي a famous Šûfî of Mecca. He was a disciple of Abu'l Hasan Muḥammad bin Aḥmad bin Sâlim Baṣrî to whom he refers on fol. 183^b thus:—

و كذلك شيخنا ابو الحسن بن سالم يقول اذا اعطيت حقه من
الشبع ... فجمعت بك النفس الى الهلكة و اذا منعت حقه من الشبع
قصرت كل جوارحة عن حظها فاستقام القلب بذلك و اعتدل *

He died in Bagdād, A.H. 386=A.D. 996. See Mir'ât al Janân, fol. 233^b; Nafaḥât, p. 135; Tāj at Ṭabaqât, vol. iv, part ii, fol. 1210; Faṣl al Khitâb, fol., 277^b; Mujmal Faṣiḥi, fol. 128^a.

Beginning:—

الفصل الثاني و الثلثون فيه شرح مباني السلام و هي خمسة
ذكر فضائل الطهارة و ما يقال عند غسل كل عضو من الاذكار اول ذلك ان
يتوضأ قاعداً مستوراً العورة و ان لا يكون الماء متمسكاً •

The work ends with the 47th Faṣl which begins thus:—

الفصل السابع و الأربعون فيه كتاب تفصيل الحرام من الشبهة و فضل
الحلال و ذم الشبهة •

The colophon, which is not fully legible, runs thus:—

الحمد لله رب العالمين و صلى الله على سيدنا النبي العربي و على
آله و اصحابه و اتباعه اجمعين و سلم سليماً... فرغ... سنة احدى و سبعين
و خمس و خمسمائة اللهم انفر لمصنفه و لصاحبه و كاتبه و لواديم اجمعين •

For other copies of the work see Berlin, loc. cit.; Râmpâr, No. 261.

The work was printed in Cairo, A.H. 1310. A printed copy of the work is mentioned in Āṣafiyyah Library, No. 989.

Written in good Naskḥ.

The name of the scribe is undecipherable. Foll. 69-95, which are also written in Naskḥ, are supplied in a later hand.

The MS. was at one time in the possession of one Muḥammad bin 'Abdallaṭif, a scholar of the 9th century A.H., as it appears from his autograph note on the title-page which runs, thus:—

كتاب قوت القلوب و معاملة المصيوب تصنيف الشيخ الكبير الشهير
ابي طالب المكي من نعم الله على عبده محمد بن الشيخ عبد اللطيف
اختم له بالخير الخ •

One Muḥammad Nāfi', in his note on the title-page says, that in A.H. 1192, he purchased the present MS. through Mîr 'Ināyatallâh.

البخاري البغدادي. Hāj. Khal., vol. iii, p. 505, and Berlin, No. 8860, record the author's name as Abū 'Alī Husain bin Yaḥyā; but the author of Al Jawāhir al Muḍīyah, vol. ii, fol. 128^b, emphatically states that his name was 'Alī bin Yaḥyā, thus: و قلت اسمه علي بن يحيى.
This rendering is supported by the Isnād of the present work, quoted below, which is identical with that found in the copy noticed in Būhār Lib. Cat., vol. ii, No. 121:—

الحمد لله رب العالمين و الصلوة على خير خلقه محمد و آله و صحبه
اجمعين يقول ابو اسمعيل احمد بن محمد نصر العلوي الكدادي البخاري
عفي الله تعالى عنه اخبرني لجميع كتاب روضة العلماء جدي ... ابو
المعالي اشرف بن ابي بكر الكسيني الكدادي رحمه الله عليه الحجازة في
سنة اربع و ستين و خمسمائة ... قال اخبرنا الشيخ الامام الزاهد شمس
الاسلام ابونكر بن محمد بن فضل الزرنجى فيما كتب لى في سنة ثمان
و خمسمائة قال الشيخ الزاهد الوالد قال اخبرنا الشيخ الفقيه الحاكم ابو نصر
بن محمد بن عيسى البلودي رحمه الله عليه قال اخبرنا الشيخ الفقيه
الزاهد ابو الحسن علي بن محمد الزندي يمتني رحمه الله عليه •

It is evident from the fact, that throughout the work the author is referred to, sometimes as قال الفقيه رحمه الله (the preceptor or jurist said May God have mercy on him), and sometimes as قال رحمه الله • (he said May God have mercy on him), that the work was arranged by some one after the author's death—probably by his pupil, Abū Naṣr bin Muḥammad bin 'Isā, who, in the Isnād quoted above, refers to the author in similar terms (نقبة رحمه الله عليه).

The date of the author's death is not mentioned in Hāj. Khal., nor in Berlin, No. 8860. In Al Jawāhir al Muḍīyah, the author is noticed as a Hanafi scholar; but nothing is said as to the century to which he belonged. Dr. Hidāyat Ḥusain, in Būhār Lib. Cat., vol. ii, No. 121, on the strength of a date, A.H. 508, mentioned in the Isnād, observes that the author flourished before that date. The fact that, in the chain of narration, there are two persons intermediate between our author and the scholar to whom the work was transmitted in A.H. 508, and a careful examination of the MS. elicit the following information as to some of the author's contemporaries and teachers, from which it is clear that our author belonged to the latter part of the 4th century A.H.

(i) Our author refers, in the passage (fol. 33^a) quoted below, to Abū Bakr Ismā'īl, a reliable traditionist, who died in A.H. 371=A.D. 981; see Huffāz, vol. iii, p. 159; and states that he personally received certain religious instruction from him:—

قال رحمه الله سمعت الشيخ الإمام ابا بكر اسمعيلي يهكي عن
الحسن البصري انه جلس للامة فلما فرغ قام اليه شاب الم *

(ii) From the above-mentioned Abū Bakr Ismā'īl he received a Ḥadīḡ, which he quotes on fol. 248^a, as follows:—

قال رحمه الله وحدثنا الامام ابو بكر الاسماعيلي املاءً باسناد له
عن نافع ابن عمر قال لما فزلت هذه الآية وهو قوله مثل الذين ينفقون
اموالهم بغير حساب الى اخر الآية قال رسول صلى الله عليه وسلم رب
زد امتي فزلت هذه الآية من ذا الذي يقرض قرضاً حسناً فيضاعفه له اضعافاً
كثيراً قال رسول الله صلى الله عليه وسلم زد امتي فزلت انما يؤتى الصابرون ... اجرهم
بغير حساب *

(iii) Again, on fol. 285^a, he refers as follows to a saying which fell from the lips of Ḥuṭī Abu'l Qāsim (d. A.H. 378=A.D. 988; see Nafahāt, p. 139):—

قال رحمه الله وسمعت ابا القسم الصوفي يقول اول شئ خلقه الله
تعالى خلق ذرة بيضاء *

(iv) It is clear from the following passage (fol. 33^b) that our author studied under Abu'l Ḥasan 'Alī bin 'Abdallāh at Tarsūs (d. A.H. 382=A.D. 992; see Ansāb u Sam'ānī, fol. 222^b):—

قال رحمه الله قرأت علي أبي الحسن علي بن عبد الله الطرسوسي
قال كان بعض الصالحين يغسل موتى الصوفية قبال غسلت ميتاً يوماً و
ادرجته في كفنه فسمعت هاتفاً من زاوية البيت ... يقول انه غسل بطنه
في حيوته و انت غسلت ظاهره بعد وفاته فاجتمع الغسلان فصار نوراً على
نور الهم •

Beginning:—

اشكر الله تعالى كثيراً واسبحه بكرة و اصيلاً ... اما بعد فاني قد صنفت
هذا الكتاب و اصلته مراراً علي اصحاب و كان خالياً عن مسائل الفقه و
الحكم والا مثال فسانني بعض اهل العلم ممن قد ابتلي با الجلوس
في العامة ايد هم الله بلى اصنفه ثانية فاصغيت لهم ابقاهم الله
تعالى اذنبي و صنفت كتابي هذا ... و سميت كتاب روضة العلماء ...
و كان اسمه الاول روضة المذكورين •

The author gives us to understand in the preface that the present work is an enlargement of his former work, Raudat al Muḍkkirîn.

Some one in the following note on the title-page has erroneously ascribed the authorship of the work to Abû Ismâ'îl Aḥmad bin Muḥammad bin Naṣr al 'Alawî:—

كتاب روضة العلماء تصنيف الشيخ العلامة و العبير البصر القهامة ابو
اسماعيل احمد بن احمد بن نصر العلوي الصنفي غفر الله له و لجميع

For other copies of the work see Berlin, No. 8860; Bûhâr, Lib. Cat., No. 121; Râmpûr, Nos. 156-57, of date A.H. 771, Râmpûr, No. 156, of date A.H. 771, being the oldest copy known to us.

Written in fair Naskh. Dated A.H. 1097.

In A.H. 1255 the MS. came into the possession of one 'Abdarrahîm al Qandahârî, an Indian scholar of the 13th century A.H. See the note on the title-page, which runs thus:—

الرسالة القشيرية

AR RISĀLAT AL QUSHĀIRĪYAH.

A very old copy of a well-known work on Sūfism and asceticism, containing a full description of the mystical principles and practices of the Sūfis. In the first Bāb of the work, the author refers to 82 eminent Sūfis, giving a brief account of their views on theological dogma, from which he draws the conclusion that their views are the same as those of orthodox Muhammadans (امل السنت و الجماعة), and that the Sūfis, like them, are true believers in Islām. The present work, which is chiefly based on the Qur'ān, Hadīḡ and sayings of the Sūfis, is regarded as a standard work on the subject, and is referred to as such by Sūfis and scholars of the author's and of succeeding ages. It is divided into 64 Bāb, which are fully described in Berlin, No 2822. The work was composed in A.H. 438.

Author: Abu'l Qāsim 'Abdalkarīm bin Hawāzin bin Talḡa bin Muḥammad al Qushairi أبو القاسم عبد الكريم بن هوازى بن طلحة بن محمد بن قشيري, known as Al 'Ustād (الاستاذ), a prominent Sūfi, scholar and author of the 5th century A.H. He is specially known for his merit in the Qur'ānic branches, tradition, philology, jurisprudence, theology and mystical branches of learning; and is the author of numerous works on these subjects, 13 works, in all, being enumerated in Brock., vol. i, p. 432. Besides the 13 works referred to above, a very rare work of the author, viz., Kitāb al Mi'rāj is found in the Library; see Hand-list No. 2269. Our author was a follower of the Shāfi' school, and adhered to the Aḡh'arī school of theology. He was born in Khurāsān, A.H. 376. He lost his father, while still a child; but he had an innate love of learning, which prompted him to leave Khurāsān for Nishāpūr, where fortunately he fell in with Sūfi Abū 'Alī ad Daqqāq, on whose advice he studied different branches of Islamic literature under the following eminent scholars, among others:—

- (i) Abu'l Qāsim Al Aīmānī, a philologist of the 4th century A.H.
- (ii) Hākim (d. A.H. 405=A.D. 1014; see Lib. Cat., vol. v, part i, pp. 105-6).
- (iii) Ibn Fūrak (d. A.H. 406=A.D. 1015; see Lib. Cat., vol. v, part ii, No. 373), who is quoted by our author on fol. 52^b of the present work, thus: أخبرنا الإمام أبو بكر محمد بن الحسن ابن فورك رحمه الله الخ.

- (iv) Abū Ishāq al Isfīrā'īnī (d. A.H. 418=A.D. 1027; see Isnawī, fol. 24), who is also quoted on fol. 98^a, thus: وكان الامام
ابو اسحاق الا سفيراني يقول الخ
- (v) Abū Bakr Muḥammad at Ṭūsī (d. A.H. 420=A.D. 1029; see Isnawī, fol. 300).
- (vi) Abū Nu'aim al Isfahānī (d. A.H. 430=A.D. 1038; see Lib. Cat., vol. v, part ii, p. No. 437).

After a thorough study of Islamic literature, our author placed himself for spiritual training under the above-mentioned Ṣūfī Abū 'Alī Ad Daqqāq, who was so greatly impressed by our author's devotion to spiritual learning that he gave him his own daughter in marriage. After Abū 'Alī's death, in A.H. 405=A.D. 1014, our author adopted as his spiritual guide the Ṣūfī Abū 'Abdarraḥmān as Sulamī (d. A.H. 412=A.D. 1021). These two Ṣūfis are the chief authorities quoted in the present work. The wonderful genius of Qushairī earned for him a great reputation among the Ṣūfis, who conferred upon him the title of Al Ustād, which had formerly been borne by Abū 'Alī. He died in Nighāpūr, A.H. 465=A.D. 1074, and was buried near the tomb of his father-in-law. He left behind him a large number of pupils and disciples, and the following six sons who were also reputed for their piety and literary knowledge:—

- (i) Abū Naṣr 'Abdarraḥīm (d. A.H. 514=A.D. 1120; see Isnawī, fol. 373).
- (ii) Abū Sa'd 'Abdallāh (d. A.H. 477=A.D. 1084; See Isnawī, fol. 380).
- (iii) Abū Mansūr 'Abdarraḥmān (d. A.H. 482=A.D. 1089; see Isnawī, fol. 380).
- (iv) Abū Sa'id 'Abdalwāḥid (d. A.H. 494=A.D. 1100; see Isnawī, fol. 380).
- (v) Abū'l-Faṭḥ 'Abdallāh (d. A.H. 521=A.D. 1127; see Isnawī, fol. 381).
- (vi) Abū'l Muẓaffar 'Abdalmun'im (d. A.H. 532=A.D. 1137; see also Isnawī, fol. 381).

For our author's life see Mir'at al Janān, fol. 264; Subkī, vol. iv, fol. 161; Isnawī, fol. 378; Ibn Mulaqqin, fol. 61^a; Kaḥf u Asrār al Bayān, fol. 112; Ṭabaqāt al Mufasssīrīn, fol. 53^b; Nafahāt, p. 354; Muḥmal Faṣīḥī, fol. 161^b; Br. Mus. Suppl., No. 227; De Slane's translation of Ibn Khallikān, vol. ii, p. 152.

Beginning:—

قال الاستاذ جمال السلام ابو القاسم عبد الكريم بن هوازن القشيري
..... الحمد لله الذي تفرد بجلال ملكوته وتوحد بجمال جبروته الخ

After fol. ii, certain foll. containing a portion of the first Bâb and the beginning of the 2nd Bâb (corresponding to foll. 37-66 of No. 829 below) are missing.

The MS. is undated; but the paper, handwriting, and general condition of the MS. suggest that the present copy was transcribed not later than the 5th century A.H. Foll. 1-18 are written in a later hand, apparently of the 7th century A.H.

For other copies of the work see Munich, No. 136; Wien, No. 1890; India Office, No. 598; Paris, No. 1830; Berlin, Nos. 2822-23; Bodl., vol. i, No. 325; Br. Mus. Suppl., No. 227; Rampûr, Nos. 147, 148, 149.

The work was printed in Cairo, A.H. 1248 and again in Bûlâq, A.H. 1264. A commentary on the present work along with the text was printed in Cairo, A.H. 1304; see for a copy the same Asafiyah Library, p. 378.

foll. 236; lines 21; size $8\frac{1}{2} \times 6$; $6\frac{1}{2} \times 4$.

Another copy of the same, beginning with the following Isnâd, thus:—

قال حدثنا الشيخ الإمام قطب الدين ابرمطيع عبد الرزيع بن عبد الرحمن بن عبد العزيز مد الله في انفاه قال حدثنا والدى الشيخ الإمام ابو سعيد عبد الرحمن بن عبد العزيز بن محمد بن عبد السلام العليمي قال حدثنا الشيخ الإمام الأستاذ اجل جمال الاسلام ناصر السنة وقامع البدعة ابو القاسم بن هوازن بن طلحة القشيري رحمة الله الحمد لله الذي نفرد بجلال ملكوته الخ *

The MS. is dated, A.H. 1033; and is therefore a later transcription of the copy bearing the Isnâd quoted above, which tells us that the work was transmitted to some pupil of his by Abû Mutî', a scholar of the 6th century A.H.

A note on the margin of the last fol. runs thus:—

بلغ مقابلة على نسخة صحيحة معتمدة و هي نسخة العارف الحسين بن محمد بن الحسين الملك النساني الجباني المدفون بمدينة حبش المعنوية ... في مجالس متعددة ... آخرها ... سنة ١٠٣٦

The present note tells us that, in A.H. 1036, the present MS. was compared with a reliable copy of the work belonging to Husain, the last king of the Rasulid dynasty in Yaman; see Lane Poole, p. 99.

منازل السائرین

MANĀZIL AS SĀ'IRĪN.

A very reliable work, generally regarded as authoritative by the Sūfis, dealing with the 100 stages of mystical development. The work is arranged in the following ten parts, each of which is subdivided into several Bāb: (i) بدايات. (ii) ابواب. (iii) معاملات. (iv) اخلاق. (v) النبایات. (vi) اودیه. (vii) احوال. (viii) ولايات. (ix) حقائقي. (x) النبايات. Qurānic verses are quoted in support of the subject-matter of each Bāb. For a full description of the contents see Berlin, No. 2826. The author refers in his preface to the statement of the eminent Sūfi Abū Bakr Kattān (d. A.H. 322=A.D. 933) to the effect that there are altogether 1,000 stages in mystical development (ان بين المبد و العقب (الف مقل من نور و ظلمة); but claims that these are all embraced in the 100 principal stages referred to above.

We are also told in the preface that the work was composed at the request of the people of Harāt.

Author: 'Abdallāh bin Muḥammad bin Aḥmad bin 'Alī bin Ja'far bin Maṣṣūr bin Maṭṭ bin Zaid bin Khālid al Anṣārī بن محمد بن منصور بن مٓت بن زيد بن خالد الأنصاري, the most prominent Sūfi and Ḥanbalī scholar of the 5th century A.H., who traced his descent from Zaid, commonly called Abû Ayyûb al Anṣārī, a companion of the Prophet. He was highly esteemed both as Ṣūfī and scholar by kings, nobles and contemporary scholars. In A.H. 430, he was granted a special interview by the Sulṭān Mas'ūd bin Maḥmūd (A.H. 421-432=A.D. 1038-1075), when on a visit to Harāt. In A.H. 462, he was invested with a Khil'at (خلعت) by the Caliph Qā'imbillāh (A.H. 422-467=A.D. 1031-1075). Again, in A.H. 474, the author was invested with a Khil'at and the title of Shaikh al Islām by the Caliph Muqtadirbillāh (A.H. 467-487=A.D. 1075-1094). He is generally referred to, by this title, by Jāmi in Nafahāt. He was a disciple of Abu'l Ḥasan Kharqānī (d. A.H. 425=A.D. 1033; see Mujmal Faṣiḥī, fol. 139), the famous Ṣūfī of the 5th century A.H. Ibnu'l Jawzī (d. A.H. 597=A.D. 1200) tells us that the author was born in A.H. 395; but according to the author's own statement, contained in Nafahāt, p. 371, he was born in A.H. 396, at Quhandiz, a city in Harāt. In his early life he devoted himself equally to the literary branches of learning and to Ṣūfism, studying under several teachers and professors of Nishāpūr, Basm and Tūs, and receiving spiritual training from the Ṣūfis of those places. We are told by his biographers that, after his thirtieth year, our author was chiefly known for his devotion to mystical learning. His growing reputation aroused the jealousy of the Ṣūfis of Harāt, who involved him in a series of troubles. In A.H. 438, they gave out to the public that his mystical dogmas were contrary to Islamic doctrines; and he was ordered to leave Harāt, but in A.H. 439 he was recalled by the Governor. Again, in A.H. 458, the Ṣūfis of Harāt complained against his mystical theories to Sulṭān Alap Arsalān (A.H. 433-465=A.D. 1063-1072), who ordered him to leave Harāt, but when he realised that the complaints against him were inspired by jealousy, the Sulṭān cancelled the order. Lastly, in A.H. 478, Nizām al Mulk (d. A.H. 485=A.D. 1092; see Lib. Cat., vol. x, p. 11) the well-known Prime Minister, misunderstanding the mystical views of our author, banished him once more from Harāt; but, in A.H. 480, he was honourably recalled by the Nizām. He died in Harāt, A.H. 481=A.D. 1088; see Tabaqāt Ibn Rajab, fol. 35-48; Mir'āt al Janān, fol. 275; Nafahāt, p. 371; Mujmal Faṣiḥī, fol. 546; Tabaqāt al Mufasssirin, fol. 386; Brock., vol. i, p. 433; Rieu, Persian Catalogue vol. i, p. 35. A separate biography of the author by 'Abdal Qādir ar Ruhāvi, with the title of Al Mādih Wa Al Mamdūh, is mentioned in Ibn Rajab. The author of Tāj al Tabaqāt, vol. v, part ii, fol. 735, wrongly refers to our author's death in A.H. 480.

Besides the present and ten other works mentioned in Brock., loc. cit., the following five works of the author are mentioned in Ibn Kitāb: (i) كُتَابُ الْفَارُوقِ. (ii) مُنَاقِبُ الْأَئِمَّةِ أَحْمَدَ. (iii) كُتَابُ الْمَقَالَمَاتِ. (iv) مَجَالِسُ التَّذْكِيرِ (v) تَفْسِيرُ الْقُرْآنِ.

Beginning:—

الحمد لله الواحد الأحد القيوم الصمد وبعد فإن جماعة من الرَّاغِبِينَ

Several scholars have written commentaries on the present work. See Hâj. Khal., vol. vi, pp. 129-30.

For other copies of the work see India Office, No. 599; Cairo, vol. vii, p. 556; Berlin, No. 2826-7; Wien, Nos. 1891-2; Br. Mus., No. 753. For a very reliable text, cf. that contained in the commentary by 'Abdarrazzâq al Kâghî (d. A.H. 736=A.D. 1336; see No. 875 below), who tells us, in the preface of his commentary, quoted in India Office, No. 600, that he found many variants in the various copies of the work which he examined, but that fortunately he succeeded in obtaining a copy studied under the author himself, the text of which he incorporated in his commentary.

Written in fair Naskh. Dated A.H. 839.

Scribe: صدر الدين بن محمد.

The title-page bears the following autograph note of Sūfi Muḥammad bin 'Alī, which indicates that the MS. was for some time in his possession:—

مِنْ مَتَمَلَكَاتِ الْعَبْدِ الْفَقِيرِ إِلَى الْمَلِكِ الْوَلِيِّ مُحَمَّدِ بْنِ شَيْخِ عَلِيٍّ

This note is followed by his seal, which contains the following Persian verse:—

بِمَهْرِ مَهْرِ نَبِيِّ وَبَحَقِّ شَاةٍ وَلِيٍّ
بِبُضْضِ جَرَمِ وَكَفَاةٍ مُحَمَّدِ بْنِ عَلِيٍّ

This Muḥammad bin 'Alī was an Indian Sūfi of the 9th century A.H. In A.H. 781, he and his father, 'Alī (d. A.H. 786=A.D. 1384), settled in Kashmīr, whose ruler, Iskandar Shāh (A.H. 796-819=A.D. 1393-1416), became a disciple of the present Sūfi, and whose Minister, a Hindū named Basant, accepted Islam under the Sūfi's spiritual influence, and was afterwards known as Malik Saifaddīn. See Taḍkira i 'Ulamā' i Hind, p. 219.

The title-page also bears the following prayer:—

احياء علوم الدين

IHYÂ' U 'ULÛM AD DÎN.

A beautiful copy (in four volumes) of Ihyâ' u 'Ulûm ad Dîn, a comprehensive work on Sûfism and asceticism, as well as Islamic doctrine in general, the author referring throughout to the Qur'ân, Hadîs, Sûfîs, Jurists, Theologians and Philosophers, and devoting special attention to an exposition of the philosophical principles of the subject. The work is held in such repute as a standard work on the subject that it is the opinion of eminent doctors of Islam that if all other works were to perish, the whole body of Islamic doctrine and mystical teaching could be restored from the present work alone. Muḥammad Pârasâ (d. A.H. 822=A.D. 1419), a famous Sûfî of the 9th century A.H., and the author of Faṣl al Khitâb, tells us, in the following passage on fol. 33^a of Lib. copy, Hand-list, No. 1368, that our author borrowed his methods and materials from Qût al Qulûb (No. 826 above): وقد تتبع كلامه (ابو غالب مكي) الاعلام حجة الاسلام في تأليف احياء العلوم.

Ibn. Ḥaḡar (d. A.H. 852=A.D. 1449; see Lib. Cat., vol. v, part i, No. 159) and 'Irâqî (d. A.H. 806=A.D. 1403; see Lib. Cat., vol. v, part ii, No. 442), each made a collection of the Ḥadîḡ referred to in the present work, giving in every case the Isnâd and suitable references to other works of Ḥadîḡ. Ibnu'l Jawzî (d. A.H. 597=A.D. 1200; see Lib. Cat., vol. x, No. 512), in his two works, I'lâm al Ilḡyâ and Minhâj al Qâsidîn, criticised the present work. His criticisms were replied to by contemporary scholars; and Yâfi'î, in his Irshâd, foll. 36-39, (see No. 908 below) has refuted certain Šūfis, who criticised the present work. The work is divided into four Rubu', or parts: (i) العبادات; (ii) المعاديات; (iii) الملكات; (iv) المنجيات. Each part is subdivided into 10 Kitâb, and each Kitâb again into several Fasl. The present copy is divided into four volumes, each volume containing one part. The present volume contains Part I, viz., العبادات.

أبو حامد محمد بن محمد الغزالي

He is surnamed Zainaddin at Ṭûsî, and is known by the title of Ḥujjat al Islâm. An eminent scholar of the Shâfi'î school, and famous as philosopher, theologian, jurist and exponent of Šūfism, he is known in Europe by the name of Al-ġazel, and is the subject of innumerable notices both by eastern and western Orientalists of the past and of the present day. He was born in Ṭûs, in A.H. 450; not in 441, as stated by Huart, History of Arabic Literature, p. 265. He lost his father in his boyhood; and was placed under the care of a Šūfî friend of his father, who entered him in a Madrasah of Ṭûs, where he received his early education under Zâdaqânî. Love of learning impelled Ġazzâlî to leave home; and he first visited Jurjân, where he studied under Abû Naṣr Isma'îl and some others. Thereafter, he proceeded to Nî-hâpûr, where the famous professor of Niẓâmiyah Madrasah, 'Abdalmalik Imâm al Ḥaramain (d. A.H. 478=A.D. 1085; see Lib. Cat., vol. x, No. 493), took a keen interest in his education. Ġazzâlî attended his lectures for a considerable period, and completed his studies under him. He proved himself a master of jurisprudence by composing a work on that subject, Al Mankhûl,

¹ The present spelling of the word is preferred to that of Ġazzâlî, on the high authority of Iḡhtiyâr ar Rafiq, fol. 28a, where we read: - for a copy of which see Hand-list, No. 769. As we are told by Ibn Mulaqqin, fol. 77^a, Ġazzālī submitted Al Mankhūl to his teacher, Imām al Ḥaramain, who made the following encouraging remarks on the work: انا حي فلما صبرت حتي اموت لان كتابك غطي على كتابي.

و الغزالي بفتح العين المعجمة وتشديد الزاي وبعد الالف لام و هذه النسبة الى الغزال على عادة اهل خوارزم و جرحان فانهم ينسبون الى القصار القساوي ... و قيل الزاي مخففة ... و هو خلاف المشهور *

Ġazzālī became known throughout Nishāpūr as a profound scholar; and, on the death of Imām al Ḥaramain, in A.H. 478, the authorities appointed him professor of Nizāmiyah Madrasah in his place. After a few years' service in the Nizāmiyah Madrasah, he was summoned in A.H. 484, by the Nizām al Mulk of Bāġdād (see Lib. Cat., vol. x, No. 493) to be Principal of the Nizāmiyah College there; and his success in several debates with eminent scholars of Bāġdād, together with the fame of his lectures, won for him the highest reputation as a scholar throughout the Muslim world. In A.H. 488, he resigned his post in order to devote himself to Šūfism, the love of which had been placed in his heart by Shaikh Abū 'Alī Fārmudī (d. A.H. 477=A.D. 1084; see Mir'āt al Janān, fol. 272^b), under whom he received his early spiritual training. He first performed the pilgrimage to Mecca; and afterwards went to Syria, where he settled in Damascus for nearly 10 years, and adopted Šūfī Abū Naṣr bin Ibrāhīm, who died after A.H. 490, as his Shaikh for spiritual training. The present work (Ihyā'), along with others, was composed in Damascus, and earned for its author the title of سيد المصنفين (the lord of authors); see Irshād, No. 908 below. Ġazzālī, later on, visited Cairo and Alexandria; and afterwards returned to his native place (Tūs), where he founded a Madrasah for the scholars and a Monastery for the Šūfis, and having renounced all other works, passed the rest of his life in teaching the Qur'ān and holding sittings for his students and disciples. He is the author of more than 100 works, of which 64 are enumerated in Brock., vol. i, p. 419. As regards two of the works mentioned in his list, viz., Al Maqḍūn Bihī 'An Ġairi Ahlihī and As sirr al Maktūm, Ġazzālī's authorship is emphatically denied by Isnawī, fol. 343. He died in A.H. 505=A.D. 1111. See Isnawī, loc. cit.; Ibn Mulaqqin, fol. 77; Ikhtiyār ar Rafiq, fol. 110; Mir'āt al Janān, fol. 287^b; Nafahāt, p. 422; Mujmal Faṣīhī, fol. 159; Subkī, vol. iv, fol. 210-16; Mu'jam al Buldān, vol. iii, p. 560; Kashf ʿAsrār al Bayān, fol. 182; Tāj at Ṭabaqāt, vol. vi. part i, fol. 295; Aṭ Ṭabaqāt al 'Alīyah (see foll. 122-25 No. 959/5 below); Gösche, Über Ġazzālī's Leben und Werke, in Abhandlungen der Berliner Akademie, 1858, pp. 239-311; Munk, Mélanges de philosophie, p. 336; Schefer Chrestomathie Persane, vol. ii, p. 212; Huart, History of Arabic Literature, p. 263; Nicholson, Literary History of Arabs, p. 338; Macdonald, Development of Muslim Theology, pp. 215-241; Z.D.M.G., vol. vii, p. 172.

From a seal on the title-page of the first volume dated A.H. 1048, which reads thus:—بندۀ شاه جهان عبد الرشيد ديلمي, we may conclude that the present MS. was at one time in possession of 'Abdarrashid ad Dailami (d. A.H. 1081=A.D. 1670; see Tadhkira-i Khush Nawisān, p. 95), a famous scribe in the Court of Shāh Jahān (A.H. 1037–1068=A.D. 1628–1658).

There is a seal at the beginning and the end of all four volumes, which reads thus: وقف هذا الكتاب لله عز وجل العبد الضعيف حاجي عبد الرزاق سنة 1114, from which we learn that the MS. was bequeathed for the use of the public, in A.H. 1114, by one Hājī 'Abdarruzzaq

عين العلم و زين العلم

'AIN AL 'ILM WA ZAIN AL HILM.

An abridgment of Ihyâ' al 'Ulûm (see Nos. 833-836 above). The author of India Office Catalogue, No. 680, rejects the statement made by Stewart in his Catalogue (No. 139), in which he describes the present work as an abridgment of Ihyâ' u 'Ulûm ad Dîn, and holds that it is a compendious independent work on asceticism and Sūfism. An examination of the contents of the work supports Stewart's statement, however; and 'Alī Qārī (d. A.H. 1014=A.D. 1605), in his commentary (No. 844 below), definitely states that the text is an abridgment of Ihyâ al 'Ulûm, as appears from the following passage in the preface to his commentary (see No. 844 below):—

• وهو في الحقيقة مختصر لحياء العلوم لحجة الاسلام •

The authorship of the work is doubtful. According to some Muḥammad bin 'Uṣmān bin 'Umar Al Balkhī بن عثمان بن عمر البلخي, a scholar of the 8th century A.H., is the author, see Hâj. Khal., vol. iv, p. 283. Again in Hâj. Khal., vol. vi, p. 159, and Berlin, No. 3064, where the work is noticed under the title of Manâhij al 'Ārifin, one 'Abdallāh bin 'Abdarrahmān al Modā'inī is said to be the author of the work; but 'Alī Qārī, in his commentary, on the authority of Ibn Hajar (d. A.H. 852=A.D. 1449; see Lib. Cat., vol. v, part i, p. 49) holds that it is the work of a certain Indian scholar.

The present work was lithographed in Peshawar, A.H. 1279; see Rampûr, No. 221, where a copy of the said edition is noticed. For a Persian commentary on the present work, see Hand-list, No. 1362.

Written in beautiful Naskh, within gold-ruled borders. Bears a frontispiece. At the end is found the seal of Faḍā'il Khān, a noble of 'Ālangir's Court, dated A.H. 1104, from which we may conclude that the MS. was for some time in his possession, and was written in or before that year. This seal is followed by a note, which runs thus:--

عین العلم با سرنوح مجدول بطلی و رنگ جلد مستعمل بابت

پیشکش هدايت الله واد عزيت الله خان حاتم ماه شعبان سنه ۱۱۴۴

The note tells us that the present MS. was presented, in A.H. 1144, to Hidāyatallāh, the son of 'Ināyatallāh, the author of Aḥkām 'Ālangiri, who died in A.H. 1139=A.D. 1726; see Beale, p. 179; Ma'ūfir 'Ālangiri, 257^b.

شرح عن العلم

SHARḤ U 'AIN AL 'ILM.

A very detailed commentary on the preceding work, explaining fully points referring to the Qur'ān, Ḥadīṣ and sayings of the Sūfis. The present commentary was the author's last work, and was composed in Rajab, A.H. 1014, a few months before his death.

By 'Alī bin Sulṭān Muḥammad al Qārī al Harawī علي بن سلطان محمد القاري الهروي, the most eminent Ḥanafī author of the 11th century A.H., who died in A.H. 1014=A.D. 1605. See Lib. Cat., vol. v, part i, No. 237.

Autograph of 'Alī Qārī is found on the title-page of Al Wasīlah; see Hand-list, No. 186, where 'Alī Qārī in the following note says that the said MS. was for some time in his possession:—

جواهر القرآن

JAWÂHIR AL QUR'ÂN.

A work, marked by profound critical acumen, which deals mainly with the principles of Islam, Sûfism and asceticism, besides certain miscellaneous matters. The author, throughout the work, bases his exposition of philosophical principles on the verses of the Qur'ân, and explains the mystical secrets and allusions contained in those verses. The author holds that the present work is only useful for those godly and pious men, who are the masters of literary and mystical learning; and he solemnly warns scholars against revealing the secrets contained in the work to those not fitted to receive them; see fol. 97^a, where he says:—

و حرام على من يقع هذا الكتاب بيده ان يظهره الا علي من استجمع
بهذه الصفات *

The work is divided into three Qisms, of which the first two Qisms enumerate the various branches of Islamic learning, with reference to the verses of the Qur'ân from which each is derived. In the third Qism, the author expounds 40 principles, which he considers contain the very essence of the Qur'ân, and which he designates by a separate title, viz. Al Arba'un fi usûl Ad Din (40 principles of Islam). This third Qism he authorises scholars to treat as an independent work on the subject; see fol. 127^a, where he says:—

اسم هذا القسم كتاب اربعين في اصول الدين فمن شاء ان يتأمله
مفردا فليكتب فانه مشتمل علي زبدة القرآن *

On the strength of this authority, numerous separate copies of this third Qism have been made, with the addition of a short preface. For a separate copy of the same see No. 846 below, where its contents are fully described.

Author: Abû Hâmid Muḥammad bin Aḥmad al Gazzâlî (d. A.H. 505=A.D. 1111); see No. 833 above.

Beginning:—

اما بعد حمد الله الذي هو فاتحة كل كتاب و الصلوة على رسوله
التي هي خاتمه كل خطاب اللهم *

At several points, readers are requested by the author to refer to another composition of his, Ihyâ' al 'Ulûm (Nos. 833-36), for more detailed information on the points concerned.

An index of the work is contained in foll. 1-4.

AL ARBA'ŪN FĪ UṢŪL AD DĪN.

A copy of the third Qism of the preceding work, treated as an independent composition and transcribed by Shaikh Muḥammad Chishtī, a Sūfī of the 11th century A.H., who added a short preface, which runs thus:—

الحمد لله رب العالمين حمدا يوازي نعمه ويكافي مرزیده و الصلوة
علي رسوله محمد و آله و اصحابه اجمعين *

The present work (the third Qism of the preceding) is again divided into the following four Qisms, each Qism containing a section devoted to each of the ten principles dealt with and a Khâtimah:—

خاتمة في التنبية على الكتب التي منها تطلب حقائق هذه الامور.

The ten principles and Khâtimah of the second Qism are as follows:—

منهاج العابدین

MINHĀJ AL 'ĀBIDĪN.

A work intended to serve as a guide to the principles and duties of the devoted life. In his preface, the author tells us that while the points dealt with in the present work have been discussed by him in his other compositions, the manner of representation and method of exposition adopted is new. According to the statement contained in the Isnād, the present work was the last composition of the author. The work is divided into seven 'Aqbaḥ, which are fully described in Berlin. No. 3265.

Author: Abū Hāmid Muḥammad bin Muḥammad al-Ġazzālī ابو حامد محمد بن محمد الغزالي. See No. 833 above.

The Isnād runs thus:—

انما يتقبل الله من المتقين حدثني الشيخ الفقيه الصالح الزاهد عبد

The preface to the work begins thus:—

The Isnād quoted above tells us that the contents of the present work were dictated by Ġazzālī to one of his pupils, 'Abd almalik bin 'Abdallāh, a scholar of the 6th century A.H.; and our copy, which is dated A.H. 966, is accordingly a later transcription of one containing the above Isnād.

مقاصد منهاج العابدین

MAQÂSID U MINHÂJ AL 'ÂBIDÎN.

The present is an abridgment of the preceding work, by 'Abd-al-wahhâb ash-Sha'rânî عبد الوهاب الشعرائى (d. A.H. 973=A.D. 1665; see Lib. Cat., vol. x, No. 567). The work itself contains no clue to the title or authorship of the present abridgment; but these we have succeeded in tracing in a commentary on an abridgment of Minhâj al 'Âbidîn, by Mustafâ Bakrî, a scholar of the 12th century A.H. (see No. 950 below), noticed in Berlin, No. 3268, the text of which corresponds to the abridgment contained in the present MS. The commentator referred to above indicates the title and authorship of the present abridgment in a passage, which runs as follows:—

اما بعد فلن الكتاب الموسوم بمقاصد منهاج العابدین الجامع لشوارد
رقائق دقائق الدين اختصرة العارف الربانى سيدى عبد الوهاب الشعرائى البحر •

Some one has erroneously noted in the margin of fol. 1^v that the present is an independent work on Sûfism, with the title Risâlat u 'Ilm ad Din thus: رسالة علم الدين لامل العلم والمود.

Beginning:—

الحمد لله الذي وفق من شاء من عبادة سلوك ... منهاج العابدین
... اما بعد فلن منهاج العابدین من الكتب التي وقع عليها ... الاجماع
وعم به الانتفاع فسألني بعض اخواني ممن ذاكرتهم ان اجمع ... مقاصد
واذكر حقائقه وشوارد البحر •

With the exception of that copy of the text contained in the commentary referred to above, no other copy of the work is known to us.

رسالة التسوية

RISĀLAT AT TASWIYAH.

A treatise expounding, both from the theological and mystical standpoints, the following verses in Sūrat u Ṣād (38, verses 71-2), of the Qur'ān:—

اذ قال ربك للملائكة اني خالق بشرا من طين ⑤ فلذا سويته و نفخت فيه من روحي فقعوا له ساجدين ⑥

When thy Lord said to the angels, "I am about to make man of clay, and when I have formed him, and breathed my Spirit into him, then worshipping fall down before him."

Author: Abū Hāmid Muḥammad bin Muḥammad al Ġazzālī (d. A.H. 505=A.D. 1111; see No. 833 above).

The scribe, whose name is not given, tells us in the following note at the end that the present work is Al Kitāb Al Maḍnūn bihi 'An Ġair i Ahlihī, one of the two works ascribed to Ġazzālī (see No. 833 above):—

تم الكتاب المضمون به عن غير اهله *

The beginning and contents of the copy of that work, noticed in Berlin, No. 1721, do not correspond with those of the present MS.; while, on the other hand, a work by Ġazzālī, entitled Ar Risālat at Taswiyah, which is noticed in Berlin, No. 1722, agrees fully with the beginning and contents of the present MS. We may, therefore, safely reject the statement made by the scribe.

Beginning:—

قال الامام ابو حامد محمد بن محمد الغزالي لماسئل عن قوله تعالى فلذا سويته و نفخت فيه من روحي الآية ... ما التسوية و ما النفخ فقال رضي الله عنه التسوية فعل في المعل القابل للروح و هو الطين في حق آدم عليه السلام النج *

شرح بداية الهداية

SHARḤU BIDĀYAT AL HIDĀYAH.

A unique copy of a concise commentary on Bidāyat al Hidāyah, a treatise on Sūfism by Ḡazzālī (see No. 833), serving as a guide to the devout life. For copies of the text see Library Hand-list, No. 2580.2; Berlin, No. 3263; Cairo, vol. ii, p. 70. The commentator's name appears nowhere in the MS.; nor is the commentary mentioned in any catalogue. Further, there is a misleading statement in the preface to the work, quoted below, to the effect that the need was felt for a concise commentary to supplement the long and detailed commentary on the same treatise composed by the famous scholar, 'Abdal Qādir bin Aḥmad al Fākihī (d. A.H. 982=A.D. 1574), which at once suggests that the present commentary is by some scholar other than the said 'Abdal Qādir. Now this preface is contained in foll. 1-4, which are a later addition, as the handwriting clearly shows; and that our copy was originally defective at the beginning is stated in a Persian note at the end of the MS., which runs thus:—

شرح بداية الهداية امام غزالي قدری از اول ناقص بود مکمل کرده

شد *

The statement contained in the preface, which is, as stated, a later addition, is obviously incorrect; and that 'Abdal Qādir was, indeed, the author of the present commentary is clearly evident from the following facts, which were discovered after a careful and exhaustive study of the MS., as well as researches in books of reference:—

(i) The commentator, on fol. 82^a, refers to a commentary of his own on Hizb of Abu'l Ḥasan Bakrī, one of his Shaikhs, thus:—

نعم سمعت من شيخنا أبي الحسن البكري كما شرحت
... من المنقبة العالية لشيخنا في آخر شرح حزه *

Now a commentary on Hizb is mentioned in Berlin, No. 10110, as the work of the above-mentioned 'Abdal Qādir bin Aḥmad.

(ii) The commentator, on fol. 100^a, refers to a work entitled Kitāb al Akhlāq, also known as Al Manāhij; speaking of it as a composition of his own, thus:—

ذكرت منها في كتابي الاخلاق *

This is also mentioned as a work of 'Abdal Qādir in Berlin, No. 5401.

(iii) The author of An Nūr as Sāfir, on fol. 395^a, mentions two commentaries on Bidāyah, one detailed and the other concise, by 'Abbal-Qādir bin Aḥmad al Fākihī, thus:—

وله تصانيف منها شرحان على البداية للغزالي أحدهما أكبر من الآخر.

(iv) The present commentator refers on foll. 63 and 64 to another commentary of his on Bidāyah, which he speaks of as Ash Sharḥ; and, on fol. 72^a, he distinctly says that the subject has been fully explained by him in Ash Sharḥ, thus: بينت ذلك في شرح (I explained it in Ash Sharḥ).

Beginning:—

الصدق لله الذي منه بداية الهداية و اليه انتهائها والصلوة والسلام على من ظهرت على يده أنوارها ... أما بعد فإن الرسالة الوجيزة المسماة ببداية الهداية للإمام الهمام أبي حامد الغزالي ... لما كانت مشهورة بين الأنام و تصدى لشرح بعض الأعلام كالإمام العلامة وحيد عصره و فريد دهره عبد القادر بن أحمد الفاكهي الشافعي المجاور لبيت الله لكن لم يكن هذا الشرح الجليل خالياً من البسط و التفصيل فاردت أن أحرر شرحاً صغيراً إليه *

Commentator: 'Abdal Qādir bin Aḥmad al Fākihī, a famous scholar and author of repute. He was born in A.H. 920 and died in A.H. 982=A.D. 1574; see An Nūr as Sāfir, fol. 359. He is described by the author of An Nūr as Sāfir as a writer as voluminous as Suyūṭī (d. A.H. 911=A.D. 1505), who was the author of 600 works. Unfortunately, the works of our present author are not enumerated by his biographers; but we have succeeded in tracing the following eight works of his:—

(i) The present work. (ii) Kitāb al Akhlāq, also known as Al Manāḥij as Sanīyah; see Berlin, No. 5401. (iii) Sharḥ al Hizb; see Berlin, No. 10110. (iv) Ash Sharḥ al Akbar, mentioned in An Nūr as Sāfir. (v) Faṣl al Khitāb fi Faḍā'il 'Amā'im, mentioned on fol. 65 of the present MS. (vi) Tāj ar Riyāsah, mentioned on fol. 118. (vii) Tuḥfat al Liṭāfah, mentioned on fol. 13^b of MS. No. 936 below. (viii) Ḥuṣn al Tawassul; for a copy of which, see No. 936 below.

Written in fair Naskḥ. Not dated; apparently, 11th century A.H.

The following note at the end tells us that one Nizāmaddin compared the present MS. with some other copy of the work:—

الغنية لطالبي طريق الحق

L GUNYAH LI ṬĀLIBI ṬARIQ AL HAQQ.

The work is given the above title by the author himself, in the preface quoted below; and is noticed under the same title in Brock., vol. i, p. 435. Hāj. Khal., vol. iv, p. 338, designates the work by the title Gunyah only. In India, the work is generally known as Ḡunyat at Ṭālibin; see India Office, Nos. 617-8; Rampūr, Nos. 230-33; Stewart Cat., No. 149. In the following note on the title-page of our copy, which was transcribed in India, the work is spoken of by the last mentioned title, as follows:—

كتاب غنية الطالبين من مصنفات سلاطين العارفين غوث الدقائق امام
الكرمين شيخ القادر الجيلاني *

The present work, which treats of religious duties and certain theological matters, deals at great length with the spiritual significance of the twelve months and the seven days of the week and of the prayers appropriate to those days and seasons. It concludes with an exposition of the disciplinary practices of ascetics: آداب المريدين. The work is chiefly based on the Qur'ān, Ḥadīṣ and sayings of the Ṣūfis. It was composed at the persistent request of the author's friends.

Author: Muḥiaddin 'Abdal Qādir bin Abi Ṣāliḥ Mūṣā bin Janki-dūst al Jili al Ḥanbali معني الدين عبد القادر بن أبي صالح موسى بن جنكي دوست, the famous Ḥanbali scholar, and founder of the Qādiriyyah order, the most popular order of Ṣūfism, known throughout the Islamic world. The genealogical table of our author both on his father's and his mother's side ends with 'Alī, the fourth Caliph. Cf. the beginning of MS. No. 854 below, where his genealogical table on the paternal side is quoted. His genealogical table on the maternal side is added by someone in a note on the title-page of the same MS.

He was born in A.H. 470, or according to some in A.H. 471. The former is the date generally accepted by his biographers. The author of Fawât al Wafayât, vol. ii, p. 1, wrongly states the year of his birth as A.H. 491. He came to Bagdâd, at 18 years of age, in A.H. 488; and there he completed his studies under distinguished scholars and Sûfis. He received spiritual training under several Shaikhs; but خرقه (the garment of Sûfism) he received from Abû Sa'îd Makhzûmî, the most famous Sûfi of his age. For some years following A.H. 526 he was engaged in preaching and delivering lectures on Islam. His biographers tell us that his success in converting a large number of non-Muslims to Muhammadanism made him known throughout the Islamic world as an eloquent preacher. A great many Muhammadans confessed their sins and sought repentance, placing their hands on his. Ibn Jawzi, a contemporary Hanbali scholar (see Lib. Cat., vol. x, No. 512), severely criticised our author in his work entitled Damm u 'Abdal Qâdir (see vol. v, Part ii, No. 203, where the compositions of Ibn Jawzi are enumerated); but it is generally recognised that this and other works of Ibn Jawzi against the Sûfis were inspired by bitter prejudice against the latter. 'Abdal Qâdir, the founder of the Qâdiri-yah order, died at the age of 91 years in A.H. 561 = A.D. 1165. See, for his life and works Ibn Rajab, foll. 192-99; Mir'ât al Janân, foll. 332-36; Nafahât, p. 586; Mujmal Fasihi, fol. 169; Brock., vol. i, p. 435. Many Sûfis and scholars have composed independent biographies of our author. Among these, our Library possesses copies of the following works: (i) Bahjat al Asrâr; see Hand-list, No. 2442. (ii) Qalâ'id al Jawâhir; see Hand-list, No. 2445. (iii) Gibṭat an Nâzir; see Hand-list, No. 2444. The last-mentioned work was edited from the Library copy by Sir E. Denison Ross, and published in Calcutta in A.D. 1903.

The following Persian verse on the title-page, which gives the age of the author, the date of his birth, and the date of his death, adds a year to the correct dates, it will be observed:—

This verse is followed by a note, which tells us that the MS. was in A.H. 1125 in possession of one Muḥammad Šāliḥ of Lahore; and this is followed by another note, written by one Saifaddīn Ḥusain of Lahore, who says that he obtained possession of the MS. through Muḥammad Nāṣiraddīn Šhāh in A.H. 1135.

ملفوظ القادرية

MALFŪZ AL QĀDIRIYAH.

The above is the title given to the present work in a note at the end of our copy, which runs thus:—

قد وقع الفراع من ترقيم الملفوظ لحضرة مصبوب السبعاني غوث.

الصمداني شيخ عبد القادر الجيلاني *

This agrees with the title as given in India Office, No. 619. In Berlin, No. 3402, on the other hand, the work is noticed under the title: الفتح الرباني والفيض السبعاني Al Fath ar Rabbāni Wa Al Fa'id as Subhāni; and a different title again is found in Hāj. Khal., vol. ii, p. 605, where the work is referred to as جلاء الخواطر Jalā' al Khawāṭir. The present work is a collection of the sermons of Shaikh 'Abdal Qādir (see No. 851 above) delivered in various Madrasahs and Rubāṭ (i.e. dwelling-houses of Sūfis) in Bagdād from Shawwāl, A.H. 545, to Rajab, A.H. 546. These sermons contain religious, mystical and moral instruction.

آداب المريدين

'ĀDĀB AL MURĪDĪN.

An old copy of 'Ādāb al Murīdīn, a work which deals chiefly with the disciplinary measures of asceticism to be followed by novices, and also with certain other points. The contents of the work are fully described in Berlin, No. 3084.

Author: Abū An Naṣīb 'Abdal Qābir bin 'Abdallāh bin Muḥam-

ʾAbū al-Najīb ʿAbd al-Qādir bin ʿAbd Allāh bin ʿAmmawāh al-Suhrawardī السهروردی، a famous Shāfiʿī scholar and a Šūfī of great repute, known to us as the founder of the Suhrawardīyah order of Šūfism. Our author traced his descent from Abū Bakr, the first Caliph. His early education was given to him by his uncle, Abū Ḥafṣ, who was also the first Šūfī, to inspire him with a love of mystical learning. He came with his uncle to Bagdād, where both of them permanently settled. Abū an Najīb took admission in that famous institution, the Nizāmiyah College of Bagdād. He completed his studies in the literary branches of learning in that College. Afterwards he devoted special attention to mysticism, and received his spiritual training from Aḥmad al ʿĠazzālī (d. A.H. 520=A.D. 1126; see No. 959/5 below) and Shaikh Hammād ad Dabbās (d. A.H. 525=A.D. 1130; see Mirʾāt al Janān, fol. 305*). On the death of the latter, he attended the sittings of Shaikh ʿAbd al Qādir al Jīlī (see No. 851 above). Abū an Najīb received the garment and licence of Šūfism from all the above-mentioned Shaikhs; but he is specially reckoned as the disciple and successor of Aḥmad ʿĠazzālī. Our author lived in a Rubaṭ built by him on the west bank of the Tigris at Bagdād; where after completing his mystical training, he began to hold sittings both for imparting spiritual training and for teaching. This house of his became so popular with students and novices that it developed into a Monastery; and Abū an Najīb added to it a Madrasah. In addition to the sittings mentioned above, he invariably presided over the assemblies of the Šūfis. In a short time, the fame of his sermons and of the literary and spiritual instruction which he imparted to scholars and Šūfis alike spread throughout the Islamic world; and he was visited in Bagdād by Caliphs, kings and nobles. On the 15th Muḥarram, A.H. 545, he was appointed Principal of the Nizāmiyah College, where he worked with remarkable success till Rabiʿ 11, A.H. 547, when he resigned, as a protest against the action taken by the authorities in escheating the property of one Shaikh Yaʿqūb al Kātib, a boarder of the College who had died. This action resulted in a strike among the boarders, for a detailed account of which see al Kāmil by Ibn Asīr, vol. xi, p. 69. After resigning his post Abū an Najīb returned to his Monastery and Madrasah, where he continued to hold sittings till A.H. 556. In A.H. 557 he left Bagdād, intending to visit Jerusalem. When he reached Damascus, however, he was persuaded by the authorities to stay there and deliver a series of lectures on Islam, which were attended by chiefs, nobles and scholars. From Damascus he returned to Bagdād, and passed the rest of his life in his own Monastery, where he died in A.H. 563=A.D. 1167. The

(iv) foll. 48-80. Part iv. Contains accounts of the Tawbah of penitents from among Muhammadan kings, under the following head:—

ذكر التوابين من ملوك هذه الامة .

(v) foll. 81-107. Part v. Contains accounts of the Tawbah of penitents from among the Imāms, Sūfis, and Traditionists under the two following heads: (i) ذكر سبب توبة جماعة من الائمة رضي الله تعالى عنهم , (ii) اخبار جماعة من التوابين .

(vi) foll. 108-119. Part vi. This part is also defective at the beginning. Foll. 108-117, a continuation of the preceding part. Foll. 118-119 contain accounts of the Tawbah of penitents from among certain non-Muslims, who afterwards became Muhammadans, under the following head:—

ذكر خبر (توبة) جماعة ممن اسلم انبا تنا شهدة بنت احمد بن الفرج الابري النح .

Author: Muwaffiqaddin Abū Muḥammad ‘Abdallāh bin Aḥmad bin Muḥammad Qudamah al Maqdisi أحمد بن محمد عبد الله بن أحمد بن محمد بن قدامة المقدسي, a famous Ḥanbalī scholar and author, known chiefly for his masterly merits in philology, jurisprudence, theology and theosophy, on which subjects he composed a number of works. In all, 13 works of our author are enumerated in Brock., vol. i, p. 398. He was born in Jammā'il (in Palestine). A.H. 541. In A.H. 551 his father left Jammā'il for Damascus, where he permanently settled. Our author studied in Damascus under his father and some others. In A.H. 561 he visited Bagdād, where he studied under Shaikh ‘Abd al Qādir al Jili (see No. 851 above), Ibn Jawzi (see Lib. Cat., vol. x, No. 512), and others. After completing his studies in Bagdād, he visited Mecca, Medina, Mausil and other places, and attended the lectures of the Shaikhs there. More than sixty Shaikhs of the author are referred to by him in the present work. In A.H. 575 he returned to Damascus, where he composed a big commentary in ten volumes on Kharqī, a work on jurisprudence. See for a copy of the same Cairo, vol. iii, p. 298. Some years after, he returned to Bagdād, where, according to his biographers, he spent, in all, about forty years of his life. In A.H. 607, he went back to Damascus, where he was appointed Imām of the Jāmi' Muzaffari in place of his brother, Abū ‘Umar. He continued in that responsible post till his death in A.H. 620=A.D. 1223. Our author is known to have been a supporter of the mystical theories of Sūfi ‘Abdallāh al Anṣārī (see No. 831 above); and when his teacher, Ibn Jawzi, criticised ‘Abdallāh al Anṣārī for having taught that God has similar bodily attributes to man (اصحاب التشبيه) he replied to his criticisms. Abū Shāma (see Lib. Cat., vol. v, Part ii, No. 380), a pupil of the author, mentions as a remarkable instance of his complete absorption, when engaged in prayer, that once when King 'Aziz (A.H. 589-595=A.D. 1193-1198) came to see him, he never noticed the monarch until he had finished the prayers in which he was engaged. In support of his mystical powers, his biographers mention several miracles performed by him, such as crossing rivers walking on his feet, and others. Dahabi (see Lib. Cat., vol. v, Part ii, No. 462/7), a pupil of the author, wrote an independent biography of him. See for his life Mir'at al Janān, fol. 387^b; Ibn Rajab, vol. ii, foll. 81-86; Dastūr al I'lam, fol. 113.

The MS., the first part of which, as already mentioned, is defective, begins abruptly thus:—

اسرافيل ومن في سبع سموات وحملة العرش والكروسي
يقولون يا خا طي ابن الخا طي ما الذي رثاك الى ههنا وكيف اجترأت
اليه وموسى عليه السلام يبكي الخ *

The second part begins with the Isnād, thus:—

اخبرنا الشيخ القاضي الامام تاج الدين ابو محمد عبد الخالق بن
الشيخ عبد السلام بن سعيد بن علوان الشافعي في شهر ذي الحجة من
سنة خمس وتسعين وستمائة قال انبأنا شيخ الاسلام موق الدین ابو محمد
عبد الله بن احمد بن محمد بن قدامة المقدسي رضي الله تعالى عنه قال
انبأنا شيخ الاسلام محيي الدين ابو محمد عبد القادر بن ابي صالح بن
عبد الله الجيلي انبأنا ابو بكر محمد بن العباس بن نجيم البرازي ثنا يعقوب
بن يوسف القزويني ثنا محمد بن سعيد ثنا عمر بن ابي قيس عن
سماك عن عبد الرحمن بن يزيد عن ابيه عن عبد الله بن مسعود عن رسول
الله صلى الله عليه وسلم قال ان بني اسرائيل استخلفوا خليفة عليهم بعد
موسى عليه السلام الخ *

It will be noted, from the above, that 'Abdal Qādir (see No. 851 above) was one of the author's Shaikhs, being quoted here as one of the sources of his information. A note at the beginning of each part of the work runs thus:—

كتاب التوابين تأليف شيخ الامام ... عبد الله بن احمد بن محمد بن
 قدامة المقدسي رواية القاضي الامام تاج الدين ابي محمد عبد الخالق
 بن عبد السلام بن سعيد بن علوان الشنعي سام لكتبه العبد الفقير الى
 الله سبحانه محمد بن عبد الولي بن ابي محمد بن خولان الصنبلي •

From this, as well as from the Isnād itself, we learn that Muḥammad bin ʿAbdalwālī, a scholar of the 8th century (see Ad Durar al Kāminah, vol. ii, fol. 355^b), is the scribe of the present copy, and that he studied the present copy of the work in A.H. 605 under ʿAbdal Khāliq, a Shāfiʿī scholar and a Qāḍī of Baʿlabakk, who studied the work under the author himself in A.H. 611, for which date see the Isnād and note attached to the 5th part of the work.

Thus it is evident that our copy was transcribed in or shortly before A.H. 605; and we can accordingly safely reject the statement contained in the following note by some one unknown on the first fol., which speaks of the date of transcription of the present copy as A.H. 595:—

هذا كتاب التوابين لابن قدامة الصنبلي المتوفى سنة ٦٢٠ و تاريخه
 كتابة هذه النسخة سنة ٥٩٥ •

Again an incomplete copy of the same without title and author's name is mentioned in Berlin, No. 8940. Written in fair Naskh.

الوصية

AL WAṢĪYAH.

A very rare work, of which no other copy is known to exist, but which is just mentioned in Ṭabaqāt Ibn Rajab, vol. ii, fol. 80, in the list of the author's compositions, containing mystical and moral instructions, composed by the author in his old age in the form of a testament at the request of certain of his friends. The author followed the lines laid down by the four Imāms (Abū Ḥanīfa, Mālik Shāfiʿi and Ḥanbal) and other eminent authors, who had composed a work of this nature in their old age under the same title; see Berlin Index (vol. x), pp. 543-44.

شمس المعارف ولطائف العوارف SHAMS AL MA'ĀRIF WA LATĀ'IF AL 'AWĀRIF.

A work on Sūfism, expounding the mystical secret and supernatural powers contained in the names of God, and in the prayers admih, and supporting the same by philosophical principles. The author also deals with the mystical allusions contained in the letters of the alphabet, used in the Qur'ān, and discusses the influence exercised by the sun, moon and stars at the time of preparing prayer-charts or phylacteries. The work is divided into 40 faṣl. The present copy, which is incomplete at the beginning, begins abruptly thus:—

شهادة ازل فمن نور هذه الشهادة اعترف المصطفون علما فاعلم ذلك *

Neither the author's name nor the title of the work is given on the title-page; but these are given in a note which has been added on the title-page, and are corroborated by Hāj. Khāl., vol. iv, p. 75, who quotes the following passage which is found verbatim in the present MS.:—

اعلم ان المقصود من فصول هذا الكتاب ان يعلم بذلك شرف اسماء
الله سبحانه وما اودع في بصرها من انواع الجواهر الحكيميات وكيف

التصرف باسماء الدعوات وما تبعها من حروف النور والآيات يتصل بها الى

The preface, as given by Hāj. Khal., loc. cit., begins as follows:—

Author: Muḥiaddin Abu'l 'Abbās Aḥmad bin 'Alī bin Yūsuf al Būnī ^{معني الدين ابو العباس احمد بن علي بن يوسف البوني} of the 7th century A.H., well known as a cabbalistic writer. On fol. 182^b he speaks of the journey which he made from Egypt to Jerusalem, and tells of his having encountered a certain person belonging to the group of Abdāl,¹ thus:—

عوارف المعارف

'AWĀRIF AL MA'ĀRIF.

A very reliable copy of 'Awārif al Ma'ārif, studied by certain famous Ṣūfis of Gujarāt mentioned below. The present composition is regarded by Šūfis and scholars as the most authoritative work on Šūfism. The work is chiefly based on the Qur'ān, Ḥadīṣ and sayings of the Šūfis. In the first and sixth chapters of the work, the author throws light on the origin of Šūfism in Islam and on the philology of the word Šūfi.¹ The principal mystical stages, as well as the aphorisms of the Šūfis, are also discussed in the present work, which was composed in Mecca. The Isnād of Ḥadīṣ and of the sayings of the Šūfis, contained in the present work, commence from one of the author's Shaikhhs. The work is divided into 63 Bāb, which are fully described in Berlin, No. 2845.

Author: Shihābaddīn 'Umar bin Muḥammad bin 'Ammawaih As Suhrawardī شهاب الدين عمر بن محمد بن عمرو السهروردي (d. A.H. 632 = A.D. 1234). See Lib. Cat., vol. x, No. 519. He was a nephew and disciple of Abū an Najīb, the founder of the Suhrawardī order; and it was through his efforts, and those of another disciple (see No. 855 above), that the order spread in Islamic countries. In Upper India, the order was introduced by Bahā'addīn Zakariyā al Multānī (d. A.H. 600 = A.D. 1261; see Taḍkira-i 'Ulamā' Hind, p. 32), a well-known disciple of the present author, who came from Bagdād and settled in Multān. In Bihar and Bengal it was introduced by another disciple of his, Jalāladdīn at Tabrizī, who came from Persia, and after first visiting Delhi and Badāyūn, journeyed to Bihar and Bengal; see Mir'āt al Asrār, Persian Cat., vol. viii, No. 676, fol. 341. Later on, fresh impetus was given to the spreading of the order in Bengal and Bihar by the disciples of the above-mentioned Zakariyā al Multānī, when they visited these parts of India. A large number of the leading Šūfis of Bihar, who joined the order, are known to us.

The colophon runs thus :—

وقع الفراغ من تحرير هذا الكتاب الشريف المسمى بعوارف المعارف
علي يد اقل العباد شمس الدين ابن كمال الدين ابن شيم الاسلام

A note below the colophon which runs thus : قوبلت مرة بعد الله tells that the present MS. was once compared with another copy of the work. This is followed by an autograph note, written by Ja'far bin Jalâl, an eminent Şûfî of Gujarât, and the author of Raudât i Şhâhî, a Persian work containing biographies of the Şûfis, in 24 volumes. He was also the author of several works on Hadîq and Tafsîr. He died in A.H. 1085=A.D. 1674; see Taḍkira i 'Ulamâ' i Hind, p. 214; supplement Mir'ât Ahmadi, p. 44. In this note, he tells us that, in A.H. 1044, he and his father, Jalâl Maqṣûd 'Âlam (d. A.H. 1050=A.D. 1649; see Taḍkira i 'Ulamâ' i Hind, p. 216), studied the work from the present copy under his grandfather, Maqbâl 'Âlam (d. A.H. 1045=A.D. 1635; see Taḍkira i 'Ulamâ' i Hind, p. 216). He further tells us that, in A.H. 1050, he and a certain 'Alî Maḡḡhadî jointly studied 16 Bâb of the work under the above-mentioned Maqbâl 'Âlam, and the rest of the work under Jalâl. Those portions of the note, which contain the above information, run thus :—

سمعت هذا الكتاب بقرأة سيدي و سدي و والهي و استاني

A second note, written by the same Ja'far bin Jalāl, tells us that he studied the work once more in A.H. 1055, with a group of scholars and Sūfis, under his father, thus:—

سمعت أيضا عند قراءة أكثر العلماء و الصلحاء على سيدي دام جلاله
وكان ذلك في سنة خمس و خمسين و الف اللهم صل على محمد
و آله و سلم *

In a third autograph note, he tells us that one 'Abdal Ḡafūr and his brother jointly studied the work under him, thus:—

سمع هذا الكتاب مني بقراءة اخيه الكبير ... عبد الغفور ... كتبه جعفر
بن جلال الدين مقصود عالم *

The present valuable MS. was purchased in A.D. 1915 by Mr. Abu'l Ḥasan Khān, the late librarian, and brother of the founder.

The Library possesses two other MSS., viz. Persian Hand-list, No. 1776/11 and Arabic Hand-list, No. 2410, which were for some time in the possession of Sūfi Ja'far mentioned above, whose seal dated A.H. 1057 on both the MSS., runs thus:—

مالكه كليب عتبة الشاهية مملوك اهل البيت النبوي جعفر بن
جلال مقصود عالم الشاهي الرضوي سنة ١٠٥٧ *

Foll. 280-83. Wasāyah Shaikh Zaynaddin Abū Bakr al Khawāfi. These folios, which do not form part of the original work, consist of a short treatise containing instructions for Sūfis, by Zainaddin Abū Bakr al Khawāfi. He died in A.H. 838=A.D. 1435. See, for his life, Mujmal Faṣiḥi, fol. 264; Nafahāt, p. 569.

Another copy of the preceding work, beginning like the above. Written in Naskh. Dated A.H. 920.

Scribe: عماد بن جمال كانوري.

Five foll. at the beginning consist of an index of the contents, written in Nasta'liq by Fath Muhammad Šiddiqi in A.H. 1124.

The last fol. contains a collection of some of the sayings of 'Ali, the fourth Caliph, which begins thus:—

foll. 242; lines 21; size $9\frac{1}{2} \times 6$; $6 \times 3\frac{1}{2}$.

Another copy of the preceding work, beginning like No. 861 above. Foll. 1-11 are written in beautiful Naskh, and the rest of the MS. in fair Naskh in a later hand, dated A.H. 1099; which suggests that the scribe, having somehow obtained possession of the copy of the first eleven folios, transcribed the remaining portion from some other copy.

ذَوَارِفُ الطَّائِفِ

DAWÂRIF AL LATÂ'IF.

A rare and useful commentary on the preceding work, composed in A.H. 818, as appears from the following colophon:—

هذا آخر كتاب ذوارف الطائف في شرح عوارف المعارف قد نوغ
منه مصنف سنة ثمان مائة و عشرو ثمان مائة *

Difficult mystical theories are explained; and the commentator is at special pains to deal with criticisms which have been made on account of certain apparent discrepancies in the theories contained in the work. Occasionally, the commentator explains the philology of difficult words.

The present commentary is not mentioned in Brockelmann, nor does the commentator's name appear anywhere in the MS.; but a commentary on 'Awârif by 'Ali Mahâ'imi (who died in A.H. 835), with the title Dawārif al Lata'if, is mentioned in Subḥat al Marjān, fol. 89; and we may assume that this is the work in question. The full name of the commentator runs thus: 'Alī bin Aḥmad bin 'Alī bin Aḥmad al Mahā'imi علي بن احمد بن علي بن احمد الماهمي. He was a scholar and Sūfi of the Wujūdīyah group (see No. 865 below), and belonged to the Nā'iti tribe of Kukan (in Gujarāt). This tribe consisted of the descendants of certain Quraishi Arabs, who, suffering persecution at the hands of Ḥajjāj bin Yūsūf Aḡ Ṣaqafi (d. A.H. 95=A.D. 714), Governor of Arabia in the reign of 'Abdal Malik bin Marwān (A.H. 65-86=A.D. 685-705), left Medina, and came and settled in Kukan. The commentator's merit in Ḥadiṣ, Tafsīr, theology, theosophy and philology, is evident from his compositions on these subjects. Besides the present commentary, and a Tafsīr mentioned in Brook., vol. ii, p. 221, the following works of our author are known to us: (i) Adillat at Tawḥid, a work on theology; (ii) Commentary on Nuṣūṣ, see No. 892 below; (iii) Risālat u fi Wujūh al I'rāb, in which, according to the statement in the preface as quoted in Subḥat al Marjān, fol. 89, he analyses 12, 83, 44, 524 different grammatical forms relating to I'rāb (vowel and diacritical points), as contained in the following single verse (the opening lines) of the Qur'ān: الم ذلك الكتاب لا ريب فيه هدى للمتقين. The last-mentioned work is specially quoted by his biographers as evidence of his masterly knowledge of philology. He died in A.H. 835=A.D. 1432; see Taḍkira i 'Ulamā' i Hind, p. 147; Ḥadā'iq al Ḥanafīyah, p. 371; Subḥat al Marjān, fol. 80. Brook., vol. ii, p. 221, does not mention the exact date of the author's death.

IRSHĀD AL MURĪDĪN.

A rare and useful manual of Sūfism, containing a brief explanation of the important principles and technical terms. It was composed at the request of the author's friends, and is divided into the following 47 short Bāb and a Faṣl, with which the work ends:

- باب الخوف (8). باب الصمت (7). باب التقوى (6). باب العزلة و الخلوة (5)

A note on the title page, which runs thus: ارشاد المريدین من تصنيف قطب العاملين و غوث الواملين شيخ الشيوخ شهاب الملة والدين سهروردي tells us that the present work is Irshād al Murīdīn by Shihābaddīn as Suhrawardī; see No. 860 above. Brock., vol. i, p. 440, does not mention the present work in the list of compositions of Shihābaddīn; and a work with the same title by Ibn Jawzī (d. A.H. 597 = A.D. 1200; see Lib. Cat., vol. x, p. 24) is mentioned in Hāj. Khāl., vol. ii, p. 25. A work bearing the present title by Shihābaddīn as Suhrawardī is mentioned in Rampūr Hand-list, No. 51, however; and the following passage, which is quoted by the author of MS. No. 936 below as the words of Shihābaddīn, agrees verbatim with a passage on fol. 15^b of the present work.

و قال الشيخ شهاب الدين قدس سره التوكل ان يكل امرؤ امره الى الله تعالى و يرضى بما يجري عليه من قضاء الله تعالى و قدره و التوكل

From this we may safely conclude that the statement contained in the note, as well as in the Râmpûr Hand-list, regarding the author of the work, is correct.

Beginning:—

In the first Bâb, the author tells us that while there are various orders of Sûfism, differing from each other in their special practices and mysteries, yet the common end of all is to obtain mystical knowledge of God:—

طرق المشائخ مختلفة لى مقاماتهم و احوالهم مختلفة و كل شيخ وضع
طريقة على ما هو عليه من الحال و المقام و اما الحقيقة فهو الحصول

الفتوحات المكية

AL FUTŪḤĀT AL MAKKĪYAH.

A big work on Sûfism and asceticism, divided into 560 Bâb, the last Bâb containing a collection of mystical and moral instructions in the form of a testament to novices. Composed in Mecca, A.H. 629. Each Bâb is subdivided into several Faṣl. The author, during the compilation of the present work, composed several other treatises; for one of which, see No. 956/1 below. According to the author's statement in the preface, the contents of the present work were communicated to the author by divine revelation at the time of طواف (circuit round Ka'ba). The present work is famous for its exposition of a number of mystical theories, and especially the theory of وحدة الوجود (pantheism); i.e., everything is God, or a manifestation of Him. This theory is the subject of great controversy among Muhammadans; and at the same time is the origin of the division of the Sūfis into two groups, viz., the Wajudiyah (Noumenalists) who support the theory, and the Shahūdiyyah (Phenomenalists) who reject it. Orthodox Muhammadans and Sūfis of the Shahūdiyyah group hold it to be invalid under Islamic principles. The subject is fully discussed in Al 'Urwah, see No. 905 below. The contents of the present work are fully described in Berlin, No. 2856. This copy of the work is divided into four volumes, of which we have here the first, containing 71 Bāb.

Author: Muhiyaddīn Muhammad bin 'Alī, معي الدين محمد بن علي, commonly called ابن العربي (Ibn al 'Arabī). He died in A.H. 638=A.D. 1240; see Lib. Cat., vol. v, part ii, No. 293. That he was an author of exceptional merit, is evident from the fact that he composed more than 500 works (see Lib. Cat., vol. v, loc. cit.) and never made a first draft of any of his compositions, as appears from the following colophon of the author, found at the end of the fourth volume of the present work:—

The name of the scribe is not mentioned in the earlier volumes; but the size and handwriting being identical, we may assume that all were written by the same scribe, Yaḥyâ bin Qâsim.

The following note, the handwriting of which is identical with that of the MS., tells us that this copy in four volumes was in the possession of one 'Alâaddîn Beg, a noble of the Court of Sulṭân Murâd III (A.H. 989-1003=A.D. 1574-1595), a king of the Ottoman dynasty:—

We find on the title-page of all the volumes the seal, dated A.H. 1013, of Ḥusain ar Rûmî, a well-known scholar and Amîr al Umarâ', who died in A.H. 1023=A.D. 1614; see Khulâsat al Aṣar, vol. ii, p. 89. Accompanying the seals in all the volumes, is the following autograph note, which indicates that the MS. was for some time in his possession:—

فصوص الحكم

FUṢṢ AL ḤIKAM.

A work on Ṣūfism, containing a collection of maxims and aphorisms. According to the author's statement in the preface, the contents of the work were revealed to the author by the Prophet in a dream, in Damascus, A.H. 627; but the actual composition of the work must be later than A.H. 629, since the author refers on fol. 24^b to his own composition, Al Fatûḥât (see No. 865 above), which was composed in A.H. 629, thus:—

و تدبينا هذا في الفترحات المكية *

A large number of scholars and Šūfis devoted themselves to a study of the present work, and composed commentaries on it, both in the Arabic and Persian languages. The work is divided into 27 Faṣṣ, which are fully described in Berlin, No. 2876.

Author: Muḥiaddin Muḥammad bin 'Alī Ibn al-'Arabī معي الدين محمد بن علي ابن العربي (d. A.H. 638=A.D. 1240); see No. 865 above.

فكوك الفصوص

FUKÛK AL FUŞÛŞ.

A commentary on Fuṣûṣ (No. 870 above), in which the commentator confines himself to an explanation of difficult mystical theories and phrases contained in each Faṣṣ of the Fuṣûṣ, composed at the request of Mu'ayyad bin Maḥmūd bin Ṣa'īd al Jandī (see No. 874 below), a disciple of the commentator.

By Ṣadraddīn Abu'l Ma'ālī Muḥammad bin Ishāq bin Muḥammad al Qūnawī صدر الدين ابو المعالي محمد بن اسحاق بن محمد القوني. The commentator was born in Qūniyab, A.H. 587. He studied in his native place and elsewhere under distinguished scholars of his age; and after completing his literary studies, placed himself for spiritual training under his step-father, Shāikh Muḥiaddin Al 'Arabi, the author of the text. By virtue of his devotion to mystical learning, he won for himself special recognition among the disciples of the Shāikh. He is equally famous as a Sūfi and a scholar; and as testimony to his scholarly attainments, his biographers mention his success in a disputation on certain metaphysical points with a well-known philosopher of his day, Tūsī (d. A.H. 672=A.D. 1273; see Lib. Cat., vol. x, No. 593). The subject of the dispute is described in MS. No. 2740/1 of the Arabic Hand-list, and in the treatises mentioned in Būhār Lib. Cat., vol. ii, 400/2, 3, 4. Qunawī was the author of a number of works, 17 works in all being enumerated in Brook., vol. ii, p. 449. Jāmi, the author of Nafahat, p. 645, omits to note the date of his death; and in Berlin, No. 2878, this is given as A.H. 673. The correct date, however, is A.H. 672=A.D. 1273, as given in the following works: Brook., loc. cit.; Al Lawāiqih, fol. 209; Ḥabib as Siyar, vol. ii, part i, p. 66; Tāj al Taḥqāt, vol. vii, part ii, fol. 589 (where mention is made of Tāj al 'Alawī, an independent and detailed biography of Qūnawī).

شرح فصوص الحكم

SHARḤ U FUṢUṢ AL ḤIKAM.

A very useful detailed commentary on Fuṣūṣ (No. 870 above), composed under the direction of Qūnawī (see No. 873 above), one of the Shāikhs of the commentator.

The preface is followed by a Qaṣīdā of 142 verses, specially composed by the commentator to give the reader a concise preliminary account of mystical theories. This Qaṣīdā is entitled Qaṣīdat u Dāliyah in our copy; but in Brock., vol. i, p. 451, and Berlin, No. 2880, it is entitled Qaṣīdat u Gaibiyah.

The commentator deals very fully, in fol. 8^v-58, with the preface of the text, examining thoroughly, from the mystical and theological standpoints, the theories which are referred to in the said preface, and certain other important theories.

This portion of the commentary was composed during the lifetime of Qūnawī; who, we are told by the commentator, fully approved of the same. The rest of the commentary was composed after Qūnawī's death.

The preface of the commentary begins thus:—

حمد الصمد احق مقاصد الحق و احمدها في مجاميع الصديق
اما بعد فان كتاب فصوص الحكم في خصوص الكلم من منشآت هذا
الكامل الضامن مغضربني طي الخ *

The Qaṣīdā begins thus:—

مرؤيد لاتقنع بمشهود شاهد ففي غيبه اتقى مقاصد قاصد

The last verse of the Qaṣīdā runs as follows:—

فكمدا له بدوا دعودا و عائد اليه جميع الحمد من كل حامد

The commentary on the preface of the text begins on fol. 8^b, thus:—

قال الشيخ رحمه الله الحمد لله منزل الحكم قال العبد في
خطبة الكتاب ستة عشر كلمة تعتنى على مثلها مباحث *

The commentary on the first Faṣṣ begins on fol. 59^a, thus :—

قال رضي الله عنه - فص حكمة الهية في كلمة ادمية قد
سبق الكلام في الفص و الحكمة •

The text is generally prefaced by the words قال الشيخ (the Shaikh said), and the commentary by the words قال العبد (the servant said).

Commentator : Muaiyad bin Maḥmūd bin Ṣā'id bin Muḥammad Aṣ Ṣūfi al Ḥātīmī al Jandī المعروف بمحمد بن ماعد بن محمد الصوفي الجاني مؤيد بن محمد بن ماعد بن ماعد بن محمد الصوفي الجاني, a famous Ṣūfi and scholar of the 7th century A.H. He was one of the favourite disciples of Qūnawī (see No. 873 above), to whom he refers in his preface as follows :—

و لقد كان سيدي و سئلني و قدوتي الى الله تعالى محمد بن
اسحق بن محمد بن يوسف القنوي ثم اشار الى شرحه •

He died in A.H. 690=A.D. 1291; see Brock., vol. i, p. 451. Another commentary written by the present author, on Mawāqī' an Nujūm, a mystical work of Muḥiaddin al ' Arabī (see No. 865 above), is mentioned in Nafahāt, p. 648.

For other copies of the present work see Berlin, No. 2880; Āṣafiyaḥ, No. 36; Rāmpūr, No. 188, where an old copy dated A.H. 911 is noticed.

Written in fair Naṣṣh. Not dated; apparently, 12th century A.H.

The MS. was for some time in the possession of one Ḥifāẓat Ḥusain, whose note to this effect is found on the title-page as well as at the end.

No. 875.

fol. 294; lines 21; size 9½ × 5 : 7 × 3½.

شرح قصص الحكم

SHARḤU FUṢŪṢ AL ḤIKAM.

A commentary on Fuṣūṣ (No. 870 above), composed at the request of one Muḥammad bin Muṣliḥ, a friend of the commentator. The present commentary is noted for its very simple style of writing. Passages of the text, which is quoted verbatim, are prefaced by the letter م. and the commentary on the same by the letter ش.

By Kamāluddin 'Abdarrazzāq Al Kāshānī عبد الرزاق كمال الدين الكاشاني, a Ṣūfi of great repute, who is equally well known for his literary merits. He was the author of a number of works on different branches of Islamic literature, 12 works in all being enumerated in Brock., vol. ii, p. 204. He belonged to the Wajūdiyyah group of Sūfis (for whom see No. 865 above). His disputation with 'Alāaddīn as Samnānī (see No. 992 below), in support of the special theory of the Sūfis of the Wajūdiyyah group, is fully described in Nafahāt, pp. 557-68. He is the best known among the disciples of 'Abdassamad an Naṭanẓi, who awarded him a Khirqā (garment), and personally invested him with the same.

With regard to the date of our author's death, this is omitted in the biographical notice contained in Nafahāt, loc. cit.; but Hāj. Kḥal., vol. iv, p. 427, gives A.H. 730 as the date, unsupported by any authority for his statement, and this is accepted as correct in all catalogues in which any work of the author is noticed; see Brock., vol. ii, p. 204, where the names of these catalogues are given. But in Mujmal Fasihi, a rare and reliable work on General History, in Persian (see Lib. Cat., vol. vi, No. 455), the author of which belongs to the 9th century A.H., we have discovered evidence which leads us to reject the generally accepted date, and enables us to state for the first time the correct date of our author's death. On fol. 209 of this work, we are told that 'Abdarrazzāq completed one of his compositions, viz., a commentary on Manazil as Sā'irīn (see No. 832 above), a copy of which commentary is noticed in India Office, No. 600, in A.H. 731, i.e., a year later than the generally accepted date of his death. This passage in Mujmal Fasihi runs as follows:—

سنة احدى و ثلاثين و سبعمائة اتمام شرح منازل السائرین
خواجه عبد الله تصنيف شيخ كمال الدين عبد الرزاق الكاشاني في يوم
الاثنين رجب الامم *

Again, on fol. 211^b of the same work, a brief account is given of our author; and the date of his death is given as A.H. 736=A.D. 1337. This passage runs as follows:—

سنة ست و ثلاثين و سبعمائة وفات شيخ كمال الدين عبد
الرزاق الكاشاني في ثالث محرم صاحب شرح فصوص و شرح منازل
السائرین خواجه عيد الله الانصاري و دفن هناك في الخانقاه الزينبي

عبد الصمد الامفهباني النطنزي و هو لبسها من يد الشيخ نجيب الدين على

نقش الفصوص

NAQSH AL FUṢṢ.

An abridgment by the author himself, Muḥiaddin al 'Arabi, of Fuṣṣ (No. 870 above). Some one, in the following note on the title-page, says that Abu'l Maḥasin Ad Dihlawi (d. A.H. 795=A.D. 1396) composed a commentary on the present abridgment in six Kirāsa, each Kirāsa being equal to ten foll.:—

وهو مختصر الفصوص وقد شرحه الإمام العلامة المحقق المدقق

A copy of this commentary, which is in Arabic, is noticed in Asafiyah Library, No. 211. Jāmi (see No. 879 above) composed a Persian commentary on this abridgment; for copies of which see India Office, No. 653, and this Library's Persian Hand-list, No. 1373.

انفاس الخواص

ANFÂŞ AL KHAWÂŞŞ.

A commentary on the commentator's own abridgment of Fuṣūṣ (No. 870 above). The commentator tells us in the preface that, after composing the abridgment, he felt the need of a commentary on the same. Though technically a commentary on the abridgment, it is almost as detailed as a commentary on the original work. It is divided into 81 Nafs.

By Muḥibballāh al Allāhābādī معجب الله الله أبدي, a famous scholar and also well known as a Ṣūfī, a supporter of the Wujūdīyah group (see No. 865 above). He was a native of Saidpūr in Awadh, but settled permanently in Allāhābād. According to his own statement in the preface, he was a disciple of Abū Sa'īd, the great-grandson of 'Abdal Quddūs of Ganguh (d. A.H. 945=A.D. 1538). Besides the present work, he is the author of the following eleven works, which are enumerated in Taḥkīr-i 'Ulamā-i Hind, p. 175: (i) شرح (ii) فصوص الحكم فارسي (iii) رساله هفت احكام (iv) غايه الغايات (v) مفايط عامه (vi) طرق الخواص (vii) مباداة اخى الخواص (viii) مناظر اخى الخواص (ix) رساله تسويه (x) رساله وجود مطلق (xi) رساله سه ركني.

شرح اسرار الخلوة

SHARḤ U ASRĀR AL KHALWAH.

A very useful commentary on the preceding treatise by Muḥiaddin Ibn al 'Arabi, adding certain important information relating to the subject-matter of the text.

By Qutbaddin 'Abdalkarim bin Ibrāhīm bin Sibṭ u 'Abdalqādir nī Jili قطب الدين عبد الكريم بن ابراهيم سبط عبد القادر الجيلاني, a famous Sūfi and scholar of the 9th century A.H., who is also known to us as the author of commentaries on some other works of Muḥiaddin Ibn al 'Arabi. In all, 17 works of the present commentator are enumerated in Brock., vol. ii, p. 205, of which Al Insān al Kāmil, a work on Sūfism (for a copy of which see Berlin, No. 2314), has received special recognition. He was born in A.H. 787; but the date of his death is uncertain. He is said to have been alive in A.H. 805 (see Cairo, vol. ii, p. 68); in A.H. 820 (see Berlin, No. 2874); in A.H. 826 (see Brock., loc. cit.). In India Office, No. 693, we are told that he died in A.H. 811; but no authority is cited in support of this statement. The present commentary is not found in the list of the author's compositions given by Brock., loc. cit. The following note on the title-page, however, written in a different hand from the MS. tells us that the commentary is by 'Abdalkarīm al Jīlī:—

الجزء الأول من شرح أسرار الخلوة للشينع عبد الكريم الجيللي *

This statement is corroborated in the following colophon of the scribe, who says that the present commentary is by the author of Al Insân al Kâmil, which is undoubtedly a composition of 'Abdalkarīm al Jīlī:—

تمت تمام شد الرسالة المسماة بأسرار الخلوة للشينع محيي الدين
العربي مع شرحه لمؤلف الإنسان الكامل *

In the absence of any strong evidence to the contrary, we may accept the above statements.

No other copy of the present work is known to us.

Written in fair Naskh. Not dated; apparently, 11th century A.H.

One 'Abdalqâdir, in the following note on the title-page, says that the MS. was for some time in his possession:—

من مواهب الجليل القادر على عبدة الحقير القاصر عبد القادر عفي الله عنه *

No. 886.

امطلاحات الصوفية

İŞTİLAḤÂT AŞ ŞŪFİYAH.

A treatise, in which are explained important technical terms relating to Sūfism, contained in the author's own works, and certain mystical terms found in the works of others.

The title found on the title-page of the present copy of the work is that given above; but the same work is noticed in Râmpûr, No. 295, under the title Kitābu Sharḥ i Alfāz Aṣ Ṣūfiyah. Again, in India Office, No. 657/5, the title of the work is given as Risālatu Sharḥ-i Alfāz al Latī Tadāwalathu Aṣ Ṣūfiyah.

The author of Faṣl al Khatāb, a most reliable work on Ṣūfism, fol. 178^b quotes the following passage from the present work (cf. fol. 5^b); but is not aware of who the author was.

كتاب روح القدس

KITĀB U RUḤ AL QUDṢ.

A work containing mystical and moral instruction, composed for Abū Muḥammad bin 'Abdal'aziz al Qurashī, who at that time was residing in Africa, in Tunis. The author maintains, in the beginning of the work, that according to the true principles of Ṣūfism, no Ṣūfī is entitled to be called Ahl al Ḥaqīqat (i.e., one who has penetrated into the Divine mysteries) unless he is also Ahl at Ṭarīqah (i.e., a devotee); and he goes on to criticise those Ṣūfīs of Africa, who claim that they are Ahl al Ḥaqīqat, though not Ahl at Ṭarīqat. Ṣūfīs, who have adopted Ṣūfism from worldly motives, are also severely criticised by the author, thus :—

وصوفية صاف هم باغراض الدنيا موشغون حافظوا السجادات
والمرقعات ولازموا الخرائق والرباطات يأتي اليها من حلال و حرام *

النفاحات الالهية

AN NAFĤĤĀT AL ILĀHĪYAH.

A work on Sūfism, in which the author describes his own experience of the Divine inspiration in the course of his progress to the mystical stage called مقام القرب (union with God). The author, in his preface, tells us that the following Ḥadīṣ encouraged him in his attempt to reach the stage mentioned above, and to realise the experience described in the present work:—

ان لربكم في ايام دهركم نفحات من رحمته الافتعروضوا لها *

Author: Šadraddīn Abū'l Ma'ālī Muḥammad bin Ishāq al Qūnawī (d. A.H. 672=A.D. 1273; see No. 873 above).

AL KHUṢṢ ILĀ MA'NA AN NUṢṢ.

A commentary on Nuṣṣ, a concise treatise of Qūnawī (d. A.H. 672=A.D. 1273; see No. 873 above) on the mystical states. For a copy of Nuṣṣ see Berlin, No. 3015.

علي بن أحمد بن 'Alī bin Aḥmad bin 'Alī bin Aḥmad Al Mahā'imī (d. A.H. 835=A.D. 1431; see No. 863 above).

The commentary is preceded by a long Muqaddimah (fol. 1-52), explaining those mystical terms and theories, a correct understanding of which the commentator considered essential for readers of the present work.

Beginning:—

سبحانك اللهم و بعمدك يا من بوجردة سموات اقسامه و الصفات

رياض الصالحين RIYĀḌ AṢ ṢĀLIḤĪN.

An old and valuable copy of Riyāḍ Aṣ Ṣāliḥīn, a work containing mystical, moral and religious instruction, transcribed five years after the author's death, and studied under one of the author's pupils.

Author: Muḥiaddin Abū Zakariyah Yahyā bin Sharaf An Nawawī (d. A.H. 676=A.D. 1278; see Lib. Cat., vol. v, part i, No. 192).

Beginning :—

الحمد لله الواحد القهار مكر الليل على النهار فرأيت

In the following colophon of the scribe, it is stated that the work was composed in A.H. 670, and that the present copy of it was made in A.H. 681 :—

آخر الكتاب قال مؤلفه رضي الله عنه فرغت منه يوم الاثنين رابع شهر
رمضان سنة سبعين و ستمائة وافق الغراع من كتابته يوم السبت الخامس

Written in bold Naskh. Dated A.H. 681.

The above-mentioned colophon is followed by a Sanad, which runs thus :—

قرأت جميع هذا الكتاب رياض الصالحين للشيخ الامام العلامة فريد دهره
..... ابي زكريا يحيى النوري على الشيخ الامام علي بن ... ابراهيم
بن جمال الدين داود ابن العطار الشافعي بسماعه من مؤلفه شرف

بدار الحديث النورية و لجاز الشيخ فسخ الله تعالى في مدته ...
لمن سمعه بكماله جميع ما يجوز له روايته بشرطه عند اهله و كتب احمد
بن حسين بن عبد الرحمن *

The above Sanad, which is dated A.H. 705 and written by one Ahmad bin Husain, states that he and some others studied the work from the present copy in Dār al Ḥadīṡ Nūriyah, at Damascus, under Ibn al 'Attār (d. A.H. 724=A.D. 1324; see Ad Durar, vol. ii, fol. 3^b), a pupil of the author. The Sanad is attested by Ibn al 'Attār, thus:—

صم السماع و الجازة المذكوران.....كتبه ابن العطار عفي الله عنه *

Aḥmad bin Ḥusain is clearly the scribe of the MS., since the handwriting is identical with that of the Sanad. The following note, on the title-page, tells us that the present MS. fell into the possession of one 'Abdal'aziz, in Mecca, A.H. 1288:—

من فضل الله ... على عبده الفقير عبد العزيز عفا الله عنه

..... ١٣ شوال سنة ١٢٨٨ مكة المشرفة *

The handwriting of this note is identical with the handwriting of the note by 'Abdal'aziz Bihārī, described in Lib. Cat., vol. v. part ii, No. 319; hence we may safely conclude that the present MS. was brought from Mecca to Bihār by 'Abdal'aziz Bihārī.

حل الرموز ومفاتيح الكنوز

HALL U AR RUMŪZ WA MAFĀTĪḤ AL
KUNŪZ.

A work on Sūfism, dealing with mystical principles and explaining difficult aphorisms and technical terms. The work is chiefly based on the Qur'ān, Ḥadīḡ and sayings of the Sūfis. We may note that the author, basing his opinion on certain reliable Ḥadīḡ, enunciates an original and independent view on the subject of عنا (music), a point much disputed between the Sūfis and orthodox Muhammadans. He holds it to be valid, in general; see the following passage on fol. 49^b:—

فهذه الأحاديث نص صريح في الصحيح على أن الغناء واللعب

ليس بحرام *

The contents of the work are fully described in Berlin, No. 3010.

Author: 'Izzaddin 'Abdassalām bin Aḥmad bin Ġānim al Maqdisī عزالدين عبد السلام بن احمد بن غانم المقدسي, a famous Sūfi of the 7th century A.H. منتهى المدارك

MANTAHA AL MADÂRIK.

A very rare work, expounding the various mystical states such as the worldly state of the present world, the state proper to the world of angels, the state in which the mystic exercises miraculous powers, the state of absorption into the Godhead, and others. In the beginning of the work, the author discusses, both from the mystical and theological standpoints, the attributes of God and man. The work is an Arabic translation with certain additions, of the author's introduction to his Persian commentary on the Qasidah Tâ'iyyah of Ibn Fâriḍ (d. A.H. 632=A.D. 1235). Jâmi, in Nafahât, p. 650, remarks that though the present work is technically a translation, it may also be regarded as an independent work on the subject, well-known for its excellent representation of mystical views. The work is divided into the following four Asl, each of which is subdivided into several Fasl:—

- I. foll. 2^a–10. الأصل الأول في ذكر ترتيب الذات وتعظيم الأسماء و الصفات *
- II. foll. 17^a–19. الأصل الثاني في ذكر مرتبة الأرواح وعالم الملكوت *
- III. foll. 20–26. الأصل الثالث في ذكر تعظيم عالم المثال ومرتبة
الاجسام *
- IV. foll. 27–40. الأصل الرابع في ذكر نشأة الإنسان واطواره
و احواله *

Author: Sa'id bin Muḥammad bin Aḥmad al Fargānī سعيد بن محمد بن أحمد الفرجاني, commonly known as سعد الدين (Sa'daddīn). The biographers say that he was the author of a large number of works; but only the present work and one other are enumerated in Nafahât. Our author received spiritual training under many Sūfis; but he is always known as the disciple of Qūnawī (d. A.H. 673=A.D. 1373; see No. 873 above). The date of his death is not given in Nafahât; but Brock., vol. i, p. 450, says that he died in A.H. 699=A.D. 1299.

Beginning:—

الحمد لله القديم تعزز بجلال وحدانيته و لما من الله تعالى

No other copy of the work is known to us.

Written in fair Naskh. From the handwriting, which is identical with that of Sharḥ al Fuṣūṣ (No. 873 above), it appears that Nūraddin is also the scribe of the present MS.

fol. 159; lines 21; size 9×5; 7×3½.

وقاية السالك من الآفات والمهاك

WIQĀYAT AS SĀLIK MIN AL ĀFĀT WA AL MAHĀLIK.

A work on Sūfism and asceticism, of which this appears to be the unique copy. The work contains warnings designed to save travellers on the path of mysticism from the machinations of the Nafs Ammāra (soul of man prone to evil), which may ensnare them in unlawful deeds or false theories; and expounds the hidden philosophical and mystical truths, which are to be found in the principles and duties of the life of the mystic. The work is chiefly based on the Qur'ān, Hadīṡ and sayings of the Sūfis, and is divided into the following four Naw and a Khātimah:—

- I. fol. 7-20. النوع الأول من التقسيم في المعاصي *
- II. fol. 21-58^a. النوع الثاني من التقسيم في الطاعات *
- III. fol. 58^b-92. النوع الثالث من التقسيم في الأخلاق المضمومة *
- IV. fol. 93-148. النوع الرابع من التقسيم في الأخلاق المحمودة *

Fol. 149-154. Khātimah (epilogue).

The Khātimah deals with عزلة (retirement from the world), and rules of discipline (آداب) to be observed by the novices.

A note written by the scribe on the title-page, which runs thus: وقاية السالك من الآفات والمهاك لشيخ الإمام حجة الإسلام أبي حامد محمد بن محمد الغزالي نفع الله به المؤمنين tells us that the present work is by Gazzālī (d. A.H. 505=A.D. 1111; see No. 833 above); but this statement is manifestly incorrect, seeing that an author much later than Gazzālī, viz., Shihābaddin as Suhrawardī, who died in A.H. 632=A.D. 1234, is quoted on fol. 20^b, in the following passage from 'Awārif al Ma'ārif (see No. 860 above):—

ذكر صاحب العوارف لطيفة في جنس ما يدخل البطن وما يحدث من الداء وأزالته باستعمال الدواء قال رحمه الله إن الله تالطف حكمته به *

The author refers on fol. 50^b to another composition of his, Iqtibās al Fawā'id, in the following terms:—

• وقد اتينا من ذلك..... في اول كتابنا المسمى باقتباس الفوائد

Neither this work nor the present one is mentioned in any, catalogue, however, and we are unable to throw light on their authorship; but from the fact that, in the passage quoted above, the author of 'Awārif is referred to as رحمه الله, a term which is always used for the dead, and that there is no reference to any author of the 8th century A.H., we may conclude that our author belongs to the 7th century A.H.

Beginning:—

الحمد لله الذي زرع حب الاجتهاد و الهداية في قلوب الاختصاص...
و الصلوة و السلام على رسوله و نبيه محمد بن الذي سادة غيرة من الانبياء

He is the author of a number of works on different subjects, of which fifteen (including the present work) are enumerated in Brock., vol. ii, p. 118. العروة لاهل الخلوة

AL 'URWAH LI AHL AL KHALWAH.

A rare work on Sūfism, expounding the mystical dogmas relating to the existence of God and His attributes. The views of the theologians, and of the Sūfis of the Wujûdiyyah and the Shuhûdiyyah groups (for whom, see No. 865 above), are fully discussed. The author, who belonged to the latter group, reject^s the views of the Wujūdīyah group as contrary to Islamic principles; and claims that the views of the Shuhūdīyah group are in full agreement with those of the Ahl as Sunnah Wa Al Jamā'ah (اهل السنة والجماعة), the most popular and widely accepted school of Islamic doctrine. Our author refers to this school as الصراط المستقيم, or the right path. The author's criticisms, in the present work, of the views of the Wujūdīyah group resulted in a public disputation between him and 'Abdarrazzāq al Kāshānī (see No. 875 above), a member of the Wujūdīyah group; for a full description of which, see Nafahāt, pp. 558-571.

The present work, which is based mainly on notes made by the author on different occasions, was composed in A.H. 726; and is generally held to be the most authoritative exposition of the views of the Shuhūdīyah group.

It is divided into the following six Bāb :—

- (i) foll. 1-15^a. * الباب الاول في اثبات وجود الموجد الواجب وجوده *
- (ii) foll. 15^b-62. * الباب الثاني في التوفيق بين الاقوال المختلفة *
- (iii) foll. 63^a-82^a. * الباب الثالث في تقسيم الاشياء من حيث العصر
والاضافة وكيفية ظهور الممكنات على الترتيب مفردا ومولفا *
- (iv) foll. 82^b-86. * الباب الرابع في تزييه الحق الواجب وجوده من جميع
ما يختص به الامكان *
- (v) foll. 87-93^a. * الباب الخامس في النبوات والولايات *
- (vi) foll. 93^b-133. * الباب السادس في بيان الصراط المستقيم *

The last Bāb is subdivided into four Faṣl, which contain occasional biographical details; and in the first of which the author describes the Divine inspiration, which led him to be a Ṣūfī and a strict follower of the doctrines of the Ahl as Sunnah. The manner in which he reconciles the views of the Ṣūfis and the theologians in regard to disputed points of doctrine, in the second Bāb of his work, is specially noted by his biographers as evidence of the author's merits.

Author: Aḥmad bin Muḥammad bin Aḥmad As Samnānī احمد بن محمد بن احمد السمناني, commonly called Abu'l Makārim 'Alā'addawlah علاء الدولة المكارم, a noble of Samnān, well known as a Ṣūfī, and an author of great repute, whose works on the Qur'ānic branches, Sūfism, theology and ethics, number about 300. See Ad Durar al Kāminah, vol. i, fol. 152. Very few of his compositions, however, can now be traced; and Brook., vol. ii, p. 166, mentions only three (including the present one), which are to be found in different libraries. He was born in Samnān, A.H. 659; and completed his studies at the age of 15, when he entered the service of Sultān Arḡu Khān, a famous Mongol king of Persia. A few years later, he was granted the title of 'Alā'addawlah; and afterwards he became personal adviser to the Sultān. His intimacy with the Sultān and his official duties seriously interfered, not only with his studies, but also with his prayers. Indeed, according to the author's own confession, excepting the تلايل اربعة (the four very short Sūras of the Qur'ān, beginning with word Qul) and a few others, he forgot the whole of the rest of the Qur'ān. The author tells us in the following passage of the present work that, in A.H. 683, while engaged with the Sultān in a war against his uncle, Sultān Ahmad (see Tārīkh Guzida, p. 583), he was led by a Divine inspiration to devote himself to a religious and pious life:—

فجزني زاجر الحق في صف القتال في الواقعة التي وقعت بيده
و بين عسكر عمه سلطان احمد بغت قرزين سنة ثلاث و ثمانين و ستمائة
في اثناء اشتغالي بالتكبير عند الكبة و الحملة على العدو فرفعت الحجب
من قوة الزاجر بكيت شاهدت الاخرة و ما فيها على نحو ما نطق به الكتاب و السنة *

After this, he attended strictly to his religious duties. In A.H. 685, he fell seriously ill, and was advised by the Royal Physicians to go for a change to Samnān. This the Sultān allowed him to do. On his way to Samnān, he experienced a marked improvement in his health; and on his arrival there, his health was fully restored. This he took to be an indication that it was God's will that he should leave the service of the Sultān; and he accordingly sent in his resignation.

He then began to devote himself to the study of religious works; and his study of Qūt al Qulūb, a famous work on Sūfism (see No. 826 above), turned his attention to Sūfism, and made him determine to renounce the world. After dividing two-thirds of his property among his legal heirs, he built a monastery near the tomb of Ḥasan Sakkāki, a famous Sūfi of the 5th century A.H., and handsomely endowed the same. In A.H. 687, he visited Bagdād, where he adopted the Ṣūfī 'Abdarrahmān as his spiritual Shāikh; and in the company of the latter visited Mecca, where our author, in A.H. 689, received from the above-mentioned Shāikh the Sanad for Ṣūfism. At the end of the same year, he was directed by his Shāikh to return to Samnān, where he passed the remainder of his life in imparting spiritual training and in composing works. The author tells us that he performed not less than 143 Arba'ūn, each being a fast of 40 days. Such was his eminence as a Ṣūfī that he was adopted as guide, both in practice and doctrine, by Bahā'addīn Naqshband, the founder of the Naqshbandīyah order. The commonly accepted date of our author's death is A.H. 736=A.D. 1335; but the author of Faṣl al Khitāb (see Persian Hand-list, No. 1351) only tells us that he died after A.H. 730. For his life see Ad Durar al Kāminah, vol. i, fol. 152; Nafahāt, p. 554; Mujmal Faṣihī, fol. 211; Ḥabīb as Siyar, vol. iii, part i, p. 125; Tāj at Ṭabaqāt, vol. viii, fol. 205; Beale's Biographical Dictionary, p. 49; Brock., vol. ii, p. 166.

AD DĀ'U WA AD DAWĀ'U.

The present work is noticed under the same title in Hāj. Khal., vol. ii, p. 633; but in vol. v, p. 82, it is again mentioned under the title, Al Jawāb Al Kāfi li Man Sa'ala 'An ad Dawā' Ash Shāfi الجواب الكافي لمن سأل عن الدواء الشافي. Both these titles are found on the title-page of our copy.

A work on Sūfism, setting forth the spiritual remedies to be resorted to in case of trial and temptation; composed in reply to the following five questions, addressed to scholars by some enquirer:—

ما تقول السادة العلماء أئمة الدين في رجل ابتلى ببلىة و علم
انها ان استمرت به افسدت دنياه و آخرته و قد اجتهد في رفعها عن نفسه
بكل طريق فما تزداد الا ثوقدا و شدة فما الحيلة في دفعها •

The reply to these questions begins as follows:—

SHIFĀ' AL ASQĀM FĪ ZIYĀRATI KHAIR AL ANĀM.

A very old and valuable copy of Shifā' al Asqām, studied under the author by his son and other scholars, and containing autograph notes by the author and his son. The work is mainly concerned with a discussion, from the theological and mystical points of view, of the validity of the practice of visiting the tomb of the Prophet and praying for his assistance. The similar practice of visiting the tombs of others is also discussed. After a long discussion, our author holds that the practice of visiting tombs and praying for assistance there is valid in Islam; and throughout the work, he supports his argument by reference to the Qur'ân, Ḥadīṣ and sayings of Ṣūfis, jurists and theologians. The work is divided into the following ten Bāb and a Khātimah :—

- (i) foll. 3-19. الباب الاول في الاحاديث الواردة في الزيارة *
- (ii) foll. 20-24^a. الباب الثاني فيما ورد من الاخبار و الاحاديث د الا

Author: 'Alī bin 'Abdal Kāfi bin 'Alī bin Tanmām bin Yūsuf bin Mūsā bin Tamām bin Ḥāmid bin Yahyā bin 'Umar bin 'Uṣmān bin 'Alī bin Maṣṣūr bin Sālim as Subkī بن علي بن عبد الكافي بن علي بن تمام بن يحيى بن عمر بن عثمان بن علي بن يوسف بن موسى بن تمام بن حامد بن يحيى بن عمر بن عثمان بن علي بن علي بن منصور بن سالم السبكي, the most famous scholar of his age, and the father of 'Abdalwakhḥāb as Subkī (d. A.H. 771=A.D. 1370; see Lib. Cat., vol. xii, No. 766). He composed a number of works on different branches of Islamic learning; of which seventeen (including the present work) are enumerated in Brock., vol. ii, p. 87. He was born in Subk, A.H. 683, where he studied under his father and some others. He left his native place for Cairo, where he studied under distinguished scholars, and received spiritual training from Ibn 'Atā' (d. A.H. 709=A.D. 1309; see No. 899 above). In A.H. 704 he visited Alexandria, where he studied for about three years; and in A.H. 707 he attended lectures of different scholars in Syria. He then returned to Cairo, where he worked first as a professor in the Manṣūriyah Madrasah, and afterwards as the head professor in the Jāmi' Tūlun. In A.H. 739, on the death of Jalāl Qazwīnī, he was appointed by King Malik Nāsir (A.H. 709-741=A.D. 1309-1340) to succeed him as Chief Justice of Syria. This office he vacated, in A.H. 742, to become Principal of the Dār al Ḥadīṣ Ashrāfiyah in Damascus, where the present MS. was studied under the author in A.H. 745. (See note quoted below.) He afterwards held the post of Principal of the Dār al Ḥadīṣ Shāmiyah in Syria. In A.H. 746 he was reappointed Chief Justice of Syria, and held this post till Ramadān, A.H. 755; when on account of his serious illness he was obliged to resign it, and returned to Cairo, where he died in A.H. 756=A.D. 1355. See for his life and works, Isnawī, fol. 258; Ibn Mulaqqin, fol. 209; Ad Durar al Kāminah, vol. ii, foll. 38-43; Brock., loc. cit.

Beginning:—

The quotations, made by the author from other works, are invariably from reliable copies of those works, such as autograph copies, copies bearing the autograph notes of the author, copies studied by or transcribed by scholars. In this connection, he mentions specially an autograph copy of Ithāf az Zā'ir by Abu'l Yuman (d. A.H. 613=A.D. 1213; see Lib. Cat., vol. v, part ii, p. 48), which was in his possession, thus:—

هكذا اورد ابو اليمان في كتاب اتكاف الزائر وهو عندي

He also refers to a copy of Tārikh u Ibn 'Asūkār, transcribed by Barzālī in 80 volumes (two volumes of which transcription are found in the Library; see Hand-list, No. 2470-1), thus:—

• رأيت في تاريخ ابن عساكر بخط ابي عبد الله البرزالي *

The present copy of Shif'ā al Asqām was transcribed, by one Muḥammad bin Aḥmad, for the collection of Muḥammad bin Aḥmad at Tanūkhī (d. A.H. 746=A.D. 1347; see Ad Durar al Kāminah; vol. ii, fol. 234).

The following note at the end tells us that it was compared with the autograph copy in A.H. 740:—

بلغت هذه النسخة مقابلة بصل مصنفها فصحت بعهد الله حسب
الامكان و كان الفراغ من ذلك فى اليوم العاشر من جمادى الاولى سنة

This is followed by another note, telling us that the present MS. was again compared with the autograph copy, while it was being studied under the author: ثم قوبل ثانياً حالة السماع بصل مصنفه ادلم الله بركته. This note is based on the Sanad quoted below, dated the Madrasah 'Adiliyah of Damascus, A.H. 740, and written by Muhammad bin 'Ali bin Sa'id al Anṣārī (d. A.H. 752=A.D. 1353; see Ad Durar al Kāminah, vol. ii, fol. 377), who says that he and Muhammad bin Ahmad at Tanukhi, the owner of the copy mentioned above, studied the present work under the author in a joint sitting, held in that year, and attended by a group of scholars, which included the author's son, Husain bin 'Ali (d. A.H. 755=A.D. 1358; see Ad Durar al Kāminah, vol. i, fol. 384). An Ijāza was granted by the author to all who attended the sitting:—

The above Sanad is attested by the author himself, thus:—

صحيح ذلك و كتب علي بن عبد الكافي السبكي *

The Sanad is followed by an autograph note of the author's second son, 'Abdalwahhāb, the famous author mentioned above, in which he says that he and Muḥammad bin 'Isā As Salsali (d. A.H. 780=A.D. 1358; see Ad Durar al Kāminah, vol. ii, fol. 428) studied the first four chapters of the work in the Dār al Ḥadīṣ Ashrafiyah in Damascus:—

الارشاد و التطريز

AL IRSHĀD WA AT TATRIZ.

A work on Sūfism, treating of the virtues of reciting the Qur'ān and repeating prayers, together with a description of the supernatural powers contained in those prayers. The work contains in all nearly 1,000 verses, of which 333 are borrowed from other Sūfi works and the rest are composed by the author himself. The work is based on the Qur'ān, Ḥadīṣ and sayings of the Sūfis. The author quotes about 200 Ḥadīṣ, transmitted to him by his Shaikh, Raḍīad-dīn at Ṭabarsī (d. A.H. 722=A.D. 1322; see Lib. Cat., vol. v, part i, p. 176). The work ends with 7 Qasidas. The first three are in praise of the Prophet; the 4th and the 5th are in praise of the Sūfis; while the last Qasida is in praise of Islamic dogmas enumerated by the author, and is designated by the author Shamsul 'Imān fi Tawhīd ar Raḥmān Wa'Aqīdat u Ahl Haqq wa Al 'Iqān شمس الإيمان في التوحيد و عقيدة اهل الحق و الايقان. The work is divided into 10

Bdb. The contents of the work are fully described in Berlin, No. 8801.

Author: 'Afifaddīn 'Abdallāh bin As'ad bin 'Alī bin Sulaimān al Yāfi'i Ash Shūfi' علي بن اسعد بن علي بن سليمان الشافعي الشافعي, a prominent Sūfi scholar, historian and author of the 8th century A.H. He belongs to the Hīmyarī tribe of Yaman, and was born in Yaman, A.H. 698; where he studied in a Madrasah of Yaman the Qur'ānic branches of learning under Jamāladdīn Abū 'Abdallāh Muḥammad bin Aḥmad (d. A.H. 748=A.D. 1347; see the present author's Mir'āt al Janān, fol. 458^b), a distinguished teacher of this subject. Afterwards he turned his attention to Sūfism, and adopted the Sūfi 'Alī bin 'Abdallāh at Ṭawāḡhī (d. A.H. 748=A.D. 1347; see Mir'āt al Janān, fol. 459) as his spiritual Shaikh. In A.H. 718 he left Yaman for Mecca and Medina, where he studied for six years, and from time to time attended the sittings held by the Sūfis of those places.

Early in A.H. 724, he left Arabia in order to visit such places as Damascus, Jerusalem and Cairo, where, as we are told by his biographers, he received both literary and spiritual training from eminent Sūfis, who granted him Sanads of scholarship and Sūfism. He was also presented with Khirqas by several Sūfis. The last of these was presented to him by 'Izzaddīn; a presentation referred to in our author's Mir'āt al Janān, fol. 453^b, in the following words:—شبع من الدين و كان آخر من البسني الخرقه. Thereafter our author returned to Mecca, where he devoted himself to giving training in mysticism to his novices, and in composing his works. In all, 13 works of the author are enumerated in Brock., vol. ii, p. 177; of which Mir'āt al Janān, which has recently been printed at the Dā'irat al Ma'ārif Press, Hyderabad, is a standard historical work. He died in Mecca, A.H. 768=A.D. 1366. For his life and works see Ibn Mulaqqin, fol. 308; Isnawi, fol. 405; Ad Durar al Kāminah, vol. i, fol. 511; Nafahāt, 681; Safinat al Awliyā, p. 68; preface by Sir E. Denison Ross to his Calcutta edition of Marham al Ulal. Brock., loc. cit., tells us in a footnote that, according to Ṭabaqāt of Qāḍi Shuhba 'Afifaddīn, our author died in A.H. 778; but in our copy of this Ṭabaqāt, fol. 152 (see Hand-list, No. 2455), the date of his death is indicated as follows: ثمان وستين و سبعمائة, i.e., 768. We may suppose either that Brockelmann read the words ثمان وستين (68) as ثمان و سبعين (78), or that the scribe of the copy of the Ṭabaqāt, to which he referred, transcribed the date wrongly سبعين. The weight of authority among the biographers mentioned above is in favour of A.H. 768; and we may safely reject the date A.H. 767, given by Subkī, in Ṭabaqāt, vol. vi, p. 103, and the date A.H. 771, given by Hâj. Khal., vol. iii, p. 171. The author of Mir'ât al Asrâr, a big biographical work on the Sūfis in Persian, mentions the author on fol. 485, and tells us that he failed to trace the date of his death.

RAUD AR RIYĀḤĪN FĪ ḤIKĀYĀT AṢ ṢĀḤĪN.

روض الرياحين في حكايات الصالحين

The following is an alternative title of the work: Nuzhat al 'Uyūn an Nawāzīr نزهة العين النواظر. Both titles are given by the author himself in the preface.

The present work is a collection of 500 anecdotes of the Sūfis and pious men, chiefly taken from the works of the following authors: (i) Ġazzālī (see No. 833 above); (ii) Quṣṣairī (see No. 828 above); (iii) Abū 'Abdallāh Muḥammad bin Ibrāhīm al Jirī; (iv) Ibn 'Aṭā aṣṣh Shāḍilī (see No. 899 above); (v) Abul 'Abbās Aḥmad bin 'Aṭā al Qaṣṭallānī; (vi) Shihābaddīn As Suhrawardī (see No. 860 above); (vii) Ibn Jawzī (see Lib. Cat., vol. x, No. 512); (viii) Abū Muḥammad 'Abdallāh Ibn Qudāmāh al Maqdisī (see No. 857 above); (ix) Abu'l Laiṣ as Samarqandī (see No. 821 above); (x) Abū Aḥmad bin 'Alī, commonly called Ibn al 'Arabi. Most of the anecdotes begin with the name of the narrator; but some are anonymous, and begin with the words: من بعض الصالحين or بعض من الفقراء (from a certain faqīr or saint). These anecdotes, for the most part, record instances of the supernatural powers manifested by the Sūfis, and draw a lesson from each regarding mystical principles and practices. The author, in the preface, tells us that he composed the present work, having noted the view frequently expressed by reliable Sûfis that anecdotes of this nature serve as a help and encouragement to novices in their progress in spiritual learning. Besides these anecdotes, the work contains a Muqaddimah, Khâtimah and Khâtimat al Khâtimah. The Muqaddimah is divided into the following two Faṣl, in the first of which the author enumerates the virtues of the Sûfis, and in the second upholds the validity of the supernatural powers manifested by them:—

I. foll. 2-10*, الفصل الأول من المقدمة في شيء من فضائل الأولياء والصالحين والقراء *

II. foll. 10*-14, الفصل الثاني في أثبات كرامات الأولياء والسادة الصوفية *

The Khâtimah, like the Muqaddimah, consists of two Faṣl the first of which contains a refutation of those who question the genuineness of anecdotes of this nature, while the second contains a statement of important dogmas of the Sûfis. The Khâtimat al Khâtimah contains four Qasidas in praise of the Prophet. Both the Khâtimah and the Khâtimat al Khâtimah are wanting in the present copy.

From the details of its subject matter given above, it will be clear that this is a work on Sûfism, as it is noted in Râmpûr, No. 155. and Āsafiyah, No. 73; and not a work on Ethics, as described in Berlin, No. 8804, nor a biographical work, as described in India Office, No. 708, and Paris, No. 2040.

Author: 'Afifaddīn 'Abdallāh bin As'ad bin 'Alī bin Sulaimān al Yāfi' عفيف الدين عبد الله بن اسعد بن علي بن سليمان الياضي. He died in A.H. 768=A.D. 1366; see No. 908 above.

The work was printed in Būlāq, A.H. 1280, and again in Cairo, A.H. 1307.

The main portion of the MS., viz., foll. 1-126, is written in fair Na'kh. The MS. is not dated; but as will appear from the note quoted in the next paragraph, it must have been transcribed before A.H. 940. One Qāḍī Qāsim bin 'Alāaddīn had foll. 127-156 transcribed and added to the MS. in A.H. 1001, by the scribe, Ismā'īl bin Ḥasan al 'Āmī.

The following note on the title-page, written in the Turki language, tells us that the MS. was formerly in the possession of Kamāl-pāshāzāda, a famous scholar of Turkey, who died in A.H. 940=A.D. 1533; see Brock., vol. ii, p. 449:—

Author: Muḥammad bin Hindû Shâh bin Muḥammad ad Dâmiḡānî محمد بن هندو شاه بن محمد الدامغانى. Neither the author nor the work is mentioned in any catalogue.

The colophon, which was badly worm-eaten, has now been fully deciphered, after removal of the paper pasted over certain portions of it, and is quoted in extenso below. From this we learn that the present MS. is an autograph copy of a work, completed in A.H. 778 by Muḥammad bin Hindû Shâh bin Muḥammad ad Dâmiḡānî, in Nairiz, a town in the province of Shabânkâra (in Persia):—

تم الكتاب المستطاب المسمى بزبدة التصوف على يد جامعہ اضعف عباد
للہ الجاني محمد بن هندو شاه بن محمد الدامغانى غفر الله له واولديه
ولجميع المؤمنين والمؤمنات جرة في السادس من شهر رمضان المبارك
سنة ثمان و سبعين و سبعمائة ببلدة نيريز من اعمال شبانكاره حامداً لله تعالى و مصلياً على رسوله صلى الله عليه وسلم *

A note on the title-page, written by some one unknown, but evidently (from the use of the phrase عني عنه) a contemporary of the author, confirms the statement as to the authorship of the work contained in the colophon, and tells us that one Shamsaddîn Muḥammad ad Dâmiḡānî is the author of the present work. This note runs as follows:—

زبدة التصوف و ارشاد سلوك التعرف للشيخ الامام العلامةم...

شمس الدين محمد الدامغانى عني عنه *

Our works of reference do not provide us with any account of the author; but on referring to a commentary, called Ash Shamsiyyah (see Hand-list, No. 2634/2; another copy being mentioned in Cairo, vol. ii, p. 38), on the 'Aqâ'id of 'Adud (d. A.H. 756=A.D. 1355), we find that in the preface, which is written by a contemporary of the commentator, as well as in the scribe's colophon, dated A.H. 1119, the authorship of the commentary is ascribed to one Shamsaddin Muḥammad ad Dāmīgānī, who, we are told, was a Minister, and a pupil of Qâḍī 'Adud, the author of the text.

The scribe's colophon runs thus:—

تم شرح عقائد عضدي من مؤلفات المولى الاعظم مولانا افتخار الملة
والدين محمد الدامغاني قدس الله سره بلطفه ... من تلاميذ المصنف الماتين *

The preface runs as follows:—

وسميها بالعقائد الشمسية ... لتتميقها باقتراح شمس فلک الجلال
صاحب النفس القدسية ذكر الفضيلتين العلمية والعملية اعني
الصاحب الاعظم و دستور العلم اروع وزراء الزمان مربي العصر والوان
مقوي فضلاء الدهر بالعدل والاحسان آصف الثاني شمس الملة والدين
محمد الدامغاني *

It is probable that the author of the above-mentioned commentary is identical with the author of the present work (Zuhdat). It may be noted, in this connection, that Mujmal Faṣiḥī, on fol. 206^b, tells us that Qâḍī 'Adud, the teacher of Shamsaddin, was a Qâḍī of Shabānkārah (عقد شبانكاره) (وفات مولانا ركن الدين والد قاضي عقد شبانكاره); and we know that Zuhdat was composed in this same province. In the same work (Mujmal Faṣiḥī), fol. 211, an incidental reference is made to one Shamsaddin ad Dāmīgānī, who is described as the brother-in-law of Giyāṣaddin Muḥammad (d. A.H. 764=A.D. 1362), the famous Minister of Persia.

Three foll. have been added at the beginning of the present work by one Ṣūfī Aḥmad bin Jalāl, containing a quotation from At Takbīr, a rare work by Qushairī (see No. 828 above). This quotation begins as follows:—

سبط المذود و حاوية النور

SIMṬ AṢ ṢUDŪR WA ḤĀWIYAT AN NŪR.

A very rare work, to which a brief reference only is made in Hāj. Khal., vol. iii, p. 618, in which are briefly expounded the important religious, mystical and moral duties, composed expressly for the use of novices.

Author: Taqiaddin Abū Bakr bin 'Alī bin 'Abdallāh Aṣḥ Shaibānī Al Maṣṣilī Aṣḥ Ṣhāfi'ī تقي الدين أبو بكر بن علي بن عبد الله الشيباني المصلي الشافعي, a scholar of the 8th century A.H., chiefly known as a Ṣūfī. He was born in Maṣṣil, A.H. 734; and studied under his father and many others, his father, 'Alī, being the first Ṣūfī Shaikh to give him spiritual training. Thereafter the author left his native place for Damascus, where he completed his studies under well-known scholars, and received spiritual training from certain Ṣūfis, of whom Yāfi'ī (see No. 908 above) is specially mentioned by his biographers. From his biographers we learn that, in the beginning, Taqiaddin established an equal reputation both as Ṣūfī and scholar; but love of mysticism led him to devote the greater portion of his life to mystical exercises, and he was popularly known as a Ṣūfī throughout Syria. Later on, he visited Jerusalem, where he was warmly welcomed by King Saifaddin az Zāhir (d. A.H. 784–801=A.D. 1382–1398), who erected a monastery for him, where the king himself, nobles, Ṣūfis and scholars used to visit him and to attend his sittings. Taqiaddin, after performing Hajj (pilgrimage), used to live sometimes in Damascus and sometimes in Jerusalem, where he died in A.H. 797=A.D. 1394. He composed several works, of which ten, not including the present work, are mentioned in Brock., vol. ii, p. 166. See, for his works and life Ad Durar al Kāminah, vol. i, fol. 279; Tabaqât by Qādî Shuhba, fol. 113.

It is evident, from the handwriting, that the scribe, Ismâ'il az Zar'î, is the writer of the above note; and from the use of such terms as سيدنا (my master) and شيخنا (my Shaikh) and رحمه الله (applied only to the dead), we may infer that the scribe was a disciple and pupil of the author, and that he wrote the above note after the latter's death.

From the following three notes on the title-page, we learn that the MS. was at some time in the possession of (i) 'Alî al 'Arrâf ثم صار في نوبة افقر Muḥammad Tîbî (ii) Muḥammad Tîbî من نعم الله على عبده على العرف (iii) Muḥammad Fâḍil bin Muḥammad Hâmid الشيف محمد ناضل ابن الشيف حامد الع ملك بفضل الله عبده الشيف محمد ناضل ابن الشيف حامد الع an Indian scholar, for whom see No. 923 below.

حادي القلوب الى لقاء المحبوب

HĀDĪ AL QULŪB ILĀ LIQĀ' AL
MAḤBŪB.

A rare work dealing briefly, from the religious and mystical points of view, with the meaning of Maut (death), with the pains of death, and the state of the dead until the end of the present world ; also with the rewards and blessings of God enjoyed in Paradise. The author based his work on the Qur'ān, Ḥādīḡ and sayings of the Ṣūfīs, with occasional references to the anecdotes of pious men. The author's object is to encourage the Muslim to bear cheerfully the pains of the world and especially the pains of death, which is the first stage of our journey to the next world and our enjoyment of the blessings of God in Paradise.

Author : Nāṣiraddīn Muḥammad bin 'Abdaddā'im bin Al Milaḡ Naṣr al-dīn Muḥammad bin 'Abd al-dā'im bin al-mīlīq, commonly called Abu'l Ma'ālī al-ma'ālī, a famous scholar and Ṣūfī of the Shāḡīlīyah order, who was born in A.H. 731. He was a favourite scholar of King Az Zāhir (A.H. 784-801=A.D. 1382-1398), who appointed him Chief Justice of Cairo. Our author incurred the serious displeasure of the king, as a result of the judgment which he pronounced in a certain case against the latter's wishes and instructions, and was removed from his post. He afterwards acted as a Khatīb of the Madrasah Nāṣiriyyah of Cairo, where he died in A.H. 797=A.D. 1394. See Ad Durar al Kāminah, vol. ii, fol. 313 ; Raf' al 'Isr, fol. 233 ; Ḥusn al Muḥāḡarah, fol. 266* ; Brock., vol. ii, p. 119, where three of his works, including the present work, are enumerated.

Author: Shihābaddīn Abu'l 'Abbās Aḥmad bin 'Imād bin Yūsuf Al Aqfahisī شهاب الدين ابو العباس احمد بن عماد بن يوسف الاقفهسي, commonly called Ibn al 'Imād العماد, a learned jurist of Egypt, chiefly known as a pupil of Isnawī (d. A.H. 777 = A.D. 1375; see Lib. Cat., vol. xli, No. 773), under whom he studied for a considerable period. He is the author of a number of works, of which 21 in all, including the present work, are enumerated in Brock., vol. ii, p. 93. He died in A.H. 808=A.D. 1405; see Ṭabaqât of Qâḍi Shuhbah, fol. 183; Ḥusn al Muḥâdarah, fol. 216^b; Brock., loc. cit.

قبس الانوار و جامع الاسرار

QABS AL ANWAR WÂ JÂMI' AL ASRÂR.

A work expounding, from the mystical point of view, the Divine mysteries and other allusions contained in the letters of the alphabet. The following three notes on the title-page, written by three different persons unknown, instead of throwing light on the authorship of the work, are altogether confusing and misleading:—

- (i) The first runs thus: كتاب قبس الانوار و جامع الاسرار لقطب الوجود الشيخ الأكبر, and tells us that the work is by Muḥiaddin al 'Arabî (d. A.H. 638=A.D. 1240; see No. 865 above).
- (ii) The second note runs as follows: هذا الكتاب ليس هو للشيخ الأكبر ابن عربي وإنما هو لبعض العلماء والله تعالى اعلم, and rejecting the authorship of Muḥiaddin al 'Arabî declares that the work is by an unknown scholar.
- (iii) The third note runs thus: ذكروا انه لرجل من علماء قزوین, and tells us that the work is by some scholar of Qazwin.

As a matter of fact, Jamâladdin Abu'l Maḥâsin Yûsuf an Nadrûmî جمال الدين ابو المعاسين يوسف الندرومي is the real author of the work, as is evident from Berlin, No. 4128, where the author and this work of his are fully described. Brockelmann, vol. ii, p. 252, accepts Jamâladdin as the author, on the authority of the following catalogues: Paris, Nos. 2681-3; Glasgow, No. 46; Goth., No. 1283; Escur., No. 975.

The date of the author's death is not known to us. Brock., loc. cit., says that he was alive in A.H. 786=A.D. 1384; while in Berlin, loc. cit., we are told that he was alive in A.H. 807. That he was alive even later, viz., in A.H. 809, is evident from the following note on the title-page, in which it is stated that 'Abdarrahmān Bastāmī (see No. 917. below) studied the present work under our author in A.H. 809:—

ذكر الشيخ عبد الرحمن البساطي في شرحه على اللمعة انه قرأ
هذا الكتاب علي مصنفه سنة ٨٠٩ •

Beginning:—

الحمد لله الملك الديان الغفور الرحمن الواحد المئان المعروف

The author frequently refers to Shams al Ma'ārif (No. 859 above), another work on the same subject.

Foll. 1-107 are written in good Naskh. Not dated, apparently 9th century A.H.

The last fol., which was wanting in the original copy, has been added in a later hand.

The present MS. was once in the possession of a certain Maḥmūd Afandī, a Turki scholar of the 12th century A.H., who, in his note on the title-page, tells us that he purchased it for his own use. In A.H. 1204, the MS. came into the possession of one Aḥmad bin 'Alī bin 'Umar.

MİŞBÂḤ AL UNS.

A detailed commentary on Al Miftāḥ of Qūnawī (d. A.H. 672=A.D. 1273; see No. 873, above). Al Miftāḥ (for a copy of which see Berlin, No. 3212) is a concise work on Šūfism, written from the standpoint of the Wujūdīyah group of Šūfis (see No. 865 above). Technically, the present work is a commentary; but so useful is its critical exegesis that it is looked upon as an independent work. The following four works of Muḥiaddin al 'Arabī (see No. 865 above) and the following nine works of Qūnawī, the author of the text, are chiefly referred to in the present work:—

Works of Muḥiaddin.

- (i) Al Futūḥāt al Makkiyah (No. 865 above); (ii) At Tadbirāt al Ilāhiyah (No. 887 above); (iii) ‘Uqlat al Mustawfizah (No. 889 above); (iv) Fuṣūs al Hikam (No. 870 above).

Works of Qūnawī.

- (i) I’jāz al Bayān (see Hand-list, No. 202); (ii) Sharḥ u Ahādīḡ al Arba’in (see Hand-list, No. 2581/3); (iii) Ar Risālat al Muṣṣiḡ (see Berlin, No. 3274); (iv) An Nafahāt (see No. 891 above); (v) Ar Risālat al Hādīyah (see Berlin, No. 2305); (vi) An Nuṣūs (see No. 892 above); (vii) Tafsir u Bismillāh (see Hand-list, No. 2586/4); (viii) Al Wasāyah; (ix) Fukūk al Fuṣūs (see No. 873 above).

The following authors are also frequently quoted, viz.: (i) Jundi (No. 874 above); (ii) Qushairī (No. 828 above); (iii) Shaikh al Islām al Harawī (No. 831 above); (iv) Fargānī (No. 897 above); (v) Ḥazzālī (No. 833 above).

In some cases, the metaphysical theories of the Sūfis are compared with the theories of the philosophers and حکماء اشراقین (Intuitionists).

Commentator: Shamsaddin Muhammad bin Ḥamza al Fanārī al Hanafī شمس الدين محمد بن حمزة الغنوي الحنفي, a famous Hanafī scholar, who received spiritual training from Shaikh Ḥamid and from his father, Shaikh Ḥamza. Our author is specially noted by his biographers for careful study of the present text under his father, who was a disciple of Qūnawī. He was born in Fanār, A.H. 750; and studied there under his father, Aqsarā’ī (d. A.H. 773=A.D. 1371) and a few others. On the death of Aqsarā’ī, he started for Kirmān, where he studied under Akmaladdin al Bābartī (d. A.H. 780=A.D. 1378; see Lib. Cat., vol. v, part ii, No. 366). Thereafter he visited Constantinople, where he attended the lectures of ‘Alāaddin Aswad (d. A.H. 800=A.D. 1397). The fame of his literary attainments attracted attention in Constantinople; and early in the 9th century A.H. Sultān Bayazid (A.H. 792-805=A.D. 1389-1402) appointed him Qāḡī of Brussa, in which post he served with distinction for a considerable period. He left Brussa in A.H. 832 to perform Ḥajj; and died at Cairo in A.H. 833=A.D. 1429. For his life and works see Shacāiq an Nu’māniyah, vol. i, p. 84; Tāj at Ṭabaqāt, vol. ix, fol. 305; Ḥadā’iq al Ḥanafiyah, p. 316; Brock., vol. ii, p. 233, where eleven of his works, including the present work, are enumerated.

Beginning:—

بحر الوقوف في علم الاوقاف والعرف

BAHR AL WUQŪF FÎ 'ILM AUFÂQ WA AL HURŪF.

A work with the same title as the above is mentioned, without beginning or any description, in Hâj. Khal., vol. ii, p. 22, being the composition of Aḥmad Bûnî (d. A.H. 622=A.D. 1225; see No. 859 above). The present work is evidently of later date, however, since it contains, on fol. 15^b, the following reference to Abu'l Ḥasan aṣḥ Shâḍilî, who died in A.H. 654=A.D. 1256; see Nafahât, p. 603:—

وقد تكلم على التخلق باسماء الله تعالى جماعة كابى القاسم القشيري

... و ابى الحسن الشاذلى *

Brock., vol. ii, p. 231, on the authority of Wien, No. 1497, mentions a work with the same title by 'Abdarrahmân al Bastâmi, a Sûfi author of the 9th century A.H.; and it would appear from the colophon and the marginal note, quoted below, that this is identical with the present work.

The following colophon of the author, quoted at the end by the scribe, tells us that 'Abdarrahmân bin Muḥammad bin 'Alî bin Aḥmad al Ḥanafî al Bastâmi, composed the present work in A.H. 826:—

قال المؤلف وكل اكمال هذه الحديقة الزاهرة والحقيقة الباهرة في
اواخر ربيع الاول سنة ست وعشرين وثمانمئة على يد مؤلفها انقر عباد الله
عبد الرحمن بن محمد بن علي بن احمد الحنفى مذهباً والبسطامى

مشرباً ... الخ *

The note on the margin of fol. 67^a, runs thus:—

ألف مؤلف هذا الكتاب اسرار الورد وتشكير الانوار وفوائد مسكية
ورسالة الطاعون وكشف الاسرار الربانية وشمس الرقائق •

It tells us that the author of the present work is also the author of the following works, of which (ii) and (iv) are enumerated by Brock., loc. cit., among the works of 'Abdarrahmân Bastâmi: (i) Asrâr al Anrâd; (ii) Al Fawa'id al Miskiyah; (iii) Risâlat at Ta'ûn; (iv) Kashf al Asrâr ar Rabbâniyah; (v) Shams al Aufâq.

The work chiefly deals with the Divine mysteries, mystical allusions and supernatural powers contained in the letters of the alphabet or in prayers (ادعية); it also discusses the influence exercised by the sun, moon and stars at the time of preparing prayer-charts or phylacteries. The work is divided into a Muqaddimah, two Bâb and a Khâtimah.

Author: 'Abdarrahmân bin Muḥammad bin 'Alî bin Aḥmad al Hanafî al Bastâmi al Hurûfî عبد الرحمن بن محمد بن علي بن احمد الحنفى البساطمي الحروفى, a well-known Hanafi scholar and a Sûfi belonging to the Bastâmiyah order, called al Hurûfî, in recognition of his proficiency in the science of Hûrûf, i.e., of the mystical powers contained in the letters of the alphabet. He is referred to, in Madînat al 'Ulâm, fol. 132^a, as a pre-eminent master of this science, and the author of a number of works on the same. In all, 25 works of the author are enumerated in Brock., vol. ii, p. 231; and for two other works of his, see the note mentioned above. He was born in Antioch, and studied in Cairo. Sultân Murâd ii (A.H. 824—855=A.D. 1421—1451) of the Ottoman dynasty held our author in special regard; and the latter dedicated some of his works to the said Sultân. The date of the author's death is not known. We are told in Br. Mus. Suppl., No. 481, that, according to Hâj. Khal., vol. ii, p. 464, he died in A.H. 845; but Hâj. Khal. gives no date. Brock., loc. cit., tells us, from internal evidence, that he was alive in A.H. 855=A.D. 1451.

Foll. 67^b-68^a contain quotations from different works.

Fol. 68^b contains a prayer, the efficacy of which, in times of trouble or danger, was testified to by Imâm Shâfi'i (d. A.H. 204=A.D. 820), according to the following note in Turki:—

قوانین حکم الاشراق الی کل الصوفیة بجمع الآفاق

QAWÂNİN U ḤIKAM AL ISḤ RÂQ ILÂ KULL AŞ ŞÜFİYATİ Bİ JAMİ' AL ÂFÂQ.

A work expounding the principles and theories of Sūfism, composed in A.H. 882 for the use of all Sūfis. It is divided into a Muqaddimah and 14 Qânûn, which are fully described in Berlin, No. 3028. The work is chiefly based on aphorisms and sayings of the Sūfis. 'Abdalwahhâb Sha'rânî (d. A.H. 973=A.D. 1565; see Lib. Cat., vol. x, No. 567) praises the work highly in the following passage in his Al Lawâiqih, fol. 279^b:—

كتاب القانون في علوم الطائفة وهو كتاب بديع لم يؤلف مثله يشهد
 لصاحبه بالنوق الكامل في الطريق *

The authorship of the present work is disputed. In Berlin, No. 3028, we are told that Abu'l Mawāhib Muḥammad bin Aḥmad bin Muḥammad at Tūnisi al Wafā'i al Māliki بن احمد بن محمد بن الموهب التونسي الونائي المالكي, who died in A.H. 882=A.D. 1477, is the author; and Cairo, vol. ii, p. 103, is in agreement with this, though no dates are given. In India Office, No. 688, we are told that the work is most probably identical with the MS. No. 808 described in Bibl., Sprenger, where the work is ascribed to one Jamāladdin Aṣḥ Shāḍilī; but in No. 1038/19, on the strength of a note on the title-page which runs thus:—

كتاب رسالة قوانين حكم الاشراق الى كل الصوفية بجميع الافاق تأليف
 الشيخ ... شمس الدنيا و الدين محمد بن احمد بن محمد التونسي الشاذلي الونائي المالكي المشهور بابي الموهب *

we are told that Abu'l Mawāhib is the author. As against the authority of the above three catalogues, Brock., vol. ii, p. 123,* on the authority of Goth., No. 907; Leid., No. 2285; Escur., vol. ii, No. 780, tells us that Burhānaddin Ibrāhīm bin Muḥammad bin Aḥmad al Hanafī ash Shāḍilī برهان الدين ابراهيم بن محمد بن احمد الحنفي الشاذلي, a disciple of the above-mentioned Abu'l Mawāhib and a Ṣūfī scholar of the 10th century A.H., is the author of the present work. The following facts, which we have succeeded in bringing to light, lead us to reject this statement as incorrect, however.

(i) The present work is not mentioned in the list of compositions of the above-mentioned Burhānaddin, given in An Nūr as Sāfir, fol. 48^a.

(ii) Muḥammad bin Ibrāhīm, the scribe of the present MS. and a reliable Ṣūfī author of the 12th century A.H., in the following note on the title-page, dated A.H. 1097, tells us that the work is by Abu'l Mawāhib:—

كتاب قوانين حكم الاشراق للشيخ العالم الرباني ابي الموهب
 محمد الشاذلي التونسي اعاد الله علينا بركاته *

* Bruckelmann usually refers to the Berlin, Cairo and India Office catalogues: but in the present case he appears to have overlooked them, and hence does not think it necessary to discuss the authorship of the work.

(iii) 'Abdalwahhâb Sharâni, a well-known Sūfī author of the 10th century A.H. (see Lib. Cat., vol. x, No. 567), in his Al Lawâqih, fol. 293^b, quotes the following passage from a work of Abu'l Mawâhib, entitled Qawânin; and this passage is found verbatim on fol. 35^b of the present MS. :—

وهذا دقيقة وهي خروج عدد المرسلين الثلاثمائة والرابعة عشر من
اسمه وذلك ان اسمه محمد فالميم الاول اذا نطقت بها كانت ثلاثة احرف
و الكاء حرفان ح و الف و الهمزة ساقطة لانها الف و الميم المضعفان
كذلك ستة احرف و الدال كذلك دال و الف و لام فان عدت حروف
اسمه كلها ظاهرها و باطنها حصل لك من العدد ثلاثمائة و ثلاثة عشر عدد
الرسول المتفرعين منه صلى الله عليه وسلم الجامعين للنبوة و يبقى واحد
من العدد و هو لمقام الولاية المفرق على الاولياء و التابعين الخ *

We may therefore accept the statement, contained in the Berlin, Cairo and India Office catalogues, that Abu'l Mawâhib is the author, Scribe : محمد بن ابراهيم بن محمد الدكدكجي.

The scribe, Muḥammad bin Ibrâhīm ad Dakdakji, the Shaikh of Muṣṭafâ Bakrī (see No. 950 below), was a well-known Ḥanafī scholar and a famous Sūfī of Damascus, who composed a number of works on different branches of Islamic literature. He died in A.H. 1131=A.D. 1718; see Tāj at Ṭabaqât, vol. xii, fol. 397; Silk ad Durar, vol. iv, p. 25. In the following note on the title-page, the scribe tells us that he transcribed the present MS. for his own use :—

الحمد لله مما كتبه لنفسه و بمن شاء الله من بعده الفقير محمد بن

ابراهيم الدكدكجي خويدم الشاذلية غفرله و لجميع المسلمين الخ *

In A.H. 1275, the MS. came into the possession of one 'Abdalrahmân Shah, whose note on the title-page runs thus :—

تحقيق الزوراء

TAḤQĪQ AZZAWRĀ.

A commentary on Az Zawrā' of Dawwānī (d. A.H. 907=A.D. 1501; see Lib. Cat., vol. x, No. 550) and on the author's gloss on the same work. For a copy of the text and of the gloss see Berlin, Nos. 3224, 3225. Az Zawrā' is a very concise work, which treats of مبدأ و معاد (the beginning and the end of the world) and certain connected matters from the mystical and philosophical points of view.

Commentator: Kamāladdin bin Muḥammad bin Faḥr al Lārī كمال الدين بن محمد بن فخر الاري. The word bin, occurring in the name of the commentator between Kamāladdin and Muḥammad, is found in the preface of our copy as well as in Berlin, No. 3226; but in Hāj. Khal. vol. iii, p. 544, and in the author's colophon quoted below, it is omitted, and the commentator's name runs as follows: Kamāladdin Muḥammad. Our author was a Shī'a scholar of the 10th century A.H., and a pupil of Dawwānī, the author of the text, to whom he frequently refers as استاذنا (my teacher). The date of his death is not given by his biographers; but Hâj. Khal., loc. cit., tells us that he was alive in A.H. 928, which he takes to be the date of composition of the present work. The latter date, however, is given as A.H. 918, in the following author's colophon in our copy:—

و انا حوج الخلق كمال الدين محمد بن فخر بن علي اللاري
..... هذا آخر ما تيسر لي في توفيق خفيات الكتاب و ان اخر الله
الجل ليصيب بما شرحاً اخر مشتملاً على معظم الاسئلة و الاجوبة
و قد تم تأليف هذا الشرح سنة ثمانية عشر و تسعمائة *

The commentator, in the above colophon, tells us that he is desirous of writing another commentary on the same text if his life be spared; but no trace of any subsequent commentary is found.

الرسالة في اصطلاحات الصوفية

AR RISĀLAT FĪ IṢṬILĀHAT AṢ ṢŪFĪYAH.

The above title is not found anywhere in the body of the MS., but it is given on the title-page; and the present MS. has been catalogued under this title in the Hand-list, No. 1314. The author's name is mentioned nowhere in the MS., and hence was omitted in the Hand-list, loc. cit.; but it is evident that Abū Zakariyah al Anṣārī (d. A.H. 920=A.D. 1550) is the author, since he refers in the preface to another composition of his, Al Futūhāt al Ilāhiyah, thus:—

وقد بينت اقسام الخواطر كلها واحكامها في الفتوحات الآبية •

This Al Futūhāt al Ilāhiyah, which is the work of Abū Zakariyah, is described in Berlin, No. 3035. Our present treatise contains explanations of important mystic technical terms. A treatise by the same author, which, as the title itself indicates, deals with the same subject, is noticed (without beginning or description) in Cairo, vol. ii, p. 84, under the title, Ar Risālat fī Al Alfāz al latī Yatadāwaluhā Muḥaqqiqū Aṣ Ṣūfiyah الرسالة في الالفاظ التي يتداولها محققو الصوفية. The fact that the subject-matter of that treatise is the same as ours, and that in An Nūr as Sāfir only one treatise of the author on this subject is mentioned, suggests that, though there are two different titles, there is only one treatise.

The full name of the author runs thus: Zainaddin Abū Yahyā Zakariyah bin Muḥammad bin Aḥmad bin Zakariyah al Anṣārī زين الدين أبو يحيى زكريا بن محمد بن أحمد بن زكريا الأنصاري, a well-known scholar and author, who was born, A.H. 826, in Sunaika, where he studied up to the age of 15 years. In A.H. 841, he visited Cairo, where he studied in Jāmi' Azhar and other institutions. He attended the lectures, on each branch of learning, of the specialist professors of that branch; for the names of which professors see An Nūr as Sāfir, fol. 121^a. He was granted Ijāzas by several professors. Of these, the Ijāza granted to him by Ibn Ḥafār (d. A.H. 852=A.D. 1449; see Lib. Cat., vol. v, part ii, No. 159) receives special mention in An Nūr as Sāfir as being a holograph Ijāza. He received mystical training from several Ṣūfis, of whom the following are mentioned in An Nūr as Sāfir: (i) Abū 'Abdallāh al 'Umari; (ii) Shihābadīn Aḥmad al Adkārī; (iii) Muḥammad al Faiyūmī.

He worked as a professor of different subjects in several institutions of Cairo. In A.H. 886, he was appointed Chief Justice of Cairo; but he resigned the post some years later, on account of his love of mysticism and authorship. The rest of his life our author spent in holding sittings for novices and composing his works. In all, 35 of his works are enumerated in Brock., vol. ii, p. 99. He died in A.H. 926=A.D. 1550; * and was buried in Qirāfā, near the tomb of Imām Shāfi' (d. A.H. 204=A.D. 820).

الجوهر الفريد في ادب الصوفي والمريد

AL JAWHAR AL FARĪD FĪ ADAB AŞ ŞŪFĪ WA AL MURĪD.

A versified treatise, containing 1238 verses on the important principles of Sūfism and asceticism, and on the rules to be observed by novices in their relations with their Shaikhs. The treatise is divided into 8 Bāb, which are fully described in Berlin, No. 3182.

Author: Raḍiaddin Muḥammad bin Muḥammad bin Aḥmad bin 'Abdallāh al Gazzi al 'Āmiri ash Shāfi'ī رضي الدين محمد بن محمد بن أحمد بن عبد الله الغزي الشافعي الحامري الشافعي, a well-known scholar and Sūfi of Damascus, where he was born in A.H. 826. He is the author of several works; of which five, including the present work, are enumerated in Brock., vol. ii, p. 284. He died in A.H. 935=A.D. 1529; see Brock., loc. cit.; Berlin, No. 3181; Paris, No. 4427.

* This is the date as given in Al Lawāiqh, fol. 338^a, by his own famous disciple, 'Abdal Wahhāb ash Shā'rānī (d. A.H. 973=A.D. 1565; see Lib Cat., vol. x, No. 567). It is supported by the author of Tāj at ṭabaqāt, vol. x, fol. 145, and is to be accepted in preference to the date given in An Nūr as Sāfir—viz., A.H. 925.

نور العين شرح سلك العين

NŪR AL 'ĀIN SHARḤ U SILK AL 'ĀIN.

A detailed commentary on a mystical Qasīdā of 283 verses on the principles and theories of Ṣūfism, known as Qasīdatu Tā'iyyah, composed by 'Abdal Qādir 'bin 'Umar bin Ḥabīb as Ṣafīdī. For a copy of the text, see Hand-list, No. 2589/5

Brock., vol. ii, p. 119, where he refers to Bodl., vol. i, No. 93; Leid., No. 28; Algar., No. 364, tells us that the author of the Qasīdā died A.H. 726=A.D. 1326. He omits, however, any reference to Berlin, No. 3414, where we are told that 'Abdal Qādir, the author of the above Qasīdā, which is there described, died in A.H. 915=A.D. 1509. The following facts, gathered from the present commentary, lead us to accept this date, and to reject that given by Brockelmann as certainly incorrect :—

(i) The commentator, in the preface, refers to a personal interview between his own Shaikh, 'Alī bin Maimūn al Fāsi al Maḡribī (d. A.H. 917=A.D. 1511; see Berlin. No. 3034) and the author of the text thus :—

اخبرني أيضاً ان هذا الشيخ المذكور (عبد القادر) كان خامل الذكر...
 بمدينة صفد عند اهلها حتى لقيه شيخنا المذكور (على الفاسي) *

(ii) Again, from the following passage in the preface, where the commentator refers to an incident related to him in A.H. 905 by his Shaikh, 'Alī bin Maimūn al Fāsi al Magribī, concerning the author of the text, in language only used of the living, it is clear that the latter was alive in that year.

كتاب سلك العين ... تأليف الشيخ سيدي عبد القادر بن عمر بن
حبيب الصغدّي كان الشيخ فيما بلغنا لطيف الذات
حدثنا بذلك عنه سيدنا و استاذنا و شيخنا السيد الشريف علي بن ميمون
المغربّي الفاسي سنة خمس و تسعمائة *

(iii) On fol. 12^b, where he refers to something which he heard concerning 'Abdal Qādir's will in A.H. 924, the commentator refers to the latter in language used of the dead, thus:—

اخبرني بعض اصحابه و نحن بطريق الحج سنة اربع و عشرين
و تسعمائة انه اعني الشيخ عبد القادر الصغدّي رحمه الله اوصى
ربيّه عشية موته *

From the above, we may conclude that the author of the text was alive in A.H. 905, and died some time before A.H. 924.

Commentator: 'Alwān bin 'Alī bin 'Aṭīyah bin Ḥasan al Ḥama-wī علوان بن علي بن عطية بن حسن الحموي, a famous Ṣūfī author of the 10th century A.H., who composed a number of works on different branches of Islamic literature. In all, 18 works of the author are enumerated in Brock., vol. ii, p. 333. He died in A.H. 936=A.D. 1529; see Berlin, No. 3416.

Beginning:—

اشرح لي صديقي و احلل عقدة من لساني *

The commentary proper begins on fol. 16^a, thus: قال المؤلف:

بسم الله الرحمن الرحيم
بالحمد من بعد بسم الله بدي كذا على التهامي صلاتي مع تحياتي
تيمن نعمة الله برحمته فابتدأ نظمه بذكر اسم ربه الخ *

We learn, from the following passage on fol. 8^a, that our author composed a work on Sūfism under the title of Tanbīh al Aghbyā' in which he enumerated 1071 theories relating to Sūfism; but owing to the discouraging reception of the work among scholars, he threw it into the river Nile:—

الجوهر المنظم في زيارة القبر المكرم

AL JAWHAR AL MUNAZẒAM FĪ ZIYARAT AL QABR AL MUKARRAM.

A work containing rules and directions for visiting the tomb of the Prophet, and a discussion of the validity of this practice (and that of visiting the tombs of others), both from the religious and mystical points of view. The author criticises Ibn Taimiyah (see Lib. Cat., vol. v., part ii, No. 462/1), who opposes the validity of this practice. The present work was composed in A.H. 953, after the author's return from Medina and from visiting the tomb of the Prophet. The work is divided into a Muqaddimah, 8 Faṣl and a Khātimah; see Berlin, No. 4052, where the contents of the work are fully described.

جوامع الكلم في المواعظ والحكم

JAWAMI' AL KILAM FÎ AL MAWA'IZ WA AL HIKAM.

An autograph copy of a work on Sûfism and asceticism; containing a collection of about 3,000 moral and mystical maxims, based on the Qur'ân, Ḥadîṣ and sayings of the Sûfis. These maxims are classified under six heads, as follows: (i) الاقتباسات (Al Iqtibâsât) 500 maxims, part of each maxim being a quotation from the Qur'ân; (ii) تضمينيات (Taḍmīniyât) 500 maxims, part of each maxim being a quotation from Ḥadîṣ; (iii) الاحاديث (Al Ahâdîṣ) 200 maxims, taken entirely from Ḥadîṣ with omission of the Isnâd; (iv) حكم ابن عطاء (Ḥikamu Ibn 'Aṭâ) 300 maxims, taken from Ibn 'Aṭâ's work (No. 900 above); (v) حكم تلميذ (Ḥikamu Tilmîḍ Ibn 'Aṭâ) 100 maxims, borrowed from the work composed by a disciple of Ibn 'Aṭâ; whose name, according to Berlin, No. 8703, is داؤد بن باخلا; (vi) كلام السلف (Kalâm as Salaf) about 1,400 maxims, collected from the sayings of pious Muhammadans of early times. In the following passage from the preface, the author observes that proper use cannot be made of the present work without a thorough knowledge of the Qur'anic branches, Ḥadîṣ and Sûfism:—

ثم اعلم رحمك الله تعالى ان كمال لذة هذا التأليف موقوف
على ان يكون الشخص حافظاً مفسراً محدثاً و ان يكون له ذوق من
علوم الصوفية *

The work, which consists of 88 Bāb, 9 Faṣl and a Khatimah, is divided into 21 parts, and the maxims contained in each Bāb or Faṣl are arranged according to the six-fold classification mentioned above.

Author: 'Alā'addīn 'Alī bin Husāmaddīn 'Abdal Malik bin Qāḍī Khān al Muttaqī al Hindī al Qādirī ash Shāḍilī al Madanī علاء الدين علي بن حسام الدين مريد الملك بن قاضيخان المتقي الهندي القادري الشاذلي He died in A.H. 975=A.D. 1567. See Lib. Cat., vol. v, part ii, No. 425.

Beginning:—

The preface is followed by a brief note on the philology of the word حكمة.

For other copies of the work see Berlin, No. 8703; India Office, Nos. 673-4; Paris, No. 1353; Cairo, vol. vii, p. 348; Āṣāfiyah, No. 26; Rāmpur, Nos. 81-82.

A note on the title-page, which runs as follows: هذا كتاب جوامع informs us that the present MS. is an autograph copy.

This is supported by the author's colophon, which runs thus:—

و الحمد لله رب العالمين و انا الفقير على بن المتقي الراجي من الله العطايا ... و هو الذي يقبل التوبة من عباده و يعفو عن السيئات •

That the present copy was made during the author's life-time is clear also from the fact that there are marginal notes on foll. 10^a, 17^b, 18^a, which end with the words (مند), referring to the author, and praying for his long life (نعم الله في مدته). We may safely therefore accept the statement contained in the above-quoted note on the title-page.

The scribe has copied verbatim the author's colophon, quoted in No. 926 above, omitting his own name; but it is clear from the handwriting, which differs from that of No. 926, as well as from the paper, that the present MS. is not an autograph copy.

This is the title found on the title-page of the present MS.; but the author, in his Ḥusn al Muḥâḍrah, fol. 166^b, refers to this work under the title, Maḥâsin al Iqtibâs. The treatise contains 114 verses on miscellaneous topics, half of each couplet being a quotation from the Qur'ân. This style of composition is technically known as Al Iqtibâs, a branch of rhetoric in which, as is evident from the present composition, our author was highly proficient.

The author's name does not appear in any catalogue, or anywhere in the body of the present work; but a note on the title-page, which is quoted below, tells us that Ḥusain bin Abī Bakr Faḡīh Muḥammad Balḥāj Bāfāḍl at Tarīmī is the author, and that he was a Shāfi'ī scholar of Tarīm in Ḥaḍramaut, a province of Arabia:—

الفصول الفتحية و النفثات الروحية للعارف بالله تعالى الشيخ

حسين بن نقيه ابي بكر محمد بالحاج بافضل الترمذي الشافعي *

The author was clearly a scholar of the 10th century A.H., since the latest authority quoted in the present work is Sūfi Abū Bakr al 'Idrīs (d. A.H. 914=A.D. 1509; see Nūr as Sāfir, fol. 80), who is referred to on fol. 10^a as follows:—

و قال الشيخ ابو بكر العيدروس رضي الله علم اليقين الخ *

The above evidence is confirmed when we find that the author and his present work are mentioned in An Nūr as Sāfir, fol. 350, where the author's full name is given as follows: حسين بن نقيه بن عبد الله بن عبد الرحمن بن ابي بكر بالحاج بافضل الشافعي الحضرمي. He was a Shāfi'ī scholar of Ḥaḍramaut, and a supporter of the mystical doctrine of the famous Sūfi, Muḥiaddīn, of the 7th century A.H. He was the only Sūfi in Ḥaḍramaut to possess a copy of the latter's famous work, Futūḥāt (see No. 865 above). He died in A.H. 979=A.D. 1571. See An Nūr as Sāfir, loc. cit.

The scribe, who does not reveal his name, says in the following colophon that the present copy was transcribed in Medina, A.H. 1022:—

A note below the colophon, by some unknown writer, runs as follows: بلغ مقابلة بحسب الطاقة في مسجد رسول الله صلى الله عليه وسلم : and tells us that the present MS. was once compared with another copy of the work in the Mosque of the Prophet.

A note on the margin, close to the colophon, runs thus : بلغ مقابلة من نسخة لمولانا العارف السيد عبد الله المدعن نفع به جمادى الثانية سنة ١١٥٩ and tells us that, in A.H. 1159, the present MS. was compared with a copy of the work belonging to Sayyid 'Abdallâh al Mudahhin, a Sûfi of the 12th century A.H.

The title-page contains the following three notes :—

- (i) 'Ali bin Muḥammad, commonly called Abu'l 'Azm, a Sûfi of the 12th century A.H., tells us in the following autograph note that the MS. was for some time in his possession :—

ملكه مجازا علي ابو العزم *

- (ii) 'Abdallâh bin Tâha bin 'Umar as Saqqâf, in the following autograph note, tells us that, in A.H. 1150, he borrowed the present MS. from the above-mentioned Abu'l 'Azm 'Ali :—

هذا الكتاب مستعار عندي و انا الفقير عبد الله بن طه بن
 عمر السقاف من كتب مولانا السيد علي بن المرحوم السيد
 محمد ابوالعزم رحمه الله تعالى سنة ١١٣٥ *

- (iii) Again, the same 'Abdallâh bin Tâhâ, in the following note, says that in A.H. 1151 he purchased the present MS. :—

الطريقة المصمديّة والسيرة الاحمدية

AT ṬARĪQAT AL MUḤAMMADIYAH
WA AS SĪRAT AL AḤMADIYAH.

A work on asceticism and ethics, dealing particularly with religious, moral and mystical duties, based on standard works of Sūfism and 35 works on Ḥadiq. The present work is divided into 3 Bāb, each Bāb being subdivided into several Faṣl. For details of the contents see Berlin, No. 8836.

Author: Muḥiaddin Muḥammad bin Pīr 'Alī al Birkawī (Birgīlī) معى الدين محمد بن پير علي البرکوي, a well-known Turkī author and scholar, belonging to the Ḥanafī school, who composed a number of works on different subjects; of which 23, including the present work, are enumerated in Brook., vol. ii, p. 440. He was born in A.H. 929. He was a favourite scholar of Sulṭān Sulaimān (A.H. 926-974=A.D. 1520-1566) of the Ottoman dynasty, who erected a Madrasah for our author, where he spent his life in teaching and composing his works. He died in A.H. 981=A.D. 1573. See 'Iqd al Manẓūm, p. 430; Journal Asiatique (Paris, 1828), vol. ii, p. 159; Ḥadâ'iq al Ḥanafīyah, p. 380; Brook., loc. cit.

The present work was printed in Constantinople in A.H. 1257, along with the commentary called Al Barākāt al Muḥammadīyah, and again, with another commentary called Al Ḥadiqat an Nadiyah, in A.H. 1290.

Foll. 1-13 are written in Naskh, and the rest in Nasta'liq. Not dated; apparently 11th century A.H.

Another copy of the same, written in fair Nasta'liq. Not dated; apparently 11th century A.H. The present copy bears a frontispiece; and foll. 1-2 are written within gold-ruled borders. Each complete sentence of these two foll. ends with a golden circle. Foll. 1-3 contain quotations from different works and other miscellaneous matter.

The following note on fol. 2^a indicates concisely the periods of time separating the famous prophets from Adam to Muhammad:—

تاريخ آدم عليه السلام الى نوح الفين و مائتين و اربعين سنة و من نوح
الى ابراهيم الف و اربعمائة و عشرين سنة و من ابراهيم الى موسى سبعمائة
و سبعين سنة و من موسى الى داود خمسمائة سنة و من داود الى عيسى

المواهب الفتحية

AL MAWĀHIB AL FATHĪYAH.

A rare and useful commentary on the preceding work, composed in Mecca, A.H. 1051.

By Muḥammad bin 'Alī bin Muḥammad bin 'Allān al Bakrī Aṣ Ṣiddīqī البكري الصديقي، محمد بن علي بن محمد بن علان البكري، a well-known Ṣūfī and scholar of Mecca, who was born in A.H. 996, and completed his studies at the early age of 18 years. He was a disciple of his uncle, Aḥmad, under whom he received spiritual training for a considerable period. He was an eminent teacher and author, and composed more than 60 works. See Khulāṣat al Aṣṣar, vol. iv, p. 184. Only three of these works are enumerated in Brock., vol. ii, p. 391. He died in Mecca in A.H. 1057=A.D. 1647, leaving behind him a large number of pupils. See Khulāṣat al Aḡar, loc. cit.; Brook., loc. cit.; 'Iqd al Jawāhir, fol. 168^b. He was buried near the tomb of Ibn Ḥajar (see Lib. Cat., vol. v, part i, No. 283).

Beginning:—

الحمد لله رب الخليفة المعبود بالحقيقة الخ *

Only one other copy of the work is mentioned, viz., in Cairo, vol. ii, p. 140.

Some one, in his note on the title-page, which runs thus: بخط مؤلفه رحمه الله تعالى tells us that the present MS. is an autograph copy; but we cannot accept this statement, in view of the below-quoted colophon, which the scribe begins with the words قال مؤلفه (the author said: may God have mercy on him):—

قال مؤلفه رضى الله عنه و نفع المسلمين بتصانيفه كان تمام تسويده
..... شهر رمضان سنة احدى و خمسين و الف تجاء الكعبة الغراء الخ *

WASĪLAT AL AḤMADIYAH.

A well-known detailed commentary on the At Ṭariqat al Muḥam-madiyah (see No. 930 above). The first draft of the present commentary was made in A.H. 1052; but it was finally arranged, and a fair copy made, by the author in A.H. 1081.

By Maulâ Rajab bin Ahmad مولیٰ رجب بن احمد, a famous scholar of the 10th century A.H.; see Cairo, vol. ii, p. 144. The commentator, on fol. 203^b, refers to another composition of his, entitled Jâmi' al Azhâr, thus:—

الرحالة في التوكل

AR RISĀLAT FĪ AT TAWAKKUL.

A treatise, in which the author maintains that, from the mystical point of view, the seeking of help from others and devising means for gaining one's object is not contrary to Tawakkul (reliance on God) Various conflicting views of Sūfis on the subject are quoted.,

Neither the author nor the work is mentioned in any catalogue; but we learn from the preface quoted below that 'Īsā bin 'Abdarrahīm عيسى بن عبد الرحيم is the author of the work. The following note on the title-page, the handwriting of which is identical with that of the MS., tells us that 'Īsā, the author, was a Qāḍī:—

هذه رسالة في التوكل و حكم مباشرة الاسباب للعلامة قاضي عيسى

رحمه الله تعالى *

It is possible, therefore, that the author is Qāḍī 'Īsā of Aḥmadâbâd (in India), who died in A.H. 982=A.D. 1574. See An Nūr as Sâfir, fol. 360*, where we are told that he composed several works; but the titles of these works are not given, and so we cannot be certain that he is the Qāḍī 'Īsā, the author of the present treatise. On the other hand, we find no reason to reject the supposition. The scribe in his colophon, which is quoted below, uses the phrase رَحِمَهُ اللهُ (always used of the dead) in referring to the author; and he tells us that the present MS., which is dated A.H. 1015, was transcribed from a copy revised and annotated by the author. Further, there are in our copy, which as already mentioned is dated A.H. 1015, two or three autograph marginal notes by the author's son, Qāḍī Ibrāhīm, whose signature to the note on fol. 2* runs thus: قاضي ابراهيم بن عيسى.

Beginning:—

الحمد لله الملك المنعم و بعد فيقول الفقير الى عفو مولاه

الكريم عيسى بن عبد الرحيم قد اختلفت عبارات العلماء في بيان

معني التوكل اليه *

The author, first of all, quotes from Irahād al Murīdīn, fol. 15* of Shihābaddīn as Suhrawardī (see No. 864 above), the meaning of the word Tawakkul, thus:—

وقال الشيخ شهاب الدين قدس سره التوكل ان بكل الرجل امره
الى الله تعالى و يرضى بما يجري عليه من قضاء الله وقدره و التوكل
محله القلب الخ *

Written in Naskh. Dated A.H. 1015.

Scribe : اسمعيل بن احمد بن رفيع الدين بن محمد بن جعفر الحسيني
This scribe is an Indian scholar of the 11th century A.H.; for a composition of whose see Hand-list, No. 125.

We are not acquainted with any other copy of the work.

The colophon of the scribe, indicating that the present MS. was transcribed from a copy revised and annotated by the author, runs as

by the words منه.

حسن التوسل في آداب زيارة افضل الرسل

HUSN AT TAWASSUL FÎ ÂDÂB I ZIYÂRÂT I ÂFDAL AR RUSUL.

A work containing rules and directions for the guidance of those visiting the tombs of the Prophet and others in Medina, followed by a discussion on the validity of this practice from the mystical and religious points of view. The work was composed in A.H. 953, after the author's return from Hajj. The author remarks in the preface that, although the same points had been dealt with in other works, he knew of no composition treating of the subject exclusively; hence the present work. It may be noted that another such composition by his contemporary, Ibn Hajar Haiṣamî (see No. 925 above), was composed three years later, viz., in A.H. 956. The present work is divided into a Muqaddimah, two Bab and two Khâtimah.

Foll. 2-6. Muqaddimah. The reasons for the present composition, and the need of it, are pointed out.

Foll. 7-70^a. Bāb i. Contains 99 rules, to be carefully observed, from the date of expressing a desire to that end, by those visiting the tombs of the Prophet and others in Medina.

Foll. 70^b-89. Bāb ii. Contains directions for offering prayers and addressing benedictions to the Prophet and others.

Foll. 90-91. Khātimah (i). Indicates at what places and on what occasions prayers must be offered.

Foll. 91^b-98. Khātimah (ii). Contains the rules to be observed on the return journey.

Neither the author nor the work is mentioned in any catalogue. Although the author's name is mentioned nowhere in the present MS., we know that 'Abdal Qādir bin Aḥmad al Fākihi عبد القادر بن احمد الفاكهي (d. A.H. 982=A.D. 1574; see No. 850 above) is the author, since he refers to two other compositions of his. On fol. 21, he refers to his commentary on Ḥizb, thus: وحكى له كرامة في شرحي لعزبه. This commentary on Ḥizb by 'Abdal Qādir is noticed in Berlin, No. 1101. Again, our author on fol. 24^a refers to another composition of his, Al Manāḥij as Sanīyah fi Al Akhlāq, thus:—

و قد ذكرت جملة من الاخلاق في كتاب مفاتيح السنية •

A work with this title, by 'Abdal Qādir, is noticed in Berlin, No. 5401.

نہذۃ من کتاب البرہان

NUBD AT MIN KITÂB AL BURHÂN.

An incomplete copy of an abridgment of Kitâb al Burhân, a rare work on the virtues, supernatural powers, and mystical exercises of the famous Sûfî, Shihâbaddîn Ahmad bin Shaikh 'Abdarrahmân bin Abî Bakr bin Shaikh 'Abdarrahmân as Saqqâf (d. A.H. 948=A.D. 1539; see Al Mashra' at Rawî, foll. 85-88), composed by his disciple, Yahyâ bin 'Abdarrahîm al Khatîb. With regard to the date of the author, we know that he made the Hâjj in the year A.H. 958; see fol. 7* of the present work, where we read:—

و كنت مسافرا الى الحج سنة ثمان و خمسين و تسعمائة *

We do not know who made the present abridgment; but he was evidently a contemporary of the author of the original work; see his reference to the latter, on fol. 10, which runs thus:—

قال مؤلف الكتاب لطف الله به و باحبابه فى الدارين *

The preface of the author of the original work is quoted verbatim at the beginning, and runs as follows:—

الحمد لله حمدا كما ينبغي بجلاله و عظم سلطانه اما بعد فيقول
الفقيه يحيى بن عبد الرحيم الخطيب انه من منن الله تعالى ان يسر لي
ان اجمع شيئا لهم *

This is followed by a note by the author of the present abridgment, referring to himself thus:—

قال العبد الجامع لهذه الرقات هذا وجدته من مصنف الشيخ يحيى
بن عبد الرحيم الخطيب من البرهان المبين من مسائل و كرامات سيدنا
الشيخ شهاب الدين *

We are not acquainted with any other copy of the present abridgment; nor have we traced any copy of the original work.

Written in fair Naskh. Not dated; apparently 12th century A.H.

A note on the title-page, indicating that the MS. is an abridgment of Al Burhān, runs as follows:—

هذه نبذة من كتاب البرهان مصنف الفقيه الشيخ يحيى بن
عبد الرحيم الخطيب نعمة الله تعالى برحمته الخ *

الترجمة

AT TARJUMAH.

Some one (not the scribe of the MS.) has inscribed on the title-page of the work the title, Kitāb al Wazā'if الوزائف; and again, in the following note written by the same hand at the end, we are told that the work is known throughout the world under this title:—

هذا كتاب الرظائف المشهورة في نواحي الدهور *

The work was accordingly so entered in the Hand-list, No. 1376. This title, however, is found nowhere in the body of the work, nor is it supported by any catalogue or work of reference.

In the colophon, which runs thus:—

وقع الفراغ من تأليف هذه الترجمة في اليوم السابع من شهر رجب

سنة سبع وثمانين وتسعمائة من الهجرة النبوية تجاه الكعبة المشرفة *

the author refers to the present work as At Tarjumah, and says that it was completed at Mecca in the month of Rajab, A.H. 987. The word Tarjumah, which is used in the colophon, may mean "description," such as the description of mystical principles and theories and the explanation of aphorisms of the Sūfis contained in the present work; but it may also mean "translation," and in what follows we shall give reasons to show that the latter is the sense in which the word is used, and that At Tarjumah is accordingly the title of the work.

On fol. 48^a, reference is made to three Ijāzas, which are quoted below, granted to the author in A.H. 766, 773, 775, by his Shaikh, Hāfizaddin, who died at the end of the 8th century A.H.:—

و قد اجاز الشيخ سراج الدين لاجزة عامة لفظاً و خطاً شيخنا

بقية السلف حافظ الحق والدين الطاهري الخالدي الوشي وقد

اجاز شينغننا هذا رحمه الله لهذا الفقير اجازة عامة لفظاً و خطاً ببخارى ...
 ... في آخر شعبان سنة ست و ستين و سبعمائة و ثانياً في اواسط رجب
 سنة ثلاث و سبعين و سبعمائة و ثالثاً في اواسط ذي القعدة سنة
 خمس و سبعين و سبعمائة ببلدة اوش النخ *

It is at once evident that there is a great discrepancy between the dates of the above Ijāzas and the date of composition of this Tarjumah, viz., A.H. 987.

After an exhaustive study of all available works on Ṣūfism and works of reference, we are able to throw the following new light on the subject :—

(i) The three Ijāzas, with the dates above-mentioned, are found verbatim on fol. 75^a of Faṣl al Khitāb, a work on Ṣūfism in Persian, by Khawāja Muḥammad Pārasā (d. A.H. 822=A.D. 1419); see Persian Hand-list, No. 1368.

(ii) The author of Hadā'iq al Hanafiyyah, pp. 307, 314, tells us that the above Khawāja Muḥammad Pārasā received Ijāzas from Shāikh Ḥāfiẓaddīn, who died at the end of the 8th century A.H., and is evidently the Shāikh referred to in the Ijāzas quoted above.

(ii) Finally, a reference to the Faṣl al Khitāb shows that the present work is an Arabic translation of the same.

The beginning of Faṣl al Khitāb after the preface, runs as follows :—

بدان ثبتک الله و ايانا على السداد في القول و العمل والا اعتقاد که
 مشائخ طریقت قدس الله ارواحهم کبراء دین و مقتدایان اهل یقین اند
 و جامع اند میان علوم ظاهری و باطنی و ابواب احوال و اصحاب اند عقائد
 صافیة ایشان بنابر اصول صریحه است از کتاب و سنة و اجماع و مؤید
 است بدلائل نقلیه و شواهد عقلیه و با این همه اهل ذوق و وجدان
 و کشف و عیان اند النخ *

The opening words of the present work are an Arabic translation of the above passage, and run as follows :—

اعلم ثبتک الله عزوجل و ايانا على السداد في القول و العمل
 و الاعتقاد فان مشائخ الطريقة قدس الله ارواحهم الجامعين سرالعلوم الظاهرة

والباطنة ذري العقائد الصافية المبنية على الاصول الصريحة صرح بها
الكتاب و السنة و الجماع اجاب الذوق و الرجدان و الكشف و العيان انه *

The translator has omitted the preface of the original work, which contains the name of its author, Muḥammad Pārasā, and which, with the exception of the Persian phrase (اما بعد هيگويد), is in Arabic:—

الحمد لله بخلقه على وحدانيته اما بعد هيگويد المفتقر
الى الله محمد بن محمد بن محمود الحافظي البخاري و نفع لما يحبه
و يرغاه من القول و العمل انه *

Had the translator not omitted the preface, we should have known at once that the work was an Arabic translation of Faṣl al Khiṭāb. The incorrect title of the work, given on the title-page, viz., Al Waṣā'if, is apparently taken from the chapter-headings on foll. 6^a–10^b.

At the time of the compilation of the Hand-list, nothing was known as to the authorship of the present work; but on consulting Hāj. Khal., in the light of our further knowledge, we find that in the following passage in vol. iv, p. 422, he mentions (without describing) an Arabic translation of Faṣl al Khiṭāb, by Amīr Badshāh Muḥammad al Bukhārī, composed at Mecca in the month of Rajab, A.H. 987:—

تعريب فصل الخطاب لأمير بادشاه محمد البخاري نزيل مكة في
رجب سنة ٩٨٧ *

This corresponds so exactly with the date and place of composition of the present translation that we may safely assume it to be the work mentioned by Hāj. Khal., Brock., vol. ii, p. 412, citing the authority of Ayā Sofia, Nos. 1976–9 (where, however, the name of the author is quite correctly given as Khwāja Muḥammad Pārasā), wrongly ascribes the authorship of the original work, the Faṣl al Khiṭāb, to the translator, viz., Amīr Badshāh al Bukhārī. References to Amīr Badshāh Muḥammad al Bukhārī, the translator, in Brock., loc. cit., and in Berlin, No. 955, merely tell us that he was alive in A.H. 987; but in the preface to a commentary of his on Taisir (see Hand-list, No. 702) we learn, from his own words quoted below, that he traced his descent from Hūsain, the second son of 'Alī, the 4th Caliph; that he was born in Khurāsān, brought up in Bukhârâ, and settled permanently in Mecca; also that he was a follower of the Hanafî school:—

محمد امين الشيربامير بادشاه الحسيني نسباً الحنفى مذهباً
الخراساني مولدا البخاري منشأ المكي موطناً *

We are not acquainted with any other copy of the work.

Written in fair Naskh, in A.H. 997, i.e., ten years after the translation was made.

Scribe: علي بن صديق بن محمد بن سكيكه الشيرباصابوني المكي.

A note on the title-page, which runs thus:—

هذا الكتاب في ملك الفقير الى الله تعالى صني الدين احمد بن

tells us that, in A.H. 1125, the MS. belonged to Şafiaddin Aḥmad bin 'Abdalwahrâb. This is followed by another note, dated A.H. 1144, in which it is stated that the MS. came into the possession of the Şan'â Library (for which see Lib. Cat., vol. v, part ii, p. 21) in that year.

الرسالة في بيان الولاية النبوية

AR RISÂLAT FI BIYÂN I ALWIYAT
AN NABI.

A rare work on Sūfism, in which the author holds that the practice of the adoption by Sūfis of different orders of different coloured garments (خرقة) is based on the different colours of the banners of the Prophet; and that it is lawful for a Sūfi, belonging to one order, to wear the garment presented to him by a Shaikh belonging to a different order of Sūfism. The author supports his arguments by reference to the Fatwa (opinion) of the following Sūfis:—

(i) Yahyâ bin Zain al 'Âbidîn; (ii) 'Abdalbâqî bin Yûsuf Az Zurqânî; (iii) Muḥammad Shâhin al Ḥanafî; (iv) Shaikh Fâ'id al Ḥanafî.

The work ends with a quotation from the Kitâb al Iḥlâs of Sha'rânî (d. A.H. 973=A.D. 1565; see Lib. Cat., vol. x, No. 567).

Author: Aḥmad bin Muḥammad bin 'Alî, أحمد بن محمد بن علي, commonly called Al Ḡunaimî (الغنيمى), a prominent Sūfi scholar of Egypt of the 11th century A.H. Originally a follower of the Shâfi'i school, he afterwards became a follower of the Ḥanafî school. He was the pupil of 'Abdal Wahhâb Sha'rânî (one of the Sūfis mentioned above), to whom he refers on fol. 10^b thus: وفى كتاب الاخلاق لسيدى عبد الوهاب الشمرانى. Our author composed several works on different subjects, of which the most noteworthy, according to his biographers, is a lengthy gloss, in 90 Kirasa (each Kirasa being equal to 10 foll.) on the famous theological work, Umm al Barâhîn. He died in A.H. 1044=A.D. 1634. See Khulâsat al Aṣar, vol. i, p. 313.

Beginning:—

الحمد لله الملك المعبود الخالق لكل موجود وبعد
فيقول العبد الفقير الراجي من مولاة الغنيمى الشافعي وقع اضطراب
كثير في لون الولاية النبوية صلى الله عليه وسلم وانه من سلك طريق
شينم وله زي مخصوص يمنع عليه ان يحمل غيره الخ *

It is evident, from the above-quoted preface, that our author belonged to the Shāfiʿī school at the time of composition of the present work.

• Frequent corrections and alterations in the MS. suggest that it is an autograph copy.

We are not acquainted with any other copy of the work.

الرسالة في طريق السادة النقشبندية

AR RISĀLAT FĪ ṬARĪQ AS SĀDAT AN NAQSHBANDĪYAH.

A very concise but useful treatise on Sūfism, containing the mystical teachings and tenets of the Naqshbandīyah order, founded by Khwāja Bahāaddīn Naqshband (d. A.H. 791=A.D. 1388). The following eleven mystical principles of ʿAbdal Khāliq al Gijdawani, a famous Sūfi of the 6th century A.H., which are regarded as the fundamental beliefs of the Naqshbandīyah order are also briefly discussed in the present treatise, viz.: (i) یاد کرد (ii) بازگشت (iii) نگامداشت (iv) وقوف (viii) خلوة در انجمن (vii) نظربو قدم (vi) عوش دردم (v) یاد داشت (ix) قلبی وقوف زمانی (xi) وقوف عددی (x) سفر در وطن (ix) قلبی.

Author: Tājaddīn bin Zakarīyah bin Sulṭān Al Hindī An Naqshbandī النقشبندی تاج الدین بن زکریا بن سلطان الهندی, a well-known Sūfi scholar of India, who settled permanently in Mecca, where he won a reputation for himself in mystical learning, excelling that of the Sūfis of Arabia. The Sūfis of Arabia, even in their old age, used to attend his sittings. Our author completed his studies in the following places in India:—Ajmir, Jawanpūr, Nāgūr and Kashmīr. He first of all received spiritual training, according to the Chishtīyah rule, under Nizāmaddīn an Nāgūrī (d. A.H. 985=A.D. 1577); but afterwards he received training, according to the Naqshbandīyah rule, under the following famous Indian Sūfis of the said order:—

(i) Shāikh Nāh Bakhsh (d. A.H. 1002=A.D. 1593).

(ii) Sayyid ʿAlī bin Qiwām, a famous Sūfi of Jawaupūr.

(iii) Muḥammad Bāqī Naqshbandī (d. A.H. 1014=A.D. 1605).

The author remained a follower of the said order till his death. In the beginning of the present work, he quotes his catena (سلسله) in the Naqshbandīyah order, which begins from the Shāikh Muḥammad Bâqī (mentioned above) and ends with the founder of the said order, thus:—

وهذه الطريقة النقشبندية اخذها الفقير الكامل في النقصان والعجز عنه في معرفة الرحمن تاج الدين عن مهادي الزمان الخواجة محمد الباقي وهو اخذها عن المولوي خوجكي الا ملنكن وهو عن المولوي درويش محمد وهو عن المولوي الزاهد وهو عن الغوث الاعظم الخواجة عبيد الله الاحرار وهو عن شيخ الشيوخ مولانا يعقوب الجرخي وهو عن الخواجة الكبير الخواجة بهاء الحق و الدين المعروف بقشبنذ اله *

A growing love for the holy place compelled our author to leave India for Mecca, soon after the completion of his mystical training. He died in Mecca., A.H. 1050=A.D. 1640; and left behind him a large number of disciples, of whom the following are specially mentioned by his biographers:—

- (i) Mirza Muḥammad ad Dimashqī (d. A.H. 1088=A.D. 1677).
- (ii) Aḥmad bin 'Ujail (d. A.H. 1074=A.D. 1663).
- (iii) Muḥammad bin Aḥmad bin 'Ujail (d. A.H. 1097=A.D. 1685).
- (iv) Aḥmad bin Yahya bin 'Alī (d. A.H. 1095=A.D. 1683).

For the present author's life and works see Brock., vol. ii, p. 419; and Khulāṣat al Aḥar, vol. i, p. 474, where an independent biography of our author, Tuḥfat as Sâlikin fī Dīkr 'Tāj al 'Ârifin, by one of his disciples, Muḥammad bin Aḥraf al Ḥusainī, is mentioned. The author of Taqkira 'Ulamā'i Hind, p. 45, gives no details of his life, but refers to him only as a scholar who flourished in the reign of Akbar,

Beginning:—

الحمد لله رب العالمين اعلم وفقك الله تعالى ان معتقدات السادة النقشبندية هو معتقد اهل السنة و الجماعة اله *

The author, in the preface, tells us that dogmas of the Sūfis of the Naqshbandiyah order are identical with those held by اهل السنة و الجماعة the famous theological school. The work is divided into the following short 6 Faṣl:—

I. fol. 2^a الفصل الاول في طريق الوصول الى الله تعالى على طريق *

II. fol. 2^o الفصل الثاني في الطريقة الثانية للسادة النقشبندية

A rare treatise composed in A.H. 1012, in which the author examines, from the mystical standpoint, the Kalimat at Tawhîd, viz. لا اله الا الله محمد رسول الله. (There is no God but Allah, and Muhammad is his Prophet.)

Author: khalîl Muḥammad bin Shaikh 'Abdallatif بن خليل محمد بن شيخ عبد اللطيف, a scholar of the 11th century A.H., as is seen from the date of composition of the work. Neither the author nor the work is mentioned in any catalogue.

السمط المجيد

AS SIMT AL MĀJĪD.

A Sūfī work, concerned mainly with tracing the spiritual pedigrees of the various orders of Sūfis. In the beginning of his work, the author discusses in detail the rites of initiation of novices. The following author's colophon, which is not found in our copy but is quoted in India Office, No. 696/3, tells us that the work was composed in A.H. 1068:—

تم الكتاب المسمى بالسمط المجيد سنة ثمان وستين و الف الهـ *

Author: Aḥmad bin Muḥammad bin Yūnus al Badarī al Qudṣī al Yamānī al Anṣārī al Dajjājī al QushShāghhī احمـد بن محمد بن يونس البدرى القدسي البمني الانصارى الدجاجي القشاشي scholar and author of Arabia of the 11th century A.H. The genealogical table of our author, given in Tāj at Tabaqāt, vol. xi, fol. 340, ends with 'Alī, the 4th Caliph. According to his own statement on fol. 72^a, he was born in Medina, in A.H. 991, and completed his studies in his native place.

In A.H. 1011 he left Medina for Yaman, and some years after he visited Mecca. We are told by his biographers that in these two places our author attended the lectures of several well-known professors of Islamic learning, and received spiritual training from about 100 Shaiḫs of different orders, from whom he received the garment of the said orders; see foll. 31–61, where these orders are enumerated. He was a well-known supporter of the mystical doctrines of Muḥiaddin Ibn al 'Arabī (see No. 865 above). He composed more than 50 works, of which, however, only six are enumerated in Brock., vol. ii, p. 392. For three other works of his see Lib. Cat., vol. xi, Nos. 562, 644/2, 3. He died in Medina, A.H. 1071=A.D. 1660. See Brock., loc. cit.; Tāj at Tabaqāt, loc. cit.; Khulāṣat al Aṣar, vol. i, p. 344. He was buried in Baqī', a famous cemetery in Medina.

البوارق النورية

AL BAWÂRIQ AN NÛRÎYAH.

A rare and valuable work, expounding mystical principles and theories. The mystical theories relating to metaphysics are compared with the theories of the ancient philosophers and the philosophers of Islam. The following Sûfis are chiefly referred to by our author in the present work:—(i) Ġazzâlî (see No. 833 above); (ii) Muḥiaddîn Ibn al 'Arabî (No. 865 above); (iii) Qûnawî (No. 873 above); (iv) Jundî (No. 874 above); (v) 'Abdalkarim al Jîlî (No. 885 above); (vi) Jalâladdîn ar Rûmî; See Lib. Cat. (Persian MS.), vol. i, No. 59.

The author occasionally quotes the Qur'ân and Ḥadîṡ of both the Sunnî and Shî'a sects. The work is divided into the following 8 Bawâriq, each Bâriqa being sub-divided into several Lawâmî:—

(I) foll. 1-24. البارقة الاولى في بيان الوجود وتزلاته و تحقيق

عالم اللاهوت *

(II) foll. 25-35. البارقة الثانية في الاسماء والصفات

(III) foll. 36-57. البارقة الثالثة في بيان عالم الملكوت والمثال و بيان

(VII) foll. 105-114. البارقة السابعة في اشتغال الفقراء واعمالهم *

(VIII) foll. 114-120. البارقة الثامنة فيما يظهر للسالك حال المراقبة *

Author: 'Abdalḥamîd bin Mu'înaddîn bin Muḥammad Hâshim an Nairîzî عبد الحميد بن معين الدين بن محمد هاشم النيرىزى a Shî'a scholar of Persia; see Kaḥf al Ḥnjub, fol. 26^a, where our author and the present work of his are noticed. The date of our author's death is not given therein; but we learn that he was a scholar of the 11th century A.H. from the fact that he quotes several authorities, the latest of whom is Bâqir Dâmâd (d. A.H. 1040=A.D. 1630; Lib. Cat., vol. x, No. 624 above). Cf. the passage on fol. 120^a, which runs as follows:—

The above is the title as given on the title-page; but on a fly-leaf attached to the MS., it is designated Ar Risâlat u fi Shubh Taridu 'Alâ al Murid الرسالة في شبه ترد على المرید. The treatise is not mentioned in any catalogue under either of these titles. It contains 26 questions, chiefly relating to Sûfi dogma, followed by the replies to each, which are based on the joint opinions of the following four Imâms, viz., Abû Hanîfa, Mâlik, Shâfi'î and Aḥmad bin Hanbal. The questions are introduced in the following different styles, viz., (i) السؤال, (ii) المسألة, (iii) اذا سألك سائل, (iv) ان قيل لك; and the replies begin with the following words, viz., (i) الجواب, (ii) اقول, (iii) قل. The author's name is not mentioned anywhere in the body of the work; but some one, in the following note on the title-page, tells us that the author was a scholar of the 11th century A.H.: المصنف من علماء القرن الحادي عشر. The paper and the handwriting also suggest this period; and the frequent corrections and alterations suggest that the present MS. is an autograph copy.

Author: As Sayyid 'Abdallāh bin 'Alawī bin Aḥmad bin al Ḥaddād Bā'alawī السيد عبد الله بن علوي بن احمد بن العداد با علوي. Our author, who traced his descent from 'Alī, the 4th Caliph, was born in Medina, in A.H. 1044; and completed his studies there. In A.H. 1079 he came to Mecca, where he spent the greater portion of his life in literary pursuits and pious devotion. His biographers tell us that he enjoyed an equal reputation as Ṣūfī, scholar and author. Six of his works are enumerated in Brock., vol. ii, p. 407. He was a well-known supporter of the practice of visiting the tombs of the saints (مسألة زيارة القبر); and himself visited a number of Islamic countries with this object. He died in A.H. 1132 = A.D. 1719. See Silk ad Durar, vol. iii, p. 91; Būhār Library, vol. ii, No. 129; Brock., loc. cit.

ATHĀF AS SĀ'IL BI AJWIBATI AL MASĀ'IL.

A rare work (of which the first folio is missing in the present copy), containing replies to certain questions connected with Ṣūfism, referred to the author by one 'Abdarrahmān. Neither the work nor the author is mentioned in any catalogue; but its subject-matter is identical with that of a composition having the same title by ‘Abdallāh bin ‘Alī al-Ḥaddād (d. A.H. 1132=A.D. 1719; see No. 948 above), noticed in Silk ad Durar, vol. iii, p. 91; and we may safely take it to be the same work. It was composed in A.H. 1072, as appears from the following colophon:—

وكان الفراغ من املائه سنة اثنين وسبعين الف من الهجرة *

The present copy of the work opens abruptly thus:—

ارجوزة المصطلح

URJŪZAT AL MUṢṬALAH.

A rare treatise, containing a metrical explanation in 1,000 couplets of technical terms used by the Sūfis. The above title is given to the treatise by the author himself in the following hemistich: اني سينها ارجوزة المصطلح. No mention of any treatise under this title is found in any catalogue, however. A treatise containing 1,000 couplets, entitled Urjūzah, by Muṣṭafā Bakrī (d. A.H. 1162=A.D. 1748) is mentioned in Berlin, No. 8162/4; but its subject-matter does not agree with that of the present treatise. The two works are clearly by the same author, however. Cf. the following hemistich at the end of the present Urjūzah: ومعطفى البكري حرر نظماً: in which Muṣṭafā al Bakrī refers to himself as the author of the treatise. Again, in the following couplet:—

اني لخصت في الالفية فصلا في اصطلاح الصوريه

he mentions another composition of his, entitled Al Alfiya, which is a work by the same Muṣṭafā. See Berlin, No. 3053. In Silk ad Durar, vol. iii, pp. 191–200, 222 works of Muṣṭafā Bakrī are enumerated; but the present treatise is not one of them. Notices of 53 of his works are found in Berlin, vol. x, p. 386. The author's full name runs as follows: Muṣṭafā bin Kamāladdīn bin ‘Alī bin Kamāladdīn bin ‘Abdal Qādir Muḥiaddīn as Ṣiddiqī al Ḥanafī ad Dimashqī al Bakrī مصطفى بن كمال الدين بن علي بن كمال الدين بن عبد القادر معى الدين Bakrī

الصدیقی الحنفی الدمشقی البکری. He was a prominent Sūfi author of the 13th century A.H., and belonged to the Ḥanafī School. He was born in Damascus, in A.H. 1099; and having lost his father in childhood, was brought up by his uncle, Aḥmad bin Kamāladdīn (d. A.H. 1117=A.D. 1705), under whom he studied for some years. He completed his studies in Damascus under the leading teachers and professors; and received his first spiritual training, according to the Khalwatīyah rule, from Shaikh 'Abdallāṭif al Khalwatī (d. A.H. 1121=A.D. 1709), who granted him a license for Sūfism. In A.H. 1122 he left Damascus for Jerusalem, where he lived about four years and attended the lectures of eminent professors. In A.H. 1126 he returned for a few years to his native place; and afterwards went to Mecca, Medina, Ḥamāt, Bagdād, Egypt and other places. We are told by his biographers that, in the course of his journeys, he received spiritual training, according to the Qādirīyah rule, in Ḥamāt, from Shaikh Yūnus al Qādirī, and again, according to the Naqshbandīyah rule, in Mecca, from Sūfi Mūrād Bakhsī (d. A.H. 1169=A.D. 1755). He spent the greater part of his life in Damascus and Egypt, where he left a large number of pupils and disciples. Sulaimān Pāsha, Governor of Damascus, and Raḡab Pāsha of Egypt used to attend the sittings of our author. He died in Egypt, A.H. 1162=A.D. 1748 (though Brock., vol. ii, p. 308, merely mentions that he was alive in A.H. 1137) See Silk ad Durar, loc. cit.; Tāʾat Ṭabaqāt, vol. xii, fol. 759.

الفتوحات الالهية في التوجهات الروحية

AL FUTUHÂT AL ILÂHÎYAH FÎ AT TAWAJJUHÂT AR RŪḤÎYAH.

A concise Sūfi treatise, dealing with الحقيقة المحمدية (the doctrine that the light, or original essence, of Muḥammad, was created before all things). The subject is discussed in detail in the well-known history of the Prophet, entitled Mawāhib al Ladunniyah, vol. i, p. 12. The Wahhabis (see Lib. Cat., vol. x, No. 585) reject the doctrine and say that it is an invention of the Sūfis (see Hughes' Dictionary of Islām, p. 162). The present treatise also discusses briefly التوجّهات الروحية (the attraction exercised by one soul on another, through mystical communion).

Author: Muḥammad bin 'Abdalkarīm al Madanī ash Shāfi'ī المحمد بن عبد الكريم المدني الشافعي, commonly called As Sammān السمان.

He was born in Medina, where he studied under Muḥammad bin Sulaimān (d. A.H. 1194=A.D. 1780) and many others; and was a disciple of Muṣṭafā Bakrī (see No. 950 above). He died in A.H. 1189=A.D. 1775. See Silk ad Durar, vol. iii, p. 60.

ZUBDAT AR RAṢÂ'IL AL FÂRŪQIYAH WA 'UMDAT AL MASÂ'IL AŞ ŞŪFÎYAH.

An Arabic translation of certain passages, dealing with important mystical principles, selected from the first part of the well-known Persian work on Sūfism, entitled Maktûbât (for a copy of which see Persian Hand-list, No. 1388), by Mujaḍdid Alf Şānī (d. A.H. 1035=A.D. 1626).

By Yūnus An Naqshbandī يونس النقشبندى. Neither the present translation nor its author is mentioned in any catalogue; and our works of reference do not provide us with any account of the latter. He was evidently a scholar of the 12th century A.H.; cf. his reference on fol. 3^b to his Shaikh 'Alī bin Aḥmad al Kizabī (d. A.H.

1165=A.D. 1751; see Silk ad Durar, vol. iii, p. 205), viz: رأيت شيخنا

الرسالة في التصوف

AR RISÂLAT FÎ AT TAŞAWWUF.

A rare treatise, in which certain points of Sûfism are discussed, but which deals chiefly with the virtues of Shaikh Khâlid Agh Sharnazûri (d. A.H. 1231=A.D. 1816; see Asfâ al Mawârid, Hand-list, No. 2441), a famous Sûfi, specially known as an opponent of Wahhâbi doctrines (see Lib. Cat., vol. x, No. 585). The present treatise was composed by a disciple of the said Shaikh, and was sent to him while he was in Bagdâd.

Author: Uṣmân bin Sanad Al Baṣrî عثمان بن سند البصري, a disciple of the above-mentioned Shaikh Khâlid and the author of Asfâ al Mawârid, mentioned above. He died in A.H. 1250=A.D. 1834. See Iktifâ al Qunû, p. 434. For other works of our author see Berlin, Nos. 10125, 10153, 10154.

The writer of the above note, in referring to the author of the treatise, uses the phrase شيخنا (my master); and was, therefore, a pupil of the author. He is also the scribe of the present copy, since the handwriting of the note is identical with the handwriting of the MS.

الرسالة في تعريب مكاتبات الامام الرباني

AR RISÂLAT U FÎ TA'RÎB AL MAKÂ- TABÂT AL IMÂM AR RABBÂNÎ.

An Arabic translation of 89 Persian letters, addressed to a number of nobles of different countries and conveying mystical instruction, contained in Maktûbât of Mujaddid Alf Sâni (see No. 952 above). The name of the translator does not appear anywhere in the body of the work; but a note on the title-page, which runs thus: رسالة في تعريب مكاتبات الامام الرباني لمحمد صالح افندي tells us that he was one Muhammad Sâlih Afandi, a Turki scholar. Another note in the Turki language tells us that the translator was a Turki scholar of the 13th century A.H.

المجموعه في التصوف

AL MAJMŪ'AH FĪ AT TAŞAWWŪF.

The present Majmū'ah contains two treatises on Sūfism by the same author, viz., Muḥiaddin Muḥammad bin 'Alī, commonly called Ibn Al 'Arabī العربي بن علي ابن محمد بن علي (d. A.H. 638=A.D. 1240 ; see No. 865 above).

I. fol. 1-21. كتاب الكنه مما لا بد للمريد منه. Kitāb Al Kunh Mimmā Lāid Budda Līl Murīdī Minhu. A treatise dealing with the duties of novices, divided into five Bāb, the last of which is subdivided into five Faṣl. The contents of the work are fully described in Berlin, No. 2900.

The colophon of the author quoted by the scribe, which runs thus : تم الكتاب والحمد لله حق حمده بمدينة موصل سنة احدى وستمائة tells us that the present work was composed in Mawṣil in A.H. 601.

This is followed by the colophon of the scribe quoted below, which tells us that our MS., dated A.H. 778, was transcribed from an autograph copy :—

هذا آخر ما وجدته بخط المصنف الشيخ الإمام المحقق محيي الدين

المجموعه

AL MAJMU'AH.

The present Majmū'ah contains six treatises on Sūfism (together with quotations from the sayings of certain Sūfis), composed by the same Muḥiaddin Ibn al 'Arabī محمى الدين ابن العربي, see No. 955 above. All these treatises were transcribed by عبد الرحمن بن خواجه محمود in the following months, viz., Rabi' II, Jumādā I, Jumādā II and Rajab, of the year A.H. 1017.

I. foll. 1-6. كتاب الفناء في المشاهدات Kitāb Al Finā' Fi Al Mu-shāhadāt. A treatise expounding the mystical stage known as فناء (absorption into the Deity) and the spiritual experiences enjoyed in the same. The author, in the preface quoted below, solemnly warns Sūfis against giving out commonly the revelations and mystical secrets of this stage. The following Ḥadīṣ from Ṣaḥīḥ Bukhārī (see Lib. Cat., vol. v, part i, No. 129), is quoted in support of this injunction :—

كذا قال ابو هريرة رضى الله عنه فيما ذكر البخاري في صحيحه حملت

عن النبي صلى الله عليه وسلم جرائين من العلم فاما الواحد فبثنته فيكم
 و اما الاخر فلو بثنته قطع مني هذا البلعوم اليه *

The author on fol. 5^b, in connection with a certain theory, says that it will be discussed again in Futūḥāt al Makkiyah (سُتَرَدُّ ذِكْرُهَا فِي), a well-known large work of our author, composed in Mecca in A.H. 629 (see No. 865 above). Hence we may conclude that the present treatise was composed in Mecca in or before that year.

Beginning:—

قال المذنب لهذا الكتاب رضى الله عنه الحمد لله الذي قدر

For other copies of the treatise see Berlin, No. 2945; Wien, No. 1910; Br. Mus., No. 886/17.

In all these copies the word Mushāḥada, occurring in the title of the work, is given in the singular form; but in our copy it is used in the plural form (Mushāḥadāt).

In our copy, the first word of the title occurs in the form of the singular; but in the other copies, referred to above, the word is used in the plural form.

Written in fair Naskh. Dated 10th Jumādā I, A.H. 1017.

III. foll. 10^b—16^a. مقام القرب Muqām Al Qurbāh. A treatise dealing with the definition of مقام القرب a mystical stage for which also see No. 891 above, and the spiritual experiences enjoyed in the same. The author, in the following passage on fol. 14^a, refers to another work of his, viz., Kitāb al Khawāt (see No. 885 above), thus: كما ذكرناه في كتاب الخلوة.

المجموعه

AL MAJMŪ'AH.

The present Majmū'ah contains three treatises on Sūfism, written in good Naskh. Not dated; apparently 11th century A.H.

I. foll. 1-2^b. زاد الطالبين Zād Aṭ Ṭālibin. A treatise expounding the following five points:—

(i) ذكر (recital of prayers). (ii) مخالفة نفس (resistance to the evil side of man's nature). (iii) ترك دنیا (renunciation of the world). (iv) توكل (reliance on God). (v) رضا (cheerful acceptance of God's decrees).

Neither the author nor the treatise is mentioned in any catalogue; but the following note on the first folio, which runs thus: الشيخ علي بن حسام الدين المتقي tells us that the treatise is by 'Alī bin Ḥusāmuddīn al Muttaqī (d. A.H. 975=A.D. 1665; see Lib. Cat., vol. v, part ii, No. 425).

In the absence of any direct evidence to the contrary, we may safely accept this statement.

Beginning:—

الحمد لله رب العالمين و الصلوة و السلام على رسوله محمد وآله
اجمعين فصل في الذكر ينبغي للطالب ان يذكر الله تعالى دائماً و خفية الخ *

II. foll. 2^b-5^b. اسرار العارفين Asrār Al 'Ārifin. A treatise expounding the mysteries underlying certain principles of Sūfism, and enumerating the duties of novices, divided into 29 short Faṣl. The treatise and its author, Ḥusāmaddin, are mentioned in Hājj. Khāl., vol. i, p. 281, thus: اسرار العارفين وسير الطالبين للشيخ حسام الدين. This statement is supported by a note on the first folio of our copy, which runs thus: وهذا ايضاً لعلي بن حسام الدين, and which tells us that this is also the work of, 'Alī bin Ḥusāmuddīn, the author of the preceding treatise.

Beginning:—

الحمد لله رب العالمين و الصلوة و السلام على رسوله محمد سيد
المرسلين و على آله واصحابه الطاهرين اما بعد فان رباع الفقر قد خربت

و دياره قد وهنت قاردت ان اكتب كتابا في علم السالكين و الفقراء
العارفين و سميته اسرار العارفين و سير الطالبين النج *

III. foll. 5^b-8. الرسالة في الفقر Ar Risalat Fi Al Faqr. A treatise dealing with the mystical stage known as Faqr (poverty), and with the virtues of the same. The scribe in his colophon, quoted below, tells that the present Mukhtaṣar comprises the sayings of Shihābaddīn As Suhrawardī (d. A.H. 632=A.D. 1234; see Lib. Cat., vol. x, No. 519). The title is not given anywhere in the body of the treatise. The title given above we have borrowed from Berlin, No. 3161, where a copy of the work is described, and the authorship ascribed to the above-mentioned Shihābaddīn As Suhrawardī شهاب الدين السهروردي.

Beginning:—

الحمد لله الذي يعلم ميكانيل البحار سألني بعض الاصدقاء و فقه
الله تعالى من شرح الفقر النج *

The colophon of the scribe runs thus:—

تمت بعون الله و حسن توفيقه هذا الكلام مختصر مفيد في
مدح الفقر من مقالة الشيخ العارف شهاب الملة و الدين السهروردي النج *

Only one other copy of the treatise is known to us, viz., Berlin, loc. cit.

No. 958.

foll. 64; lines 24; size 7½ × 5; 6 × 3.

المجموطة

AL MAJMŪ'AH.

The present Majmū'ah contains two treatises on Šūfism by the same author.

I. foll. 1-5. التلويحات الصفية At Talwihāt As Šūfiyah. A treatise expounding mystical theories, relating to the existence and other attributes of God and man, divided into ten Talwih. One Muḥammad Bāqir, in a note on the last folio, which is followed by his seal, dated A.H. 1215 (محمّد باقر ١٢٥٠ بخط مصنف), tells us that the present MS. is an autograph copy. This is confirmed by the author's colophon, and by the frequent alterations and corrections. The handwriting and the paper of the MS. suggest that it was most probably written in the 12th century A.H.

Author: Ṣūfī bin Jawhar al Jhanjhānī صوفي بن جوهر الجهنجاني. Neither the author nor the treatise is mentioned in any catalogue; but from what has been said above, we may conclude that the author was a scholar of the 12th century A.H. He refers to himself as Jhanjhānī (i.e., a resident of Jhanjhān, a small town in Upper India).

Beginning:—

الحمد لله الذي قام بوحداية ذاته وظهر بتعدد صفاته وبعد
فيقول العبد الضعيف صوفي بن جوهر الجهنجاني الشريف هذه

The colophon runs thus:—

اقتصرت على ما اشرنا اليه من التلويحات العشرة الكاملة حامدا لله
تعالى ومصليا على نبيه ورسوله محمد وآله واصحابه اجمعين الم *

Written in fair Naskh.

II. foll. 6-45 مَدَائِدُ الصُّوفِيَّةِ. Hidāyat As Ṣūfiyah. A treatise (by the same author) explaining technical terms, and expounding certain important philosophical principles. The following reliable Ṣūfis are quoted in the present work:—

المجموعه

AL MAJMU'AH.

The present Majmū'ah contains (together with quotations from various works) seven treatises; of which the first six are on Sūfism, while the seventh is a brief account of the Prophet's birth. Though the condition of the MS. does not suggest that any part of the original contents is missing, Muḥammad bin Aḥmad Zuhraṇ, a scholar of the 11th century A.H., and once an owner of the MS., in discussing a certain point in a note on the margin of fol. 61^b, which is quoted below, says that the subject is fully discussed in the first treatise of the Majmū'ah, viz., Muḥkil al Iḥyā' by 'Gazzālī (d. A.H. 505=A.D. 1111):—

وقد مر هذا في كلام من نقل عن العلماء عقب رسالة الاملاء على
مشكل الاحياء وهي اول هذا المجلد *

This treatise (of which only one copy is known, viz., Berlin. No. 1714) is, however, wanting in our copy of the present Majmū'ah, and was evidently removed before the MS. came into the possession of our Library. The above-mentioned Muḥammad bin Aḥmad Zuhraṇ has made frequent marginal notes on all the treatises, and has pointed out certain errors contained in these works. The contents of the present Maǧmū'ah were transcribed in the beginning of the 10th century A.H. (see colophons of treatises Nos. i and iv). All the treatises appear to have been written by the same scribe, as the handwriting and paper are identical. The scribe possibly mentioned his name at the end of the first treatise, which is missing from our copy; elsewhere, the name of the scribe is omitted.

I. foll. 1-47. الرسالة المكية في خلوة الصوفي Ar Risālat Al Makkiyah Fi Al Khalwat Aṣ Ṣūfiyah. A copy of a treatise believed to be unique. Hāj. Khal., vol. iii, p. 445, mentions the work thus: الرسالة المكية للشيخ الامام قطب الدين عبد الله بن محمد بن ايمن الاصفيدي

The fact that he gives no description of the work, and does not even quote the beginning, suggests that he was unacquainted with any copy of the same. The treatise expounds certain mystical principles and practices, and deals with the duties both of Shaiḫs and novices. It is divided into the following 23 Bāb :—

- (i) fol. 3^a. باب فان قيل كيف الطريق الى الله تعالى *
- (ii) foll. 3^b-4^a. باب هذا العلم الذي به يصح معارفه *
- (iii) foll. 4^b-5^a. باب علوم الشريعة اصول ونروع *
- (iv) foll. 5^a-6^a. باب لابد للمريد من شيخ كامل يقتدى به *
- (v) foll. 6^a-8^a. باب اذا صدقت ارادة الطالب واعتد شوقه الى سلوك الطريق *
- (vi) fol. 8^a. باب تصحيح البداية على ما يخصصها استاذ الطريقة ابو القاسم الجنيد *
- (vii) foll. 8^a-8^b. باب الشرط الاول دوام الوضوء *
- (viii) foll. 8^b-9^a. باب الشرط الثاني دوام الصرم وتقليل الغذاء عند الافطار *

- (xii) foll. 25^b-28^a. باب الشرط السادس دوام نفى الخواطر *
- (xiii) foll. 28^b-30^a. باب الشرط السابع دوام ربط القلب بالشيخ من جهة الارادة التامة *
- (xiv) foll. 30^a-31^a. باب الشرط الثامن دوام ترك الاعتراف على الله تعالى *

- (xv) foll. 31^b-32^a. باب على السالك ملازمة انواع العبادات في جميع احواله *

Author: 'Abdallāh bin Muḥammad bin Ayman al Iṣfahī dī al-Hāḡ. Khal., loc. cit., tells us nothing as to the author's period; but from the following Catena (سلسلة) of the author ending with the Prophet, which is given on foll. 19^a-19^b, we learn that he was a Ṣūfī of the 8th century A.H., since he refers to the famous Ṣūfī 'Abdarrahmān Kasraqī (d. A.H. 700=A.D. 1300; see Muḡmal Faṣīḡī, fol. 200^b)* as the Shāikh of his own Shāikh, Burhān-

From the above-quoted preface, we learn that the present treatise was originally composed at Mecca, and was revised and enlarged at Damascus.

The colophon of the scribe, indicating the title of the work and the date of transcription (viz., A.H. 902), runs thus:—

تمت الرسالة المكية بعون رب البرية سابع عشر المحرم من شهر سنة
اثنتين و تسعمائة *

The title and the author's name are given in a note on the title-page, which runs thus:—

الرسالة المكية فى الخلوة الصوفية تصنيف الشيخ الامام العلامة
قطب الملة و الدين عبد الله بن محمد بن ايمن الاصفيدي *

The present MS. was compared with the copy from which it was transcribed, as appears from the following note at the end:—

بلغ مقابلة على حسب الطاقة على النسخة المنقولة عنها الن *

The above note is followed by an autograph note of Muḥammad Zuhrân, thus:—

طالعت هذه الرسالة بتمامها كتبه مالكه الفقير الى ربه
الرحمن محمد بن أحمد بن زهران الاجهري الشافعي الا زهري الاشعري *

Muḥammad Zuhrân, a scholar of the 11th century A.H., to whom reference has been made above, in a marginal note on fol. 20^a, criticises our author for committing a gross mistake, and for defective knowledge of the subject; and warns readers that they should not accept his views uncritically.

It may be added that the author is also open to the serious charge of quoting from the works of others without acknowledgment. For example, on fol. 4^b, he quotes about 20 lines (from الشريعة علوم verbatim from fol. 144 of a work, No. 825 above, by Abū Naṣr as Sarraḡ, as if they were his own.

II. Foll. 48-89. A copy of a treatise on Sūfism, containing 41 foll., which is defective both at the beginning and at the end. Foll. 48-88^a contain anecdotes and an account of the virtues of Sūfis and pious men, with particulars as to the date of their death or the century to which they belonged. In certain cases, when the name of the Sūfi or pious man is not known, the anecdotes begin thus: عابد مجهول. Foll. 88^a-89 contain a discussion of mystical principles and practices. The work opens abruptly thus:—

عابد أسود قال ابن المبارك قدمت مكة فذا الناس تعطوا من المطر وهم يستسقون في المسجد الحرام اله *

It ends abruptly, with a portion of the chapter on سماع (listening to songs), as follows:—

ثم اعلم ان مسألة السماع لم يزل يلهجون بها قديما وحديثا و كل احد من الناس يتكلم في ذلك على حسب معتقده ولا شك ان الاعتقاد انما يفتش من ملاسة ما يتلقاه اله *

The catchword (الشخص) for the next (missing) folio is found at the right-hand bottom corner of the last folio, showing that our copy is defective at the end as well as at the beginning. The author's name is not given anywhere in the text; but that he was a scholar of the 8th century A.H., and a contemporary of the famous King Timūr (A.H. 771-807=A.D. 1369-1405), is known to us from the following passage on fol. 88^a, in which it is stated that a certain friend of the author's sent his son to him in Damascus, before it was captured by Timūr (viz., in A.H. 803; see Mujmal Faṣiḡi, fol. 236^a):—

و انا اذكر حال شخصين من اصحابي كانت اقامة احد يهما في بلاد عجلون ... و الآخر كان مقيما ببيت المقدس و اما المقيم بقرية عجلون بعث ولده الى دمشق ليشغل علي في العلم و كان ذلك قبل مجي تمرلنگ *

III. foll. 90-91. الرسالة في الطرق Ar Risālat Fī Aṭṭuruq. The above title is borrowed from Berlin, No. 3272; but in the following note on our copy, the work is entitled: Kitāb Fī Bayān Aqrāb aṭṭuruq:— *

For the only other known copy of the work see Berlin, No. 3272.

IV. foll. 92-97^a. مراج القلوب Sirāj Al Qulūb. A work dealing, in 41 Bāb, with 41 important principles underlying the three main branches of mystical teaching. The contents are fully described in Berlin, No. 3314.

Author: Abu'l Khalil Aḥmad bin Muḥammad bin 'Abdalmalik al 'Ash'ari at Tabrizi عبد الملك الاشعري التبريزي. The author and the present treatise are mentioned in Hājj. K̲hal., vol. ii, p. 588, and in Berlin, loc. cit.; but nothing is said as to when the author flourished, nor can this be ascertained from the usual works of reference. The fact that the latest authority quoted by our author is Abū 'Alī ad Daqqāq (d. A.H. 405=A.D. 1012), and that the above-mentioned Muḥammad Zuhrān, in his note on fol. 96^a, tells us that certain mystical views of our author were accepted by Muḥiaddin al 'Arabi (d. A.H. 638=A.D. 1240; see No. 865 above) suggest that our author flourished in the 5th century A.H.

Beginning:—

الحمد لله على ماخصص وعم قال ابو الخليل احمد بن محمد بن عبد الملك الاشعري التبريزي رحمه الله التمس مني بعض اخواني ان املئ كتاب مشتملا على ذكر مقامات العوام والخواص و اخص الخواص و سميته سراج القلوب ... الباب الاول التوبة ... توبة العوام من الذنوب والسيئات و توبة الخواص من الزلل والغفلات و توبة اخص الخواص من روية الحسنات و الالتفات الى الطاعات *

Only one other copy of the work (dated, A.H. 1196) is known, viz., Berlin, loc. cit.

Written in good Naskh. Dated A.H. 903.

V. foll. 97-114^a. A work expounding, from the mystical standpoint, the meaning of لا اله الا الله (there is no Deity but God). A note at the top of the first folio, which runs as follows: كتاب الحصن: tells us that the present work is Al Ḥiṣn, al Ḥaṣīn, by Aḥmad al Ġazzālī. No work with this title, however, is included in the list of the compositions of Aḥmad al 'Ġazzālī; see Brock., vol. i, p. 426.

On the other hand, a work with the above title is mentioned among the compositions of Shamsaddin al Jazari (d. A.H. 833=A.D. 1429); see Brock., vol. ii, p. 203. The preface and contents of this work, however, do not agree with those of the present treatise. On a careful examination of the various catalogues, we find that the real title of the present treatise is تَجْرِيدُ كَلِمَةِ التَّوْحِيدِ Tajrid u Kalimat at Tawhid. This is a work by Ahmad al Gazzālī; and its contents and preface, as given both in Berlin, No. 2396, and India Office, No. 694/5, agree verbatim with those of the present treatise. Hence the note, referred to above, is correct as regards the author's name, but incorrect as regards the title of the work. The full name of the author runs thus: Ahmad bin Muhammad bin Muhammad al Gazzālī أحمد بن محمد الغزالي, a famous Ṣūfī of the 6th century A.H., and the Shaikh of Abū an Najīb Suhrawardī (see No. 855 above). He was the younger brother of the still more famous Ṣūfī Muhammad al Gazzālī (see No. 833 above). Both brothers, in the beginning, studied in the Madrasah of Tūs under the same teacher (see No. 833 above); but afterwards they completed their studies under different professors. The present author is chiefly known as the disciple of Abū Bakr An Nassāj. He died in Qazwin in A.H. 520 = A.D. 1126; see Ikhtiyār ar Rafiq, fol. 27^b; Isnawī, fol. 345; Brook, loc. cit., where seven works of the author are enumerated.

Beginning;—

For other copies of the work see Berlin Nos. 2394-2405; Cairo vol. ii, p. 80; India Office, No. 694/5.

Written in Naskh. Dated A.H. 903.

Foll. 114^b-115^a. Contain anecdotes of Muhammad al Gazzālī (see No. 833 above).

Foll. 115^b-118. Contain a portion of Munqidh Min Aẓ Zalāl of Gazzālī (see No. 833 above), dealing with mystical teaching. For a complete copy of the said work see Berlin, No. 1725.

The portion quoted opens thus:—

قال الامام حجة الاسلام في كتابه المنقذ من الظلال الم *

Foll. 118-122^a. Contain a portion of the biographical account of Gazzālī (see No. 833 above) contained in Aṭ Ṭabaqāt Al 'Alīyah Fi Manāqib Ash Shāfi'iyah, a rare biographical work on Shāfi'ī scholars by Muhammad bin Hasan.

The portion quoted opens thus :—

قال الفقير الى الله تعالى محمد بن حسن ... في كتابه الطبقات
العلية في مناقب الشافعية منهم الامام حجة الاسلام محمد بن محمد
الغزالي القائم على راس الخمسمائة اله *

Foll. 122^b–125. Contain a chapter فصل المؤمن quoted from Amālī of Muḥammad bin Muḥammad bin Zaid al Baḡdādī, a traditionist of the 5th century A.H.

The quotation opens thus :—

فصل المؤمن من امالي السيد الامام ابي المعالي محمد بن محمد
بن زيد الحسيني البغدادي رحمه الله محذوف الاسانيد اله *

VI. foll. 125–128. A treatise, containing 40 Ḥadīṣ dealing with the virtues of the mystical stage known as Faqr (poverty) and with the rewards of those who have reached that stage, known as الفقراء. A note on the first folio, which runs thus: كذب في زيق الفقر: tells us that the present; treatise is a work entitled Kitāb fi Zīq al Faqr by some unknown author.

A treatise having a different title, viz., Ar Rasūlat Fi Faql Al Faqr Wa Al Fuqarā'i الرسالة في فضل الفقر والفقراء by Aḥmad al Gazzālī (see No. 959/5 above), which contains 40 Ḥadīṣ on the subject of Faqr and Fuqarā'i, is mentioned in Berlin, No. 3344. The title and beginning of the Berlin copy differ from those of the present treatise; but the agreement in subject-matter, the fact that the first and the last Ḥadīṣ are the same in both, and that the same statement regarding the Khirqa, which is contained in our preface, is also found in that of the Berlin treatise, leave no doubt in our minds that the treatises are the same, and that Aḥmad bin Muḥammad al Gazzālī احمد بن محمد الغزالي is the author.

The first Ḥadīṣ, with Isnād, runs thus :—

قال الشيخ احمد بن حسن بن حسين سمعت من شيخني الصالح
الزاهد عيسى بن محسن السلفي اعاد الله علينا من بركاته اربعين حديثا
في حق الفقراء على ترتيب مشائخه الحديث الاول عن ابي
هريرة رضي الله عنه انه قال قال رسول الله صلى الله عليه وسلم اني
بعثت لخراب الدنيا ما بعثت لعمارها *

The last Hadīḡ runs as follows :—

الحديث الرابعون عن ابي الدرداء قال قال رسول الله صلى الله عليه وسلم حمة الفقير عند الله خير من السبع الارضين و جبالها و ما فيها *

Our treatise begins thus :—

الحمد لله الذي خلق الانسان و اطلق اللسان بالذكر *

The Berlin copy begins as follows :—

الحمد لله يقول العبد الفقير الراجي رحمة الجليل احمد بن محمد الطوسي تاب الله عليه الخ *

It will be noticed that the author's name is given in the beginning of the Berlin copy, but omitted in ours.

In the preface quoted below, it is stated that the Prophet received a garment of Faqr from the angel Gabra'il in ليلة المعراج (the night of his ascent to Heaven); and that this garment afterwards was presented by the Prophet to 'Alī, the 4th Caliph, and was subsequently presented to others down to Ṣūfī Junaīd Baḡdādī (d. A.H. 297 = A.D. 910):—

عن رسول الله صلى الله عليه وسلم انه لما قال اسرى بي و فرغت من المخاطبة اخذ جبريل يدي و ادخلني الجنة و اتى بي على قصر من باقوة حمراء ففتح القصر و اخرج لي منه ريق الفقير فلبسه و قال لي يا محمد و هذا ريق الفقير و ان الله تعالى امرني ان البسه فلا تودعه الا لمن يستحقه فلبسه النبي صلى الله عليه وسلم و جال بي في الجنة و قال الفقير فخري و فخر امتي من بعدى الى يوم القيمة ثلاث مرات فالبسه النبي صلى الله عليه وسلم لعلي رضى الله عنه و البسه على لرجلين احديهما لولدة الحسين و الثاني لحسن البصري و البسه الحسن البصري الحبيب المعجمي و البسه الحبيب المعجمي لداؤد الطائي و البسه الداؤد الطائي المعروف الكرخي و البسه المعروف الكرخي لسري السقطي و البسه السري السقطي لابي القاسم الجنيد الخ *

* Only one other copy of the work is known to us, viz., the Berlin copy cited above.

Foll. 129-130 contain a quotation from Jawāhir Al Qur'ān (see No. 840 above), corresponding to foll. 101-102 of that work.

Foll 130^a-130^b contain 29 couplets, preceded by a note which runs thus: هذه الابيات من كلام الامام حجة الاسلام ابي حامد محمد بن محمد هذه الابيات من كلام الامام حجة الاسلام ابي حامد محمد بن محمد الفراي اعلاها على شخص من اصحابه في علم النوم and which tells us that a certain friend of Gazzālī (see No. 833 above) dreamed that the latter dictated these couplets to him, describing the pleasures enjoyed by him after death.

Beginning:—

قل لاخواني راؤني ميتا فبكوني و رثوني حزنا
ام على الغائب منكم حزنا ام على الحاضر معكم ههنا

VII. foll. 131-132. المولد الشريف Al Mawlad Ash Sharif. A treatise containing a brief account of the Prophet's birth. Neither the author nor the treatise is mentioned in any catalogue. In Berlin 28 works on the present subject, viz., Nos. 9517-45, are noticed; but no mention of the present treatise is found. Works of this nature are generally recited on the occasion of the ceremony called Milād, which is chiefly performed on the 12th Rabi' I, the birthday of the Prophet.

Beginning:—

الحمد لله الذي ماله مثل يفاظرة ولا وزير يشاوره الخ *

Fol. 133 contains a quotation from an unknown work.

THE END.
